FALZONE OUSTER TRIAL ON BRIBERY CHARGE OPENS IN MISSOURI SENATE

29 of 34 Members of Chamber Are in Places When Prosecution Makes Its Opening Statement.

By CURTIS A. BETTS
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 29—Twenty-nine of Missouri's 34 state Senators were in the Senate chamber this afternoon when the trial of Senator Joseph A. Falzone of Clayton, to determine whether he shall be permitted to retain his seat, began shortly after 2 o'clock. Falzone stands accused by a special Senate committee of having solicited a $1500 bribe in connection with a bill regulating the practice of cosmetology and hairdressing.

The prosecution's opening statement was made by the Senate's attorneys, President Mark D. Eagleton of the St. Louis Police Board and W. Edwin Moser of St. Louis. They told of the conferences of Falzone with representatives of the hairdressers and cosmetologists, particularly Mrs. Lillian MacCallum of St. Louis, as to their desire for changes in the law governing their work. These conferences, the Senate counsel stated, led to a meeting last Feb. 19, in which, the counsel stated, Falzone told Mrs. MacCallum, "It's going to take some money to get the bill through," and named $1500 as the sum needed.

Mrs. MacCallum, the Senate counsel stated, said it would be necessary to consult others of the group in St. Louis, and Falzone then arranged for her to call the persons from his hotel room and in the name of his secretary. She asked him for memoranda, it was stated, and he wrote on one of his business cards notations as to procedure which would be necessary in handling the bill in the House as well as the Senate. On another card, it was charged, he wrote "$1500" and "$300."

Conversation Is Quoted.

Moser said Mrs. MacCallum was told by Falzone that the $300 was for her, and that she replied she "wanted no part of it." Falzone told her, the lawyer said, that "There are fellows in the Legislature from the sticks, who never do anything unless you put a little money in their hands." He wrote the names "Lester" on one of the cards. Mrs. MacCallum was unable at that time to get a telephone connection with her St. Louis associates.

Mrs. McCallum was told by her associates, Moser said, that no money would be raised, and she told Falzone of this, whereupon he said, "You'll never get the bill through the House," and also that Falzone "had a man" in the House who would see that it did not pass.

Except for Falzone, who sat with his lawyers at the front of the chamber, the Senators present were in their regular seats. Those not present at the opening were C. A. McColl of Westboro, Clyde W. Wagner of St. Louis, W. W. Blain of Sedalia and J. C. Riggen of Milan, all of whom were under-

Halsey to Be in Navy Day Parade Preceding Speech at Rally Tonight

CHIEF TRANSFERS 12 CAPTAINS IN POLICE SHAKE-UP

5 Lieutenants Also Shifted After Announcement of All-Out Drive on Gamblers.

Transfers of 12 police captains and five lieutenants in a sweeping shake-up of the Police Department was announced today by Chief of Police James J. Mitchell. The transfers, "for the good of the service," followed the announcement by the Board of Police Commissioners that all the facilities of the department would be used to stamp out commercialized gambling in St. Louis in accordance with orders from Gov. Phil M. Donnelly.

Chief Mitchell in making the transfer announcement said the shifts were made to "broaden the experience" of the men and had nothing to do with the board's announced intention of driving gamblers out of the city. However, he added that the transfers were expected to increase the efficiency of the department.

Hoagland to Ruskin Station.

Capt. Elias W. Hoagland, who was removed as head of the gambling division by the board and was scheduled to return to the Page Boulevard Police Station as commander, instead will be placed in charge of the Ruskin Avenue Police Station.

Capt. Nick Bosch Jr., who was demoted to the rank of lieutenant by the board in its revision of the department, was replaced as commander of the Hampton Avenue Police Station by Capt. Fred H. Grabbe of the Carondelet district. Bosch was assigned as a lieutenant to the Deer Street Police Station.

Capt. Heinrich Kelting, the other officer demoted to a lieutenant in the shake-up last week, was replaced by Capt. Jesse L. Treat as commander of the Newstead Avenue Police Station. Treat was one of seven lieutenants promoted to captain. As a lieutenant, Kelting will be assigned to the Magnolia Avenue Police Station.

Others Transferred.

Other transfers were Capt. Duward Norris from Ruskin Avenue to Carondelet Station; Capt. Otto Selle from Lucas Avenue Station to Carr Street Station, and Capt. Joseph Casey from Carr Street to Central District.

Girard Dorsey, newly appointed captain, will go to Magnolia Street Station from Carr Street, replacing Capt. T. George Dineen,

Admiral Says War Was Won by 'Great Secret Weapon, the Fighting American Team.'

Adm. William F. Halsey Jr., colorful commander of the Navy's famous Third Fleet, which left a trail of enemy destruction from the Palaus to Japan, was in St. Louis today for the city's belated Navy day celebration and to participate in the opening of the Victory Loan campaign in St. Louis.

Speaking at a Navy League luncheon, Adm. Halsey said the war was won by "a great secret weapon, the fighting American team." Stories to the effect that the Japanese were not defeated but surrendered at the order of their Emperor, he characterized as "just plain lies."

Japan on the day of surrender, he said, was just a hollow shell and Yokohama, in particular, was reduced to a state which "made shanty towns in the United States look good" in comparison.

The stocky, gray-haired admiral, whose personality is as salty as the sea, also spoke at noon today at the kick-off luncheon of the Victory Loan Drive at Hotel Jefferson. He will take part in the Navy Day parade at 6:30 p.m. and will speak at a public rally at Kiel Auditorium tonight. When he arrived by airplane at Lambert-St. Louis Field from Indianapolis yesterday, he was met by a large reception committee.

A burst of applause from the crowd, estimated at 5000 persons, greeted him as he stepped from the huge, silver transport, bearing the four stars of a full admiral. Overhead, an escort of 16 Third Fleet Hellcat fighter planes, here

NAVY DAY PARADE TO BEGIN AT 6:30 P.M., HALSEY'S ADDRESS AT 9

THE Navy Day parade will start at 6:30 p.m. today from assembly points on Washington avenue, west of Twelfth boulevard. The route:

East on Washington to Broadway, south to Olive street, west to Twelfth, south on Twelfth past a reviewing stand between Chestnut and Pine streets to Market, then west to Kiel Auditorium.

Adm. Halsey, his staff and other officials, who will be in automobiles in the fourth unit of the parade, will leave ranks at the reviewing stand to review the rest of the parade, which will disband at the auditorium.

The program there will start at 7:30 p.m. with a band concert by the Great Lakes Naval Training Station Band. Adm. Halsey's address will begin at 9 o'clock. His talk will be broadcast at that time by Radio Station KSD and rebroadcast at 10:30 o'clock by KMOX.

VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN OPENS, TALKS BY HALSEY AND DEVEREUX

Need for Bond Buying Greater Than Ever, Says Admiral — St. Louis Area Quota Is $122,981,000.

(Pictures in Everyday Magazine.)

Adm. William F. Halsey Jr., Third Fleet commander, and Lt. Col. James P. S. Devereux, commander of the garrison that defended Wake Island, formally opened the Victory Loan drive in St. Louis today at a "Kick-off" luncheon at Hotel Jefferson.

Metropolitan St. Louis has been assigned a quota of $122,981,000, which includes $20,139,000 in Series E bonds for individual purchasers, in the eighth and final wartime bond campaign. The drive, which has a national goal of 11 billion dollars, extends to Dec. 8.

The need for bond purchases is even greater today than it was during the period of hostilities, Adm. Halsey told an audience of more than 1000 persons. "There are many lonely Americans overseas whose morale must be uplifted in their non-glamorous, lonely duty," he said. "Bonds also will help rehabilitate the wounded. I urge you to give not your bit but your best to the drive."

Served on Two Missouris.

He pointed out that the first ship he had served on in the Navy was the old U.S.S. Missouri, and that his last ship was the new Missouri.

The admiral opened his talk by holding up a copy of today's Post-Dispatch editorial cartoon, which referred to him as a horseman, and thereby recalled the predicament in which Adm. Halsey recently found himself as a result of what he termed "my big mouth." Long before Japan surrendered, the admiral had expressed a desire to ride Emperor Hirohito's white horse into Tokyo. Only after gifts of a saddle and spurs were sent to him did he ruefully admit he couldn't even ride a horse, and had just been talking big.

"This cartoon," Adm. Halsey remarked, "while not complimentary, is very true." He said it reminded him of his days as a plebe at the United States Naval Academy, when an upper classman once told him, "Mister, stop grinning. Every time you grin, the top of your head looks like an island."

Devereux Talks.

Col. Devereux, a Marine Corps officer who spent four years in Japanese prison camps after his two-week stand against overwhelming odds on Wake Island,

$5000 HOLDUP ON EAST SIDE BY MASKED MAN REPORTED

Millwright Says Robber Forced Truck to One Side on Lonely Road.

Guy St. Clair, an East Alton millwright, reported to police he was held up by an armed masked man and robbed of between $5000 and $6000 in cash on a lonely side road between Alton and East Alton after noon today.

He said he was driving from his home at 407 Brown street, East Alton, to the Alton postoffice to place the money in a postal savings account when an automobile forced his truck to the side of Alternate Route No. 67 near Chessen lane.

The robber made him drive a half-mile down the lane, forced him into the back of the truck and struck him when he found no money in his pockets, St. Clair said. The robber then found the currency in the glove compartment, St. Clair said, and took the keys from the ignition lock when he left.

TRUMAN CANCELS ALL TRIPS BECAUSE OF WORK PRESSURE

Change in Plans Also Applies to North Carolina, Georgia Visits.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman cancelled today all of his scheduled out-of-town trips.

Eben Ayers, assistant White House press secretary, said the cancellation applied not only to a projected weekend visit to North Carolina and Georgia, but also to a Nov. 15 engagement at Liberty, Mo., a Nov. 19 visit to Oklahoma City and Fort Sill, Okla., and an engagement at Waco, Tex., Dec. 5.

Ayers attributed the decision to heavy pressure of business confronting the President in Washington.

JAP GEN. YAMASHITA ON TRIAL FOR ATROCITIES; BIG 4 CONSIDERING ACTION ON GERMAN GENERAL STAFF

FAILURE TO INDICT MILITARY CLIQUE AS ORGANIZATION MAY BE REPAIRED

By RICHARD L. STOKES
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (By Radio).

THERE is a saying current in the Reich that two officers of the German General Staff, if supplied with a typewriter and a tent, could rebuild the German army. The quip reflects the ominous reputation of this minute and almost phantom corps of elite militarists, who shortly before V-E day numbered 1900, plus 400 students at the Kriegsakadamie, which is like a combination of the War College at Washington and the staff command school at Fort Leavenworth.

It may explain why the question of their fate is now being reviewed on the four-power level in Berlin, with the possibility that the Allies may repair their failure to indict as an organization this tiny cell of warmongers whose exclusive insignia—crimson trouser stripes two inches wide—were an omen of warning to all passersby that they were in the atomic presence of a human kilogram of Uranium 235.

Censorship is officially at an end, but American correspondents in Germany are under effective pressure not to report the differences of opinion among the Allied occupying powers. One can make no more than a guess, but I would surmise, on the basis of the consistent lineup in these controversies, that the Americans are pressing for mass indictment of the German General Staff, with the British and French in more or less reluctant support, and the Russians, on general principles, interposing a stubborn veto.

American officers who have made a study of the microscopic clique known as the "brains of the Wehrmacht" assert that the German General Staff always had a chief, but never possessed a formal organization and never functioned as a compact entity. They say its intangible, somewhat ghostlike quality was an invaluable asset.

Never Lost Its Grip.

The Versailles treaty abolished the German General Staff and barred its members from taking commands in the 100,000-man army permitted for Germany after World War I. But general staff officers infiltrated into the new army, usually in minor posts. Actually, as a loosely-knit fraternity, they wielded enormous indirect influence, particularly in the areas of foreign policy and high strategy, including the decision whether or not to make war.

The chief of the German General Staff, representing the select intelligence of the whole army, enjoyed perforce a position of power in the state. The best men naturally rose to positions in the top command, but the typical job of the Kriegsakadamie graduate was that of chief of operations of G-3 of some division or corps. Though these men had only the rank of major or captain, the very sight of the red leg stripes was enough to terrify the average German general officer. His formidable subaltern had the privilege of communicating directly with the chief of the General Staff, by-passing corps and divisional channels.

Suppose that a field commander decided to undertake a certain enterprise. His chief of operations was at liberty not only to advise him that he considered the plan faulty, but to warn him that he would say so in a letter to the chief of the General Staff. The commander was then free to proceed if he so desired. If he went ahead, and failed, he was likely to find himself, on the basis of the General Staff underling's report, abruptly chopped down to regimental rank.

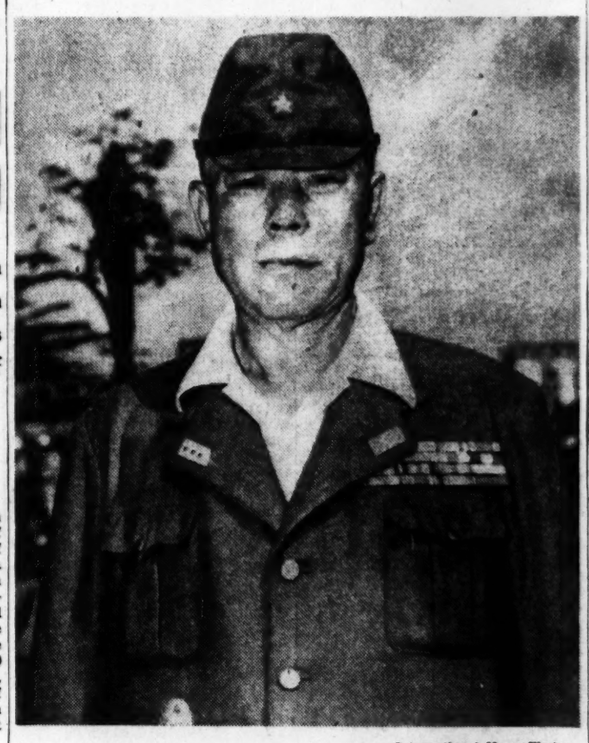

Chief Knew Every Man.

Members of the group regarded themselves as of the chosen caste and generally kept aloof from the officers of other branches, maintaining a proud esprit de corps through exclusive association, intimate friendships and constant correspondence among themselves. Usually the chief of the General Staff made a point of establishing a personal acquaintance with every individual in the group.

Many Americans fancy that the German General Staff still is what it was at the beginning of the middle of the last century—an occult, sinister junta of Prussian

War Lord on Trial for Life

LT. GEN. TOMOYUKI YAMASHITA

'TIGER' OVERRULED IN PLEA HIS CASE OPENS ENTIRELY NEW LAW THEORY

By JOHN GROVER

MANILA, Oct. 29 (AP)—The trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, former Japanese Philippines commander, on war criminal charges, opened today with testimony of a bloody orgy in which the Japanese killed or wounded 100 women and children in a Manila Red Cross station last February. The defense tried unsuccessfully to block the trial at the start of the hearing.

Four Japanese sailors of Yamashita's command savagely bayoneted and shot the 100 women and children in the Red Cross station, Patricinia Abad, a Filipino survivor, testified. She said the orgy continued more than an hour, although there was no resistance.

Her arm in a sling, the 26-year-old Mrs. Abad testified that: She cowered behind a cabinet with her 10-month-old daughter in her arms. She was shot through the elbow and bayoneted nine times. Three thrusts went through her body and fatally injured her baby.

50 Killed, She Relates.

The four Japanese slaughtered more than 50 of the women and children, Mrs. Abad told the military commission of five United States generals trying Yamashita for his life on a charge that he was responsible for crimes committed by his command.

Capt. Norman J. Sparnon, Melbourne, Australia, who preceded Mrs. Abad, identified translations of captured Japanese documents which definitely showed that Yamashita commanded the Fourteenth Imperial Army group at the time of the atrocities.

The heavily medaled, bullet-headed Yamashita, the conqueror of Singapore and so-called "Tiger of Malaya," took a keen interest in the court proceedings. He followed legal arguments carefully with the assistance of a personal interpreter, but appeared to understand considerable English.

Guards escorted Yamashita to the defense table minutes before court opened at 8 a. m. (6 p. m. Sunday, St. Louis time), in the heavily guarded High Commissioner's residence, where officers, troops and Filipinos vied for the few seats available to the public. It was first come, first seated. There was no favoritism.

Military police carefully examined credentials of everyone entering the grounds of the commissioner's residence.

Defense Pleas Rejected.

The defense objected to admission of 59 new points in the prosecution's bill of particulars on the ground that it opened an entirely new theory of law. The bill charged that Yamashita "permitted" his troops to commit atrocities. The objection was overruled.

The defense then sought a two-week postponement to adequately counter the prosecution's new charges. That was denied, but the court stipulated that the defense might renew its request for postponement after the prosecution rests.

It was clear that the defense carefully was laying the groundwork for an appeal either to President Truman or to the United States Supreme Court if Yamashita is convicted. It asked for dismissal of all charges against Yamashita, who is the first Pacific war criminal suspect to face trial, on the contention that the commission is without jurisdiction and had no proper authority to hear the case.

Issue Over MacArthur's Power.

Col. Harry E. Clarke, Altoona, Pa., commission-appointed chief of defense counsel, argued that the prosecution had failed to show that President Truman or any proper authority had delegated power to Gen. Douglas MacArthur to order the commission convened.

Balked in efforts to win dismissal, the defense asked the prosecution to particularize its charges that Yamashita "permitted" atrocities by stating how permission was granted, and where. That motion was overruled.

The chief prosecutor, Maj. Robert M. Kerr, Portland, Ore., in his opening statement said the case would "not be pleasant to hear" because it would pile horror on

VIRTUAL STATE OF CIVIL WAR REPORTED IN NORTH CHINA

Fighting Between Communists and Regulars Said to Have Spread to 11 Provinces.

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Oct. 29 (AP) — Reports of heavy fighting between Chinese Communist and Central Government troops in north China pictured today a nation locked in civil war, real though not officially declared.

Warfare is growing in intensity in Shantung, Shansi and Suiyuan provinces, said dispatches received in Chungking.

The Chinese press attributed to Gen. Yen Hsi-shan, governor of Shansi, now visiting Chungking, a statement that government forces suffered 15,000 casualties and Communist losses "also were heavy" in fighting centering around Changchih, strategic town in southeastern Shansi which Yen conceded the Reds captured.

Independent reports said that wherever the Communists were retreating along railways they were destroying tracks and blowing up bridges. This explained the slow movement of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops which are proceeding along the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railroads to replace United States Marines in the Peiping-Tientsin area.

Reports of Kwantung Strife.

Reports that the Russians were supplying the Communists with captured Japanese war materials continued to circulate in Chungking, but no one in authority would allow himself to be quoted.

Other reports told of bitter fighting in 11 provinces, mostly in north China, but including central parts of the nation and Kwangtung province, on the southeast coast.

The New China Daily News, Communist publication, estimated 800,000 Central Government troops were fighting the Reds. Neutral observers said they believed this figure was exaggerated, but all

MISSOURI SENATE BARS READING OF DONNELLY MESSAGE

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 29—A rare discourtesy to the Governor of Missouri occurred in the Senate this afternoon when, on motion of the Republican floor leader, Senator H. R. Williams of Cassville, the Senate refused to hear the reading of Gov. Donnelly's message vetoing the Quinn road bill to sectionalize the State Highway Department.

When the Senate Secretary began reading the Governor's message, Williams gained recognition, and said: "I move that the reading of the message be dispensed with. I understand it is quite long and I don't want to hear it anyway."

The motion was adopted without debate, few of the senators appearing to realize that refusal to hear a message from the Governor was a discourtesy which seldom if ever before has been shown by the Senate to the state chief executive.

10 JAPANESE TO FACE TRIAL FOR BURNING OF 3 FLYERS

Accused of Part in Hankow Death March; Nazi Propagandist Mehnert Held.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 29 (AP)—Ten Japanese charged with participating in the Hankow death march which ended in the burning to death of three American airmen have been brought to Shanghai to face trial as war criminals soon, it was learned today.

They were arrested by American war crimes investigators and shipped to Shanghai in the same plane which carried the ashes of the men they are accused of destroying.

Dr. Klaus Mehnert, No. 1 Nazi propagandist in the Far East, was incarcerated today in the Kiangwan internment camp, where 250 other German nationals already are held.

Mikado's Income About $1,000,000 A Year on Stocks, Rents; Tax Free

TOKYO, Oct. 29 (AP) — The Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri Hochi in an unprecedented page one discussion of Japanese imperial household resources, reported today that Emperor Hirohito's annual income was approximately $1,000,000 from stocks and extensive land holdings.

A comparatively small amount of that income normally came from 15,000 shares of the Bank of Formosa, one of the imperialistic financial institutions which Gen. Douglas MacArthur has ordered closed.

The newspaper said the imperial household annual budget was 25,000,000 yen ($1,666,666 at the prevailing rate). Of this 4,500,000 yen was supplied from public funds over which the Japanese Diet has no control and the rest came from investments.

Yomiuri said there was no way for the Japanese to determine the exact amount of the imperial fortune or income because it is tax free. Its figures were based on announced government statistics.

This was the first time any Japanese newspaper dared print even these obviously incomplete statistics. An American announcement is expected soon on the result of an investigation of the imperial fortune.

The newspaper said imperial stock holdings in 1942 totaled 68,163,000 yen, or around $4,544,000, and land holdings in 1940 were more than 3,000,000 acres, on the basis of government statistics.

There was no evaluation of the land, but the income from it was 10,000,000 yen and 5,000,000 more came from stocks.

7000 Home Folks Visit Sailors On 'Big Mo,' Eat Chicken Salad

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—This was "Family Day" aboard the superbattleship Missouri, and the crew members dressed in their best Navy blues entertained 7000 relatives from all over the United States.

The men had been looking forward to the day, ever since it was promised to them when the dreadnaught was stationed in Tokyo bay.

There was music by the ship's orchestra. Every cook aboard was busy from 4 a.m. onward fixing food for the visitors, who had to be divided into four "chow lines." The menu was the same as was served the men while the "Big Mo" was bombarding Kyushu, Japan.

The main dish was chicken salad and potato salad with cheese and crackers.

TRUMAN'S SPEECH RAISES JAP HOPES OF WINNING BACK PLACE IN SOCIETY

View Unofficially Expressed—Leaders Read Accounts of Address, but Decline to Comment on It.

TOKYO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Unofficial quarters in Japan took hope today from President Truman's enunciation of foreign policy that Nippon eventually might regain a place in the economic and political society of nations, but not one government official would comment.

Marquis Koichi Kido, one of the Emperor's closest advisers, spent the morning in conference with Hirohito after reading Truman's speech in Japanese newspapers. Kido's aids said they did not know whether the speech was discussed. The Mikado presumably had read the address, which was printed at length.

No Comment From Premier.

Aids said Premier Kijuro Shidehara and Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida both read Truman's speech, but made no comment.

Unofficial Japanese statements emphasized the hope that Japan "will regain an honorable position in world society when we demonstrate our peace-loving intent."

The President's reiteration of the Potsdam philosophy in this regard should be assurance that eventually there would be no discrimination against one-time enemy nations, they said. Recent discussions in the American press of the enforcement of occupation policies here had caused some open Japanese wonder whether Nippon could depend on broad outlines of the Potsdam pact or whether proponents of a hard peace would demand permanent isolation of Japan.

For Keeping Emperor.

While a movement was under way among young Japanese peers to forsake their titles, Baron Keichiro Hiranuma, 80-year-old president of the Privy Council, said that "Japanese democracy" means retention of the emperor in his present role as assigned by the constitution.

There have been rumors that Emperor Hirohito might abdicate and that a rewriting of the constitution now under way might strip him of all but titular authority.

"Japan's political organization," Hiranuma said, "is based on the historic fact that the Emperor never has been a despot."

He said he strongly opposed Japan's adherence to a tripartite pact with Germany and Italy while he was premier in 1939. Hiranuma resigned over this issue, and the pact was signed a year later.

Move to Abolish Peerage.

Domei news agency reported that most young Japanese peers want to give up their titles and assume a commoner status, following the lead of Prince Fumimaro Konoye. Konoye is expected to become active in conservative politics if his request to resign his title is granted by the imperial household.

"The peerage system has become nonsense," Domei quoted Count Coriyasu Arima, former minister of agriculture, the source of its story, as saying.

On the occupation front, Gen. Douglas MacArthur ousted Japanese officials from St. Paul's Episcopal University, directed the Japanese government to restore the Christian curriculum there immediately and demanded an accounting of 81 other schools once supported by American gifts.

Vandalism in Church.

His action followed an inspection by Brig. Gen. Elliot Thorpe, who said he found much looting and destruction including the slashing of the marble altar and the background screen, apparently with swords. Stone crosses had been destroyed and oak pews and altar rails had been taken from the chapel for use in air raid shelters.

The directive charged that St. Paul's had been transformed into a non-Christian school by the Japanese government in January, 1943; that it had been looted and that its stone crosses had been destroyed.

St. Paul's overnight was transformed to non-Christian teachings in an "inexcusable and unjustifiable subversion . . . to militaristic . . . ends," MacArthur said.

Shikao Matsushima, former minister to Switzerland, was named vice foreign minister and automatically became a vice president of the central liaison office, which deals directly with Allied authorities. He succeeds Tatsuo Kawai, who, however, retained the presidency of the board of information.

A spokesman for the economic and scientific section of the Supreme Allied Command said the liquidation of some Japanese banks closed Sept. 30, would begin in the near future.

Government Undemocratic, Pravda Declares.

MOSCOW, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Communist party newspaper Pravda said yesterday that the present Japanese government has nothing in common with democracy.

A commentator declared that recent statements by Japanese Foreign Minister Shigeru Yoshida revealed that the present government differs "little in reality" from the peace cabinet headed by Higashi-kuni.

General Staff's Fate Under Review

aristocrats bent on mastering first Europe and then the world by force of arms. It originally was a tight little fellowship of officers of the Junker nobility who were clever enough to see that war in the future would require over-all scientific planning.

A series of triumphs—Denmark and Austria and then the Franco-Prussian war in 1873—entrenched the new organization firmly in power. It made itself independent of the minister of war and responsible only to the Kaiser.

It began to slip during the Weimar Republic, when the patrician principle was undermined. Adolf Hitler revived the order, but the sons of bakers and carpenters began filtering into the sacred precincts. Ironically, it reached its lowest ebb under Hitler, who detested the crew of technical experts and often sneered at them as a "club of intellectuals" and "the last lodge." The Fuehrer complained bitterly: "I have a National Socialist air force, but a conservative army and a Hohenzollern navy."

Infuriated Hitler.

Hitler was infuriated with the General Staff on two counts. Its members refused to join the Nazi party on the ground that the Wehrmacht was nationalistic and outside of political affiliations. They were forbidden by their rules to join any political party, although individuals like Gen. Alfred Jodl and Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, who are under indictment as war criminals, either as a matter of policy or through their convictions professed to have Nazi sympathies.

In the second place, the General Staff, which was profoundly right in its belief that Hitler's program would lead to a world war in which Germany would go under in total ruin, made the mistake of opposing the specific adventures in which the Fuehrer, to the surprise of the world as well as the General Staff, came off victorious.

They protested against the reoccupation of the Saar and the Austrian anschluss. They were so alarmed by the Czech crisis that Gen. Erwin von Witzleben, afterward executed as a leader of the plot to assassinate Hitler after the Normandy landing, had everything arranged in 1938 to march on Berlin to seize and hang the Fuehrer. The operation was canceled when it was announced that Chamberlain and Daladier would go to Munich to capitulate.

Opposed Polish Venture.

The General Staff was not even consulted about the excursions into Norway and Denmark, nor later about the campaigns in Greece and Yugoslavia. They resisted the attack on Poland and thought that Hitler was wrong when he declared that England and France would not dare to fight. His repeated successes, however, almost convinced the General Staff that the former Austrian corporal had something on the ball.

Apparently they supported whole-heartedly the attack on Russia. At the very moment that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop announced the treaty of eternal friendship with the Soviet Union, the General Staff was intensively planning the surprise assault on their Bolshevik ally.

The General Staff, chieftains in the plot to blow up Hitler with a bomb, also were hostile to the Ardennes counter-attack last December.

It must not be imagined that the General Staff was antagonistic to Hitler's policies through any humane or moral sentiments. Its exclusive business always has been the making of war, but it was interested only in wars it thought Germany could win.

The Kriegsakadamie, formerly at Potsdam and later in Silesia, had a three-year peacetime course after which the graduate was on probation for three years before he gained the right to don the crimson trouser stripes and write after his name the haughty initials I.G., meaning General Staff.

Picked Brilliant Men.

Candidates for the academy were outstandingly brilliant young officers usually with the grade of captain, who, since 1919, were recommended by their superiors strictly on the basis of merit and not birth.

The academy's teaching corps resented Hitler's efforts to put S.S. troopers in the General Staff school. It defeated the move by flunking unwelcome students. No Nazi ever was able to graduate. The Elite Guard students were compelled to attend classes merely as "observers." Hitler was so incensed that he eventually formed his own general staff, accusing the others of incompetence and cowardice.

Hermann Goering's hatred for the General Staff amounted to fanaticism. He organized a separate General Staff for the Luftwaffe with its own war college. Its graduates wore the scarlet leg stripe like the Wehrmacht wizards, but were made completely subordinate to the air commanders. They numbered 376 at the end of the war. Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, who is to be tried as a war criminal, was chief of the German air force general staff from July 1936 to June 1937.

The sea arm also had a small band of specialists known as the admiral's staff of the navy. It wore no distinguishing insignia, had no specialized careers, and was rarely destined, as in the army and air force, for the high command.

General staff officers of the air and sea groups are nearly all under arrest and it is possible that they will be arraigned as war criminals on equal terms. They are regarded as dangerous to the peace of the world because of their ability and special training and the ingrained tradition that war is the loftiest occupation possible to man.

TRIBUNAL MEETS TO FIX TRIAL RULES

NUERNBERG, Oct. 29 (AP)—The international war crimes tribunal opened a two-day executive session today to lay down rules of procedure for trying 23 of Germany's top-ranking war leaders.

The tribunal also is expected to fix a date for arraignment of the defendants, which probably will be about 10 days before the start of the trial, scheduled for Nov. 20.

There has been no indication that any of the defendants plan to plead guilty. Former Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering has been casual about the whole affair, showing little interest. Two German lawyers have accepted calls from defendants and Allied authorities are seeking to locate others.

All four powers now have full legal staffs on hand going ahead with trial preparations.

None of the war criminals confined in the Nuernberg jail knows that their co-defendant, Dr. Robert Ley, committed suicide. Col. Burton C. Andrus, prison commandant, said he would break the news soon to explain constant watches over each cell 24 hours a day.

One defendant, Martin Bormann, is not in custody. He has been reported dead, but in the absence of proof, he will be tried in absentia.

GEN. YAMASHITA GOES ON TRIAL FOR ATROCITIES

horror in relating how the Japanese ran bloodily over the Philippines.

Kerr said the prosecution would attempt to prove that violations of the laws of war were so widespread and commonplace that Yamashita must have known of them, or must have taken "affirmative action not to know" which would make him equally guilty.

More Testimony of Orgy.

Lt. Col. James G. Feldhaus of Howard, S. D., opened the afternoon session of the trial's first day with another strong objection for the defense against the authority of the trial commission.

The first afternoon witness was Glicera Andaya, Filipino Red Cross nurse, who told of being stabbed through the breast at the aid station orgy.

John Lewey, 28-year-old German refugee, testified he had gone to the station shortly before the Japanese appeared and hid in the women's bathroom with 10 other persons. He was stabbed four times and left for dead, but lived, the only survivor of that group, he said.

"The whole murder didn't last more than 10 minutes," he estimated. He fixed the time of the occurrence as last Feb. 10 and said there were 80 dead in the building after the Japanese left.

10 Members of Family Lost.

Juan K. Juan, 47-year-old Filipino who lived next to the Red Cross station, told of losing 10 members of his family in the massacre. He said he had gone into the station with his family but had stepped outside just before the Japanese arrived.

Red Cross nurse Florita Loveriza testified the Japanese entered the dispensary where she was working and shot the Filipino doctor and stabbed to death a girl who hid under a table. She said 10 were killed in the dispensary and she saw many other dead in the clinic.

Tagalog-speaking Ricardo Mendoza, 18, told of going to a lumberyard and seeing two Filipino civilians piling up dead bodies while Japanese Navy personnel guarded them. After they were through stacking the bodies, the civilians were shot and their bodies, bound up tight, thrown into the river, Mendoza related.

Precedent in Law Involved.

The five members of the commission trying Yamashita are Maj. Gen. Russell B. Reynolds, president; Maj. Gen. Clarence L. Sturdevant, law member; Maj. Gen. James A. Lester, Brig. Gen. William G. Walker, and Brig. Gen. Egbert F. Bullene.

They will write a new chapter in international law if they hold him responsible for the reign of terror which his imperial troops spread through the Philippines. In modern military history the commander always has escaped responsibility for the crimes of his men. The legal loophole has been the failure to show he directly ordered the excesses.

The indictment against Yamashita specifies wholesale Japanese looting, slaughter, torture and rape. Not a single count says Yamashita ordered the excesses or was personally involved. The whole case hinges on his personal responsibility for the "pattern" of actions of the Japanese army.

YANKS ROUNDING UP S.S. MEN WHO RAN DACHAU CAMP

209 Listed as Perpetrators of Crimes—Speed in Mass Atrocity Trial Ordered.

By DON DOANE

DACHAU, Germany, Oct. 29 (AP)—Nazi S.S. (elite guard) members who ran the Dachau horror camp, where more than 200,000 persons were cremated, are being rounded up by military authorities for what probably will be the largest mass atrocity trial to grow out of the war.

Orders have come down from high quarters to push the trial as fast as possible, with the goal of starting before the end of November proceedings which are expected to be the American counterpart of the British Belsen trials but on a larger scale.

Much evidence against the 209 persons listed as perpetrators of crimes here was gathered by a war crimes investigation team headed by Col. David Chavez Jr. of Santa Fe, N. M. The team arrived at Dachau April 30, the day after the camp's liberation, when bodies still were stacked like cordwood about the place.

TRUMAN CALLS IN CONGRESS HEADS ON JOB, AID BILLS

Tells Leaders He Is 'Very Anxious' to Get Full Employment Measure Quickly.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman hammered away again with congressional leaders today in an effort to break the deadlocks on two of his principal reconversion measures—full employment and liberalization of jobless pay.

Democratic leaders, leaving the White House, reported to reporters:

The President emphasized he is "very anxious" to get the jobs-for-all bill quickly.

He "still wants" the bill to expand unemployment benefits which has been gathering dust for weeks on a House committee shelf.

Speaker Rayburn, Representative McCormack (Dem.), Massachusetts, and Senators Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, and McKellar (Dem.), Tennessee, saw the President.

Snyder Before Committee.

Simultaneously at the Capitol, Truman's reconversion director, John W. Snyder, appeared before the House Expenditures Committee in an effort to pry out the jobs bill. He said it is needed to insure "stable prosperity."

Snyder said the full employment measure would set all branches of the Government to work on the problem. That is "the particular virtue of this bill," Snyder told the Committee, adding:

"It brings all forces of Government—executive and legislative—to bear upon this one vital objective: To achieve, in our nation, a stable prosperity based on free enterprise and upon full employment."

Not Government Ownership.

He declared:

"This bill does not mean Government ownership, Government competition with private business, or more Government regulation of private business."

What the Government can and should do, he said, is to establish policies "as fall within the traditional realm of government responsibility." These will assure "conditions that make it possible for business to provide jobs. This is the only real solution of unemployment."

"I hope," he said, "it is not going to be necessary to suffer another catastrophic depression to awaken us to the need for establishing a mechanism for systematic attack on economic instability."

The Senate passed a "full employment" bill last summer. Since then it has been lodged in the House committee.

13,000 MACHINISTS STRIKE IN SAN FRANCISCO PLANTS

AFL and CIO Pickets Appear at 179 Plants in Walkout for 30 Per Cent Pay Increase.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Rain-splashed pickets halted machine work at 179 bay area shipyards, machine shops, foundries and manufacturing concerns today as 7000 AFL and 6000 CIO machinists began a strike for a 30 per cent wage increase.

The strike was not called under provisions of the Smith-Connally act requiring a 30-day "cooling off" period.

Neither the AFL machinists' international nor the CIO steelworkers' union, with which organizations the bay area locals are affiliated, have sanctioned the strike. Seven CIO maritime unions, however, including the powerful longshoremen's group, have pledged support by urged that troop, hospital and supply ships remain unaffected.

A Department of Labor conciliation service three-man panel scheduled a Wednesday morning meeting to attempt to settle the strike.

Both machinists groups are asking for a boost in journeymen's pay from $1.28 to $1.65 an hour, giving roughly the same take-home pay for 40 hours of work as had been received for 48.

Petitions for Strike Votes to Be Filed by Electricians.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—A petition for strike votes by 170,000 employes in 54 plants of the General Electric Co. and 30,000 employes in electrical manufacturing plants of the General Motors Corp. will be filed with the National Labor Relations Board, it was announced yesterday by the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union.

The union said it had been authorized by its conference board to petition for the strike votes after the companies had rejected demands for pay increases averaging $2 a day.

At Pittsburgh today the Westinghouse Electric Corp. announced "the company finds it impossible to meet the demands" of the CIO union for a $2 a day increase.

Firestone Rubber Workers Vote to End Two-Day Strike.

AKRON, O., Oct. 29 (AP)—CIO-United Rubber Workers voted today to end a two-day walkout of some 400 maintenance and engineering employes of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. which halted production and made idle some 15,000 workers.

I. H. Watson, local union president, said negotiations on a wage increase sought by the workers would begin late today.

The stoppage began yesterday when the maintenance force failed to report for work on regular shifts. Powerhouse employes joined the walkout later in the day.

AFL Painters Named Bargaining Agents of Set Decorators.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today announced certification of the AFL painters' unit as bargaining agent for set decorators at eight Hollywood movie studios. This was a strike issue for eight months.

The painters' unit and the AFL International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes started arguing last March over jurisdiction of 77 set decorators. This led to the strike which was just settled last week.

While the squabble was on, the NLRB declined to open the ballots of a collective bargaining election. The original 77 set decorators who had been members of the screen set designers, illustrators and decorators, affiliated with the AFL painters, were fired when they struck. Replacements were members of IATSE.

Both those on strike and those who replaced them were permitted to vote, but the NLRB decided only a couple of weeks ago to count the ballots.

The studios involved were Columbia, Loew's, Paramount, RKO-Radio, Republic, Twentieth Century-Fox, Universal and Warner Brothers.

Bethlehem Steel Turns Down Request for Wage Increase.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29 (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Co. today rejected the demand of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) for a $2 a day general wage increase, and the union asked for a strike vote throughout the industry.

Bethlehem, the second largest steel company, said the demand would cost the company $50,000,000 a year and could not be met without increased prices.

United States Steel Corp. and subsidiaries, and two independents—Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp.—had already rejected the demands.

The steelworkers filed notice in Washington with the National Labor Relations board of a dispute with 766 steel, iron ore and aluminum companies, involving 600,000 employes, and asked for a strike vote Nov. 28.

TRUMAN BUYS $200 F.D.R. BOND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman bought a $200 Roosevelt memorial bond from Secretary of the Treasury Vinson today as the nation opened a 11-billion-dollar Victory Loan drive.

The ceremony took place on a porch outside the White House executive offices.

UAW HEAD TURNS DOWN G.M.C. PLAN OF 45-HOUR WEEK

Thomas Says He Doesn't See How Proposal Could Help General Motors or Workers.

DETROIT, Oct. 29 (AP)—President R. J. Thomas of the CIO United Auto Workers today rejected a General Motors Corporation proposal for a 45-hour week. The plan had been suggested by C. E. Wilson, General Motors president.

"I don't see how the 45-hour week could do either General Motors or the workers any good," Thomas asserted.

Last night another union leader termed General Motor's suggestion for joint action in petitioning Congress for an extension of the 40-hour week to 45 as a "conspiracy against millions of returning veterans and laid-off war workers."

General Motors, declared Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO vice president, "is insuring economic suicide for itself and our whole peacetime economy."

The corporation and union were stalemated over the workers' demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

In a letter to the UAW-CIO Saturday night, Wilson called for a change in the wage and hour act during the reconstruction period.

With the change, Wilson proposed a wage rate increase of 6 percent. He argued "that men working 45 hours at the new straight time rates will make as much money as they do now for 45 hours' work" Under the present wage and hour law time and one half is paid for all time worked over 40 hours.

Reuther, who is chairman of the UAW-CIO's G. M. department and is leading the union's fight for higher wages, declared, "The American people will never tolerate Wilson's attempts to turn the clock back.

"We fought and won the war to go forward, not backward," he said.

149 JAP WARSHIPS FOUND AT KURE; 106 SERVICEABLE

KURE, Japan, Oct. 29 (AP)—Sixth Army Headquarters said today that its Forty-first Division found 149 Japanese warships of all types—106 of them serviceable—on its arrival at Kure, Japan's chief naval base.

The serviceable ships included two aircraft carriers, two cruisers, 19 destroyers, 29 submarines and 18 subchasers.

19,000 HEAR PLEA BY BISHOP OXNAM AGAINST TENSIONS BETWEEN FAITHS

Methodist Leader at Reformation Day Service Cites Protestants' Strength and Responsibilities in U. S.

The Protestant heritage, described in terms of institutions, faith and freedom, was the theme of an address last night by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the Methodist church before a Reformation day service at Kiel Auditorium which attracted the largest gathering of Protestants ever assembled in this city.

Celebrating the 428th anniversary of Martin Luther's revolt from the established church, the service was attended by a crowd estimated by Auditorium Superintendent John J. Hanley as 19,000. The steel curtain separating Convention Hall from the Opera House was raised, throwing the two halls together, but the crowd overflowed this space into an assembly hall, and several thousand more were turned away.

15-Denomination Choir.

The choir, accompanied by a brass section of 16 musicians, required a half-hour to file into its place. It was recruited from the 15 Protestant denominations in the city comprising the Metropolitan Church Federation and was under the direction of Dr. H. Augustine Smith of Boston University.

Bishop Oxnam, head of the Methodist Church in the New York area and president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, spoke first of the institutional strength of the Protestant churches in this country. He said that figures for 1944 revealed 41,943,104 members of Protestant churches which did not include some 8,000,000 children taking part in church activities but not participating as full members. He compared this with 23,419,701 Roman Catholics in the United States.

Schools and Hospitals.

He pointed to the thousands of schools, colleges, hospitals and churches established under Protestant auspices and said, "I say all of this not to boast but to suggest to the Protestants, who are here this evening, that sometimes because we are all gathered in a lot of small churches and large churches . . . in tiny chapels and meeting houses, we wonder how strong we are. This is evidence of it this evening."

He said the strength must be realized because it entails responsibilities, among them the duty to use it to build not only a Christian America but a Christian world.

Passing to the heritage of faith possessed by the Protestant world, the speaker traced the beginning of the Reformation in Luther's revolt against the Catholic Church. The revolt, he described as stemming not only from the then corrupt condition of the established church but also as a desire on Luther's part to know that his sins were forgiven, that he had "someone to turn to for forgiveness, the Father of us all."

"Here is one of the great elements of our Protestant faith," Bishop Oxnam said. He came to the conclusion that man is justified by faith. He is not dependent for his salvation upon rites, upon forms, upon answers." Luther arrived at that cornerstone of the Protestant faith, the right of private judgment, which is the fundamental factor in the democratic scheme of things, he said.

Plea for Religious Unity.

At this point, Bishop Oxnam read a three-page manuscript in which he referred to serious tensions developing between Roman Catholics and Protestants in the United States and urged religious leaders of all faiths to do all in their power to eliminate the causes that contribute to this tension.

"Intolerance has no place in a nation whose sons have died to free mankind from intolerant totalitarianism. America must be spared the sorry spectacle of religious conflict," he said.

"Roman Catholic and Protestant alike must discover and remove the causes that make for unbrotherly division. Roman Catholic and Protestant worship the same God, adore the same Christ, and are inspired by the same Holy Spirit. Both know that religion is loving God and brother. Both believe that sin is the violation of the will of God and that forgiveness is found in His mercy. Both believe in Jesus Christ as Savior, and together they hold fast to the sustaining faith in immortality. There is much more they hold in common, and in such an hour Christians should center upon their identities rather than accentuate their diversities."

Fear of Catholic Domination.

Bishop Oxnam then declared that Protestants are gravely concerned with what they believe to be an attempt upon the part of the Roman Catholic Church to exercise political domination here, similar to the control he said it exercised in many nations.

"Protestants have been subjected to serious misrepresentation in the Roman Catholic press," he said. "When Protestants have protested against intolerance upon the part of the Roman Catholic Church, their protests have been called intolerance.

"It is not intolerance to protest against Roman Catholic activities that seek through boycott to threaten newspapers and therefore to control them in Roman Catholic interest. This is to endanger a free press and to destroy civil liberty.

"It is not intolerance to protest against actions of certain Roman Catholic leaders to deny Protestant ministers access to the radio by threatening station owners with the loss of consumer support of products advertised.

"It is not intolerance to insist upon the separation of church and state, and therefore, to object to the use of public funds for private and sectarian education.

"It is not intolerance to refuse to accept dictates that would deny Protestant churches the right to engage in missionary work in other lands, at the very moment the Roman Catholic church affirms its right to carry on missionary work in all lands.

Catholic Support of Franco.

"It is not intolerance to protest against Roman Catholic support for the Fascist regime of Franco Spain, when our sons die to destroy Fascism everywhere and to preserve democracy for mankind.

"It is not intolerance to point out that Protestantism will oppose the clericalism that has cursed other lands whenever such clericalism manifests itself in this land. Clericalism is 'the pursuit of power, especially political power, by a religious hierarchy, carried on by secular methods and for purposes of social domination.'

"It is not intolerance to insist that a church must be a church, that it cannot be both church and state. Protestants, therefore, oppose the establishment of diplomatic relations with the Vatican. This is no lack of respect for the distinguished, devoted, brilliant and brotherly Christian who is the present Pope. It is to state that there is no reason that justifies an Ambassador from the Vatican at Washington, that would not justify Mohammendans, Buddhists, Hindus and Protestant communions in establishing token states and appointing similar Ambassadors to represent them.

"It is not intolerance when Protestants repudiate Roman Catholic theories of church and state which lead logically to a subservient state dominated by an absolute church.

Issue of Religious Liberty.

"It is not intolerance to point out the fundamental contradiction that lies in the Roman Catholic position on religious liberty, that in effect means a demand for religious liberty where the Roman Catholic is in the minority, but denies it in practice where the Roman Catholic is in the majority.

"The very statement of these concerns is apt to evoke bitter response. I trust this may not be so. It is made in the friendliest of spirit and with but a single purpose; namely, to make it clear to Roman Catholic leaders that Protestants in this nation are gravely concerned with certain practices that we believe are leading to religious strife. How much better to state our views in Christian love, listen to counter statements, and together seek to create so much of the spirit of our Lord that we may remove the causes of dissension, demonstrate the meaning of Christian unity, and lead mankind to a better day."

Bishop Oxnam described the development of the American public school system as one of the manifestations of the Protestant heritage.

"I am proud," he said, "of the American system of education. It constitutes one of the bulwarks of democracy, and I am proud that Protestantism made this system possible.

"We have certain fundamentals that we intend to stand for. One of these fundamentals is to treat one another in the same spirit that you experience in Christ Jesus. To do so will bring us the unity that Christ prayed for."

The Methodist leader without his clerical robe would have been able to pass for a successful banker, doctor or lawyer. He spoke rapidly and incisively but made no use of gestures or variations in intonation.

Others on Program.

He was introduced by the Rev. B. F. Hall, president of the Metropolitan Church Federation, which sponsored the meeting. At the conclusion of Bishop Oxnam's address, a benediction was offered by Bishop William Scarlett of Christ Church Cathedral.

The Rev. Dr. William B. Lampe, moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., gave the scripture lesson after an invocation by the Rev. S. J. Schmiechen, president of the Missouri Valley Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church. Prayers were offered by Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the Methodist Church and Bishop Noah Williams of the African Methodist Church.

Among dignitaries introduced by the Rev. C. Oscar Johnson, pastor of Third Baptist Church, were Dr. Charles Kegley of the United Lutheran Seminary at Maywood, Ill.; Dr. Russell Olt, president of the Church of God Seminary at Anderson, Ind.; Bishop R. A. Carter of Chicago, Colored Methodist Episcopal Church; Bishop William C. Brown, African Methodist Church, and Bishop John G. Broomfield (retired) of the Methodist Church.

A 10-foot-high cross formed a background for an altar decorated in blue and white bunting.

In the audience were representatives of the Salvation Army, United States Army chaplains and a contingent of deaf-mutes for whom the proceedings were translated by Mrs. O. A. Schneider, 5595A Page boulevard.

RAID ON POOLROOM DICE GAME RESULTS IN ARREST OF 14

Fourteen Negroes were arrested late Saturday night in a poolroom at 905 Elm avenue, near Webster Groves, after deputy sheriffs, who raided the place, found a dice game in progress on one of the pool tables.

One of those arrested said he was Charles M. Thompson, 1703 Banneker avenue, Richmond Heights, who, deputies said, had a revolver in his possession. He was held for investigation.

Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley said Costell McIntosh, 802 Holland avenue, Webster Groves, was banker for the game. McIntosh and the other 12 were released on $500 bonds each on charges of suspected gambling. The bonds are returnable in the sheriff's office Nov. 13.

St. Louis police raided a poolroom at 4112 Manchester avenue yesterday and arrested five men who were ordered to appear in Police Court Saturday. Police said they found 75 cents and playing cards on a table. The men gave their names and addresses as Elmer Cox, 4309 Maryland avenue; Elmore W. Pendleton, 604 Chestnut street; Joseph Drummond, 4125A Chouteau avenue; David Kramer, 4208 Clayton avenue, and Harry Fischer, 4011 Clayton.

TELEGRAPHERS TO DECIDE WHETHER TO STOP WORK

The executive board of Local No. 3, AFL Commercial Telegraphers' Union will decide at a meeting at Hotel Melbourne tonight whether the 800 members of the local will stop work from noon to 5 p.m. Friday in protest against a War Labor Board wage award, Frank P. Moeller, chairman, said today.

If the executive board of the St. Louis local agrees to the walkout, Moeller said, the main Western Union Telegraph Co. and all branch offices will be shut down during the five-hour period. Wires providing quotations to the St. Louis Stock Exchange and serving newspapers with stories other than those handled by regular news services will not function, he said.

Robert Cartwright, chairman of the Detroit local of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, said at Detroit that the movement for the work stoppage had started in that city and received support from locals in Newark, N. J.; Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Minneapolis. WLB granted an increase of 4 cents an hour. The union sought a 28½ per cent pay rise.

ARMY NURSES RETURN HERE AFTER 3 YEARS OVERSEAS

Maj. Lucille S. Spalding arrived home yesterday after three years of service in North Africa and Europe as chief nurse of the Twenty-first General Hospital, an Army unit sponsored by Washington University.

"It was real opportunity to nurse where it did the most good," Maj. Spalding said. "We cared for some 65,000 patients who needed us badly." Maj. Spalding, who received the Bronze Star for meritorious service in France, is spending a terminal leave with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Spalding, 6121 Waterman boulevard. She was assistant professor of nursing at Western Reserve University at Cleveland, when she entered the service in March 1942.

Accompanying Maj. Spalding were four other nurses from the St. Louis area who served with the Washington University unit: Lt. Mary L. Harrison, 7557 York drive, Clayton; Capt. Margaret Beumer, Gray's Summit, Mo.; Lt. Meredith Harbach, Monett, Mo.; and Lt. Virginia Dyer, Troy, Mo. They were part of 25 Missouri members of the unit who have returned to this country.

PROTESTANT PASTORS DISCUSS PRINCIPLES

Dr. Charles Kegley Talks on Reformation—Doubts Union of Churches.

About 100 pastors of St. Louis Protestant churches, members of the Ministerial Alliance, heard addresses on "Protestant Principles" at an all-day meeting today in Pilgrim Congregational Church, Union boulevard and Kensington avenue.

The first speaker, the Rev. Dr. Charles Kegley of United Lutheran Seminary at Maywood, Ill., discussed the historical aspects of the Reformation. He took issue with the statement of a recent historian of the period, Carlton J. H. Hayes, that political and economic conditions were the chief causes of the revolt headed by Luther. Dr. Kegley asserted that the opposite was true; that religious causes were foremost and others were incidental.

The speaker said he could see little hope for a union between the Roman Catholic Church and the Protestant bodies on any terms other than acceptance by the latter of the former's claims to exclusive authority as the sole interpreter of Christian doctrine. The Thomistic theology (so named from St. Thomas Aquinas), he said, was "irreconcilable with the Evangelical theology of the Protestant churches."

Prof. Allen G. Wehrli of Eden Seminary, Webster Groves, discussed the history of the Reformation period, saying Luther was fundamentally not a rebel, but a reformer who was forced by his principles into an attitude of revolt.

Bishop William C. Brown of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church spoke of modern Protestant Christianity as an extension of the Reformation teachings and principles to the present. He said the churches of today are compelled by their principles to protest against social and moral evils.

A song service was conducted by Dr. H. Augustine Smith of Boston University in Danforth Chapel, adjoining the church, before the ministers went to luncheon at Union Avenue Christian Church, across the street.

Speakers scheduled for the afternoon session were the Rev. Dr. Russell Olt, president of the Church of God Seminary at Anderson, Ind., and Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the Methodist Church.

TRUMAN TAKES UP WAGE-PRICE SPEECH WITH AFL LEADERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman went over some points of his wage-price speech today with American Federation of Labor Leaders. The speech will be broadcast tomorrow night. The AFL leaders also discussed with the President the labor-management conference to be held here next month. Truman also talked briefly with Benjamin F. Fairless, president of United States Steel.

Truman has said he itnends to confer with all of the 36 labor and management delegates to the conference, opening here Nov. 5. The talked with Sidney Hillman, a CIO delegate, last Friday, and has invited R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, to the White House next Friday.

The AFL group, headed by President William Green, included Martin Durkin, president of the plumbers; Matthew Woll, AFL vice president; Charles J. McGowan of the boilermakers, and Boris Shiskin, economist.

BERLIN COMMUNISTS DEFY EISENHOWER BAR ON BLOCS

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—German Communist leaders, in defiance of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's bar on political blocs in the American occupation zone, announced today that they intended to project their four-party "united front" in Berlin to all four Allied zones.

The announcement was made by deputy Communist leader Walter Ulbright in a signed editorial in the party's organ Deutsche Volkszeitung. The Berlin bloc, through which the Communists exercise dominance in the city's politics, is composed of Communists, Social Democrats, Liberal Democrats and the Christian Democratic Union.

Eisenhower recently asserted that such blocs were "counter to traditional American concepts of political activity."

EAST SIDE MAN, GIRL FOUND SHOT, BURIED IN INDIANA

Pair Identified as George Tyson, Sought in Two Shootings, and Miss Ethel Sparks.

The body of George Tyson of East St. Louis, sought since last July in two East Side shootings, and that of his friend, Miss Ethel Sparks of Madison, were found yesterday in a shallow grave on a farm near Jasper, Ind., Indiana State police said today.

Detective E. F. Mullins of the Indiana State Police at Jasper said the bodies were discovered by a farmer. Tyson had been shot once in the head and twice in the chest, and Miss Sparks had been shot twice in the head and had been strangled by a rope.

Mullin said Tyson's pockets were turned inside out. In the brassiere on the body of Miss Sparks was found $3200, most of it in $1 bills. There was one $500 bill.

The bodies apparently had been dragged to the grave, not more than a foot deep, from a road, a mile away. State police said the pair apparently had been taken for a ride and shot.

Recent rains had washed away any footprints, Mullins said. He added, however, that police thought that they were killed in a gang dispute.

At the time of the shooting of Joseph Callahan in front of a tavern at 704 State street, Madison, last July 16, Tyson was named by Miss Kathryn Morrison as the assailant. Police said the two had been unfriendly because of troubles arising in the narcotics traffic.

A week after the shooting of Callahan, Miss Morrison was shot and killed by a shotgun blast through a window in the same tavern in front of which Callahan was shot. Police sought Tyson for questioning in this case. Warrants were issued for Tyson charging him with assault to kill in the Callahan case. Callahan recovered.

Tyson, a steel worker, was known to have been friendly with Miss Sparks. Her parents live at Stuttgart, Ark. Deputy Sheriff Fred Craycroft of Madison county, who has been conducting a search for Tyson, said Miss Sparks returned to her rooming house at 1010 State street, Madison, two weeks ago, packed some clothes and had not been seen since.

Following the murder of Miss Morrison, Miss Sparks was held in custody at the Alton Hospital Clinic for the Madison county sheriff's office. She was released later.

10,000 IN PARADE TONIGHT, 15 BANDS AND 8 DRUM CORPS

Expected to Take Hour and 45 Minutes to Pass a Point—Traffic in Area to Be Barred From 6 to 8 P. M.

Adm. William F. Halsey Jr., commander of the Third Fleet, which helped clear the Pacific Ocean of the Japanese Navy, will ride in an automobile in the fourth unit near the head of the Navy Day parade this evening, in which military personnel from Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard installations in the St. Louis area, veterans organizations and civic groups will participate.

When the head of the parade reaches the reviewing stand on Twelfth boulevard between Chestnut and Pine streets, Adm. Halsey and his staff will leave the ranks and review the rest of the parade.

Others in Reviewing Stand.

In the reviewing stand with him will be Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, Comdr. J. K. Vardaman, naval aide to President Truman; Capt. R. D. Lyon, commander of the Naval Air Station at Lambert-St. Louis Field; Brig. Gen. George D. Shea, commanding officer of Jefferson Barracks, and his aide, Lt. Thomas E. Wesson; Capt. R. G. Willoh of the Coast Guard; Lt. Col. Michael Dobervich, officer in charge of Midwestern Procurement Division of the Marine Corps; Lt. Col. Frank Kriwanek of St. Louis, who recently returned from three years of Japanese imprisonment; Col. James H. Howard of Clayton, Congressional Medal of Honor winner, and Halsey's staff, including Col. Julian Brown, Lt. Comdr. James Bassett and Lt. Comdr. William J. Kitchell.

Approximately 10,000 persons will be in the line of march, Leo McCann, chairman of the parade committee, estimated. There will be five bands from Army and Navy posts, at least 10 high school bands and about eight drum and bugle corps participating. Many of the Army groups will have motorized equipment in the parade.

Pilots of Navy bomber-fighter planes, attached to the Third Fleet, who arrived in St. Louis last Thursday and escorted Adm. Halsey's airplane into Lambert-St. Louis Field yesterday, will fly formations over the city this afternoon, forming the letters H for Halsey, N for Navy and S L for St. Louis.

Hour and 45 Minutes to Pass.

Three large floats are scheduled to be in the parade. One will be a War Bond float, donated by public-spirited citizens and delivering the war bond message. Another will be a Red Cross float and the third a Navy float. McCann estimated the parade would take one hour and 45 minutes to pass a given point.

Mounted police and the United States Navy Band from the Great Lakes Training Station at Chicago will lead the parade. Immediately following will be Adm. Halsey's automobile, with an escort of Marines. Other automobiles in which the Mayor, the Governor and other officials will ride, will follow the admiral's car.

Massed flags of 32 Allied nations and flags of each of the 48 states will provide a colorful background for the automobiles of the officials.

Among the military units in the parade will be the Eighth Infantry (Golden Arrow) Division Band and the division's massed colors; a scout dog platoon from the Forty-seventh Infantry Regiment with motorized elements; and a battalion from the Army Service Forces Training Center with motorized elements from Fort Leonard Wood.

The floats and military units will comprise the first division of the parade. The second division will be composed of veterans' groups, with high school bands and drum and bugle corps. Civic groups, including War Dads, Navy Wives, Army Mothers, Marine Moms, Boy Scouts of America and drill teams from high schools and social organizations will be in the third division.

Traffic Barred From 6 to 8.

Traffic regulations which will keep all motor and streetcar traffic out of the downtown parade area from 6 p.m. until about 8 p.m. were announced by Chief of Police James J. Mitchell this morning.

No parking will be permitted along the parade route after 4:30 p.m., Mitchell said. Any automobiles left on the route will be towed away to a city garage. All eastbound motor traffic will be halted before it reaches Twelfth boulevard and routed away from the downtown area.

The Public Service Co. announced that all bus traffic from the south would be routed east over Clark avenue and turned for the outbound run at Fourth street. Bus traffic from the north will be routed over Delmar boulevard to Third street, where it will turn around. Busses from the west will be turned at Twentieth street and continue east on Delmar. In general all streetcar traffic will be routed around the parade route, using Fourth street in which to turn for outbound trips.

8855 Scott Field Separations.

The Scott Field Army Air Forces separation center has discharged 8855 men since its activation last Sept. 17, Col. Neal Creighton, commanding officer, announced today. Last week 2553 discharges were processed, of which 418 were officers and 2135 enlisted men. Of the total discharges 1886 were officers and 6969 enlisted men.

PLANE PLANT HERE URGED AS PART OF RESERVE FOR NAVY

Proposal Said to Refer to Curtiss-Wright Facilities—Would Not Bar Ordinary Use.

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—A recommendation that six engine plants and 10 airplane plants, one in St. Louis, be retained by the Army or Navy as a reserve for emergency use was made today by the Government Air Co-ordinating Committee.

Although the St. Louis plant was not mentioned by name, the Post-Dispatch was informed that it is the Curtiss-Wright Corp. plant at Lambert-St. Louis Field and that the Navy probably would take title if the recommendation is approved.

This would not interfere with use of the plant by the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. or any other agency, but would mean that the Navy could take over on short notice. The requirement would be, for use by any manufacturing concern, that no alterations be made that would impair the basic structural suitability of the plant for the manufacture of airplanes.

The Curtiss-Wright plant is owned by the Defense Plant Corporation.

The recommendation was part of a long survey of the aircraft industry presented today to the surplus property subcommittee of the Senate Military Affairs Committee. The membership of the Air Co-ordinating Committee includes representatives of the State, War, Navy and Commerce departments and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

FIRST CONTINGENT OF YANKS LEAVES KOREA FOR HOME

TOKYO, Oct. 29 (AP)—From Seoul today came word that the first United States troops to be sent home from Korea left yesterday and that by Jan. 1 the distribution center at Inchon will have processed 19,000.

At Nagoya the first contingent of Sixth Army high-pointers to be marked for redeployment home—3087 men and 236 officers—boarded the transport Marie Falcon preparatory to sailing for Seattle.

The transport General Butner is due at Nagoya tomorrow to take home a group of 4708 men and 413 officers.

One of the advantages of CARBONITE and SOLARITE, especially in mild weather when drafts are closed, is their ability to hold fire. It is unusual to find fuels that combine this advantage with those others of kindling easily and responding quickly to drafts, but in CARBONITE and SOLARITE you find it all. Add that they are sootless, dustless, entirely smokeless, and you have about everything you want in a solid fuel. Don't put off ordering.

Admiral Halsey to Be In Navy Day Parade

for the Navy day observance, performed acrobatic maneuvers.

Adm. Halsey wore a regulation blue topcoat and white silk muffler and carried gray kid gloves, but he removed his coat in the warm sunshine as Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann extended the official welcome of the city and presented him with a large, gold-plated "key to the city."

Popular among Navy men and known as the Antithesis of a "spit and polish" officer, Adm. Halsey appeared slightly uncomfortable in his neatly pressed dark-blue uniform with sleeves loaded with gold braid denoting his rank. Five rows of brightly colored decorations won in two wars stood out above his left breast pocket and were surmounted by the gold wings of the Navy air force.

His weather-worn features were clouded with a scowl during the key presentation, but a tight-lipped grin, accentuated by the sparkle in his blue eyes, split his rugged face as he acknowledged the greeting. He remarked with a smile that it was his first visit to Missouri although he had spent many months on a battleship named in the state's honor.

"Hi, Charley!"

Noticing Charles Belknap, his life-long friend and host during his St. Louis visit, standing nearby, the admiral, in typical Halsey fashion, shattered the decorum of formal introductions by shouting "Hi, Charley!" as he warmly greeted Belknap. They were boyhood chums when their fathers served at the Naval Academy, were students at Annapolis at the same time and served in the same destroyer flotilla in the last war.

Belknap was on the reception committee in his capacity as president of the St. Louis Council of the Navy League. Others included former Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, Col. Isaac A. Hedges, chairman of the local Navy day celebration, and Rufus R. Clabaugh, chairman of the St. Louis Victory Loan campaign.

As Adm. Halsey, who is 5 feet 9 inches tall, strode briskly to a waiting automobile, it was evident his nickname of "Bull" came from the chunkiness of his build and his stern countenance as well as from his unorthodox methods and tenacity in pursuing the Japanese fleet.

His gracious manner in receiving reporters at a press conference at the Lambert Field Naval Air Station belied his reputation as a crusty rough-and-tough seadog. He spoke softly but intently. Only when answering a question about his opinion of Japanese seamen did his eyes flash cold hatred and his words came in grim, clipped tones:

"Topside, stupid fanatics; willing to die, not willing to be hurt. They yell like rats. In the beginning, excellent with torpedoes; very good with guns, same with ship control. Toward the end, their Navy was a hollow shell."

Evidence of his sense of humor was given when, in expressing "100 per cent" disapproval of the proposal to consolidate the War and Navy Departments, he remarked drily: "I think we had fairly good success in the war." He underscored the understatement by raising his bushy eyebrows in querulous manner.

He laughlingly told reporters he has no plans for his sixty-third birthday anniversary tomorrow. "I'm getting too old for celebrations," he said. "I'd like to forget a few of those years." He said his retirement probably would become effective after the first of the year and that he had no plans for life in retirement either. "Maybe I'll duff around at golf a little," he said.

He declined comment on the plan to allow Russian and England to join in the occupation of Japan and said that he had "stopped looking into the crystal ball" when asked his opinion on how long occupation of the Japanese home islands would be necessary.

"Never Trusted the Japs."

"I was thoroughly ashamed when we steamed into Sagami bay (near Tokyo) and were met by one of the few Jap ships still afloat, a miserable, dirty little destroyer with its guns depressed," he said. "Our guns were ready for business. We never trusted the Japs and don't trust them yet." He added that he was aboard the mighty U.S.S. Missouri, his flagship at the time.

In the closing stages of the war, he said, aJpanese kamikaze tactics showed they were near defeat. "Kamikaze was adopted as a last desperate measure and was awfully effective when they hit," he declared. "But in the six weeks we were off the coast of Japan—and sometimes we were only 10 miles off—only one ship, a destroyer, was hit by a kamikaze."

When the surrender came, only 350,000 tons of Japanese merchant shipping was in operating condition out of "their once proud merchant fleet of more than 10 million tons," he said.

On the matter of combining the War and Navy Departments, he said it would be "a great mistake to partake of our national characteristic of rushing pell-mell into something."

"A cooling-off period is necessary until the men who have been out there fighting can get home and have their say about it," he said. "No panacea has yet been invented to cure all evils, but the best that could be found would be one to end war, which is the most foolish thing created by man."

As for compulsory military training, he said: "Every American owes a duty to his country for the privilege of citizenship. If a scheme could be worked out, economically sound and properly administered, it would be a splendid thing for the youth of America. Short of that, it is an absolute necessity that we have some voluntary method of military training, such as an expanded R.O.T.C. program in colleges and high schools."

At the airport, Adm. Halsey met for the first time Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Selkirk, 53 Aberdeen place, whose daughter, Miss Mary Jane Selkirk, is married to the admiral's son, Lt. William H. Halsey III. The younger Mrs. Halsey is in Washington where her husband recently arrived after duty in the South Pacific. Later Adm. Halsey attended a tea at the Selkirk home.

After the ceremonies at the airport, Adm. Halsey was honored at an informal luncheon given by Belknap at the Deer Creek Country Club. Later in the afternoon he spoke briefly on a national radio program from Belknap's home, 45 Westmoreland place. Military men, he said, "have discovered the fallacy of hoping for the best while being totally unprepared for the worst."

"This ostrich policy is an invitation to whatever predatory power springs up to come and get us," he said. "Our Navy must remain strong. Remember, scrapped ships will not rest peacefully in deep blue water beside the gallant Lexington, Yorktown, Wasp, Hornet, Houston, Atlanta and all the other brave ships that were lost in those desperate, early days when we were holding the line."

Adm. Halsey will leave tomorrow morning by plane for his home in Wilmington, Del.

We're making telephone equipment again...
Telephone factories are getting into the swing of peacetime production.
Thousands of men and women in these factories have turned from making radar and gun directors to the complex job of making telephone equipment once again.
It's a change that pleases everyone. As more and more telephone equipment comes from the factories, it means that telephone people here can make faster and faster progress in caring for the 246,000 waiting for telephone service.
Such a big job takes time. Equipment is complicated. Making switchboards and dial equipment requires thousands of precision parts, thousands of intricate connections. And thousands more are needed to connect them as working parts of the telephone system.
But the good news is that we're on our way. We are working as hard as we can toward the day when anyone who wants a telephone can get it when he wants it.

SOEKARNO BRAVES GUNFIRE, ARRANGES SOERABAJA TRUCE

Indonesian Leader Flies to Naval Base—40 Reported Killed in Fighting Between British, Natives.

By RALPH MORTON

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Soekarno of the "Indonesian republic" was reported to have arranged a truce at Soerabaja today between native nationalists and British Indian troops after the heaviest fighting of the Allied occupation of Java.

Soekarno was flown to Soerabaja, big naval base, from Batavia in a Royal Air Force plane to intervene in the serious street fighting in which the Indonesians manned Japanese armored cars and light tanks.

I flew with Soekarno and two of his cabinet into Soerabaja and returned to Batavia in the only plane to get in and out of the naval base. When we arrived we found the airstrip under fire and held by a patrol of British Mahrattas.

As a result of the subsequent truce, firing died down in the headquarters area of the British Forty-ninth Brigade and in the center and southwestern portions of Soerabaja. Firing still was going on in other areas of the city, but it was reported that the situation generally was quieter.

Soekarno Braves Fire.

Soekarno, standing in a truck carrying a red and white ensign, went into the thick of the fire from the natives who had got out of hand.

The truck had proceeded only 200 yards when a machine gun opened fire on it. Then an armored vehicle which the Indonesians had taken from the Japanese opened fire but missed.

The armored vehicle then came up alongside Soekarno's truck and there seemed to be a greeting.

Three hours later, Soekarno had not reached brigade headquarters although it was only a 10-minute drive. He apparently reached Indonesian headquarters and was negotiating for the truce.

The fire we experienced on landing was nothing to what we received on taking off. Seven wounded Mahrattas were being evacuated. Machine gun and rifle fire tore a hole in the tail of the plane. One shot struck a wounded Mahratta.

A British officer said the nationalists had killed about 40 members of the British Indian force and that many women and children in interment camps in the area also had been killed by the natives. Forty British Indian troops were wounded.

Reason for Clash Unclear.

It still was not clear what had touched off the outbreak. Leaflets had been dropped on the city warning unauthorized persons carrying arms to turn in their weapons by Wednesday on penalty of death. British army observers thought the leaflets might have figured in the clash.

Moestopa, a mysterious Indonesian whose name has been linked with the hostilities, was reported to have fled the naval base. A British senior staff officer said Soekarno had declared that Moestopa held no official position in the native movement.

The sudden deterioration of the military situation at Soerabaja was wholly unexpected. British Indian troops landed without opposition four days ago at the naval base.

The trouble arose at a time when it was expected that informal peace talks between Dutch and Indonesian leaders would begin within 48 hours.

While mystery cloaked plans for the conciliation conferences, there were mounting indications that British and American pressure for a settlement had been felt by both sides.

Acting Governor General Hubertus J. Van Mook, who was ordered by the Dutch Government to open negotiations immediately, announced the Nationalists had been advised "where and when" he would receive them. The Indonesian foreign minister, Soebardjo, replied that no invitation had been received, but that "if invited, we are inclined to accept, providing Van Mook acknowledges Indonesia's right to self-determination."

(In Moradabad, India, Jawaharlal Nehru, a leader of India's campaign for freedom, predicted that the "people of India will stand by the Indonesian demand for independence and will give all the help they can." Nehru criticized British use of Indian troops against the Indonesians.)

who has retired. George Parker, another new captain, was assigned to Lucas Avenue from Lynch Street. Charles N. Rowland, a new captain, will be in command at Deer Street, replacing Capt. John Y. Goodin, who retired.

Capt. John A. Buck, appointed last week, will replace Capt. Samuel I. Stewart in command of the Penrose Street Station. Stewart will retire. Lt. George Dreckshage will be acting commander of the Page Boulevard Station.

The only captain not affected by today's shake-up was Capt. Bernard Heggeman, who will remain in command of the Lynch Street Station.

Lieutenants Transferred.

The following lieutenants were transferred: Albert Bean from Magnolia to Lynch; Louis Shoulders from Lucas to Penrose; Emmett W. Morrison from Penrose to Page Boulevard and Michael Flavin from Page Boulevard to Deer Street.

Lt. Joseph Wren had been placed in command of the gambling division, which will be under the over-all supervision of Chief of Detectives Herman F. Siebels. His appointment to this position carried with it a promotion to captain. Curtis Brostron, another lieutenant promoted to captain last week, will remain in the Police Inspector's office.

All transfers, promotions and demotions will become effective Thursday.

REDS ASK YANKS, BRITISH TO HELP ROUND UP DESERTERS

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—The Red Army has asked American and British forces to help round up its deserters, an American Military Government officer said today.

The officer said the Russians have "a pretty terrific" rate of desertion and said the deserters and renegade Russians who fought with Germany are responsible for many of the offenses charged against the Soviet Army.

American investigators ascribed the Russian desertion problem to the Red Army's loose record system and the fact that many Russians find conditions in western Europe more attractive than at home.

CLERKS IDENTIFY SUSPECT IN DRUG STORE ROBBERY

Charles Higgins, former convict, arrested Saturday for the robbery of a tavern, a dry goods store and an A. & P. supermarket, was identified by two clerks of the Shaw Drug Store, 4069 Shaw avenue, yesterday, as the man who robbed them of $800 Sept. 25.

The clerks, Earl Davis, 4069A Shaw avenue, and Miss Nancy Scoan, 4139 Shaw, had previously identified a photograph of Higgins and a warrant charging first-degree robbery had been issued against him by the Circuit Attorney's office. Detectives arrested Higgins at Vandeventer avenue and North Market street after they observed that he resembled the description of the man wanted for the drug store holdup. He had $387 in his pockets and a canvas sack taken from the safe of the supermarket.

Police said Higgins, who at first denied his identity, escaped Oct. 15 from the Cook County jail at Chicago, where he was held on a robbery charge. He was identified by witnesses Saturday as the man who robbed the tavern at 5553 Robin avenue of $300 at 6 p.m.; the dry goods store at 5590 West Florissant avenue of $1000 at 6:15 p.m., and the supermarket at 2543 North Grand boulevard of about $500 at 8 p.m.

WAR CHEST GIFT BY FAMOUS-BARR STAFF OF $83,965

Contributed by Employes and Executives — Appeal Made to Heads of 300 Large Firms.

Gifts totaling $83,965 from executives and employes of the Famous-Barr Co. to the St. Louis War Chest Campaign were announced today by Cyrus Crane Willmore, general chairman of the campaign. Executives of the company contributed a total of $68,125 and 3675 employes gave $15,840.

These contributions, with a previously announced gift of $45,000 from the corporation, make the total amount contributed by the company and its employes $128,965. The additional gifts will be included in the next report of the employe and special gifts divisions.

Meanwhile, Willmore, in an effort to obtain "fair share" contributions to the campaign from business executives in the city, today sent letters to the heads of 300 large firms, urging them to take personal charge of soliciting their sub-executives. The campaign was extended indefinitely last Friday because contributions totaled only $4,009,145, or but 76 per cent of the $5,265,000 goal.

Willmore asserted in his letter that subscriptions from many executives are not only inadequate, but actually much smaller than those received from other employes. He asked the heads of the firms to prepare lists of executives earning more than $4000 annually and "to resolicit them" for larger subscriptions, which will represent a fair share based on the amounts of their incomes.

"It is generally considered that a fair share is one to two per cent on incomes of from $4000 to $10,000 a year and from three to five per cent on incomes of more than $10,000 annually," Willmore wrote.

Hundreds of contributions, ranging from $1 to $25, have been received at the campaign headquarters, 511 Locust street, as a result of newspaper and radio announcements by campaign officers asking persons who have not been solicited to send their contributions directly to the War Chest office.

his party leaders had turned down a central government offer to make no move against the Reds outside of railway zones in north China, in return for Communist non-interference with rail communications. The Communists, he said, would not abandon their railway strongpoints unless Chiang's government agreed to confine traffic to civilians and freight.

Another Communist report said that Central Government troops, which have been flown into the Tientsin-Peiping area, were planning to push westward along the Peiping-Suiyuan railroad in an attempt to make contact with troops of Gen. Fu Tso-yi moving eastward in Inner Mongolia.

Gen. Fu, governor of Suiyuan province, recently accused Communist forces of trying to bottle his army in the province, and threatened to take drastic action if the Reds continued their tactics.

ADM. SCOTT'S SON AND WIDOW GREET HALSEY AT AIRPORT

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

The widow and son of R. Adm. Norman Scott, Kirkwood Navy officer who was killed in the sinking of his ship off Guadalcanal nearly three years ago, were among the first persons to greet Adm. William F. Halsey, commander of the Third Fleet, on his arrival at Lambert-St. Louis Field yesterday.

Adm. Halsey, as soon as he saw Mrs. Scott, threw an arm about her and extended a hand to her son, Ens. Norman Scott Jr., lately commissioned Navy flyer. They had gone to the field with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Belknap, Halsey's hosts. Mrs. Scott now lives in Honolulu.

Adm. Scott was lost with his flagship, the cruiser Atlanta, Nov. 13, 1942. This was soon after Adm. Halsey had assumed command of American naval forces in the south Pacific. Scott had served also under Belknap, a former Navy commander, and long a friend of Halsey.

In the same engagement off Guadalcanal, R. Adm. Daniel J Callahan was killed. Shortly thereafter, Halsey was made a full four-star admiral. When Halsey removed the three-star insignia from his uniform, he is said to have instructed a subordinate to send the stars to Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Callahan, and to tell them that "their husbands' fighting guts won me my promotion."

VIRTUAL CIVIL WAR REPORTED IN NORTH CHINA

quarters conceded the fighting was serious.

"We cannot consider the situation represents a civil war until Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek openly proclaims it to be so and calls the Communists rebels," said an official Communist spokesman.

Sources favoring Chiang's government said they believed the only way to unify the nation was to eliminate the Communists, which they said they thought Chiang could do with an all-out campaign in from three to six months. They think Chiang would start a smashing campaign against the Communists were he not apprehensive over the reaction from other nations, particularly the United States, and the possibility that Russia might support the Communists.

Several Chungking sources said they believed that there was no real chance of getting the currently deadlocked unity discussions between the Communists and Chiang's government back on the road to peaceful settlement.

Communists Claim Rail Town.

The Communists announced capture of Linmingwang, railroad town near Tzehsien in southern Hopei province, after inflicting heavy losses on "puppet troops." Possession of Linmingwang would put the Communists across the route of central government troops moving toward Peiping to relieve American Marines in the north. The Marines have not become involved in the fighting, and have been ordered to stay clear of any entanglement in China's internal troubles.

A Communist spokesman said

What AMINOS in hospitals teach us about MEAT at home

Corporal Charles W. Allman of the Fifth Marines, from Colby, Wisconsin, wounded at Okinawa and now at Great Lakes Naval Hospital, gets his noontime meal with plenty of good juicy meat in it. Like all convalescent fighters in our service hospitals, he eats generous amounts of meat to provide the proteins for rebuilding his body more speedily.

Knowledge gained through wartime medical advancements is guiding women in the feeding of their families. Now we know that the amino acids in meat are as essential to maintaining healthy adult bodies and to growth in children as they are to repairing the bodies and rebuilding the health of convalescent fighters.

READ THE MENUS for any of the service convalescent hospitals, and you'll find the word "MEAT" running through them, day in and day out—for breakfast, for dinner, for supper.

Take a look at the trays at Great Lakes, for example, and you'll see that the amounts of meat served are generous.

All this is because wartime medical science has demonstrated that, given plenty of meat, men suffering from wounds, burns, starvation or infections, recover faster.

The secret of meat's restorative power lies in "the amazing aminos" (a-mee-nos)—those mysterious substances in the proteins we eat which our bodies use to build and rebuild our tissues, organs, blood and infection-fighting antibodies.

What do these aminos in hospitals teach us about meat at home? Just this:

Children cannot grow and adults cannot rebuild tissues (which wear out constantly in the process of living) without the amino acids of protein foods. Our blood cannot be regenerated—our resistance to many infections cannot be maintained unless we obtain them.

Twenty-two amino acids have been isolated. Ten of them are known to be essential. Without them, life is not possible.

The protein of meat has all ten of the essential aminos; is rich in them. If we have a generous amount of meat in our diets, we can be assured of getting the aminos we need.

You may have thought it was hunger for the good flavor of meat that prompted your desire for it. But isn't it more likely that it was the hunger of your body for those essential aminos that instinctively guided you?

O. D. Meredith, from Highland Park, Illinois, Chief Meat Cutter of the Commissary Staff, slicing off steaks for convalescents and other patients at Great Lakes Naval Hospital. It takes 80,000 pounds of dressed beef, 40,000 pounds of pork loins, 17,000 pounds of ham and other meats in proportion, to provide a month's meat menus for the men at this hospital.

Falzone Ouster Hearing Opens in Missouri Senate

stood to be ill; and Ed R Caldwell of Perry.

Falzone's lawyers, Charles E. Rendlen of Hannibal and Waldo Edwards of Macon, moved at the outset that the testimony given by a defense witness, Mrs. Florence Many of St. Louis, before the special committee, should be accepted as her testimony in the case, as illness will keep her from appearing. A medical certificate from Dr. Harold Newman was presented, setting forth her inability to attend the trial.

Under Criminal Procedure.

The trial, as requested by Falzone and voted by the Senators, is being conducted under the rules of criminal procedure. This means that Falzone will enjoy the presumption of innocence; that he and his witnesses cannot be cross-questioned on any matter not in their direct testimony; that he may present character witnesses, and may inspect the Senate's list of witnesses.

Each Senator will be required to vote on the question whether Falzone shall remain a member of the Senate.

The Senate chamber is being used for the first time for the trial of a Senator; there is no record of such a proceeding in this state in the past. In 1917 the Senate chamber was used for the trial of State Treasurer Larry Brunk, who was acquitted by the Senate on impeachment charges preferred by the House of Representatives.

The chamber lends itself well to the solemnity of such an occasion. There is a dignified coldness about its marble walls but the coldness is relieved by four paintings in rather vivid colors and by flags of the United States and Missouri hanging on angles at each side of the front.

Semi-circular, the chamber is reminiscent of a Roman arena. Plain marble walls extend to a height of 15 feet, and at the rear and half way around each side are surmounted by 14 columns of Italian granite, back of which are the galleries for spectators.

In the center at the front is the huge walnut dais of the president reaching about six feet above the floor. In front of that and a part of it but a step above the floor is the secretary's desk. Above the president are two granite columns and back of them a small gallery.

34 Senators on "Jury."

The 34 Senators sit at walnut desks placed in a curving formation. They face the president, and between them and the secretary's desk tables have been set for counsel for the Senate and for Senator Falzone and for the press.

As they sit in judgment on one of their colleagues, the Senators face two inscriptions chiseled in the wall. One, flanked by a painting of Frank P. Blair delivering a speech at Louisiana, Mo., in the troublous reconstruction days following the Civil War and Thomas H. Benton delivering a speech in the St. Louis Court House in 1849 reads: "Nothing is politically right that is morally wrong."

The other, between paintings of President Jefferson greeting Lewis and Clark on their return from their exploration of the Northwest, and Daniel Boone at the Judgment Tree, reads:

"Free and fair discussion will ever be found the firmest friend of truth."

In this setting the Senators will hear the evidence and decide whether it justifies the conviction "beyond a reasonable doubt" that Falzone solicited the bribe, and, if so, whether that justifies them in expelling him from the Senate. Expulsion is the extent of the Senate's power, and the affirmative votes of 23 of the 34 elected Senators will be required to impose that penalty.

Falzone has his close personal friends in the Senate, strange to say more on the Democratic than the Republican side, although he is a Republican. It is virtually certain that theer are some Senators who will vote against his expulsion regardless of the evidence. It also is virtually certain that there are some Senators who have prejudged the case on the evidence taken by the special committee and reported to the Senate as justifying the filing of formal charges.

AUDITING BRANCH TO BE SET UP HERE WITH RECORDS OFFICE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Comptroller General Lindsay Warren, head of the general accounting office, informed Representative John J. Cochran of St. Louis today that he hoped to establish an auditing branch in St. Louis to co-operate with the War Department's central regional accounting and records office.

This branch will be opened about Dec. 1, Warren said, and in six months' time between 400 and 500 persons will be recruited. The law requires that all general accounting office employes be subject to the civil service.

Warren started plans for establishment of the branch after Cochran requested an investigation of the desirability of close local co-operation between the records office and the accounting office. Cochran said today that establishment of the St. Louis branch would expedite pre-audited War Department claims.

MILLION IN PRECIOUS METALS SEIZED AFTER TIP IN OSAKA

OSAKA, Oct. 29 (AP)—An undisclosed source in the Japanese Finance Ministry supplied American troops with a tip which led to seizure today of more than $1,000,000 worth of gold, silver and platinum from a safe in the Mitsukeshi department store.

A search of all main buildings in the city was being conducted by Ninety-eighth Division troops.

FALLS FROM EIGHTH FLOOR

Harold C. Johnson, a painted employed by the Busch-Latta Paint Co., fell from the eighth floor of the J. C. Penny warehouse shortly before noon today when a scaffold collapsed.

A foreman of the company, George Jocelyn, who took Johnson to City Hospital, said a support rope slipped and tilted the scaffold. Johnson, who lives at 520 Jeffords avenue, Lemay, suffered a broken left ankle and head and internal injuries.

2,225,000 Discharged by Army.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The War Department announced today that 2,225,000 Army personnel had been returned to civilian life since V-E day May 12 through Oct. 26. Of this total, 1,633,000 were discharged after V-J day, Sept. 2. Releases for the week ending Oct. 26 were 307,000 and from Oct. 1 through Oct. 26, 1,047,000.

INDIA PUT ON JAPAN COUNCIL WITHOUT REPLY FROM RUSSIA

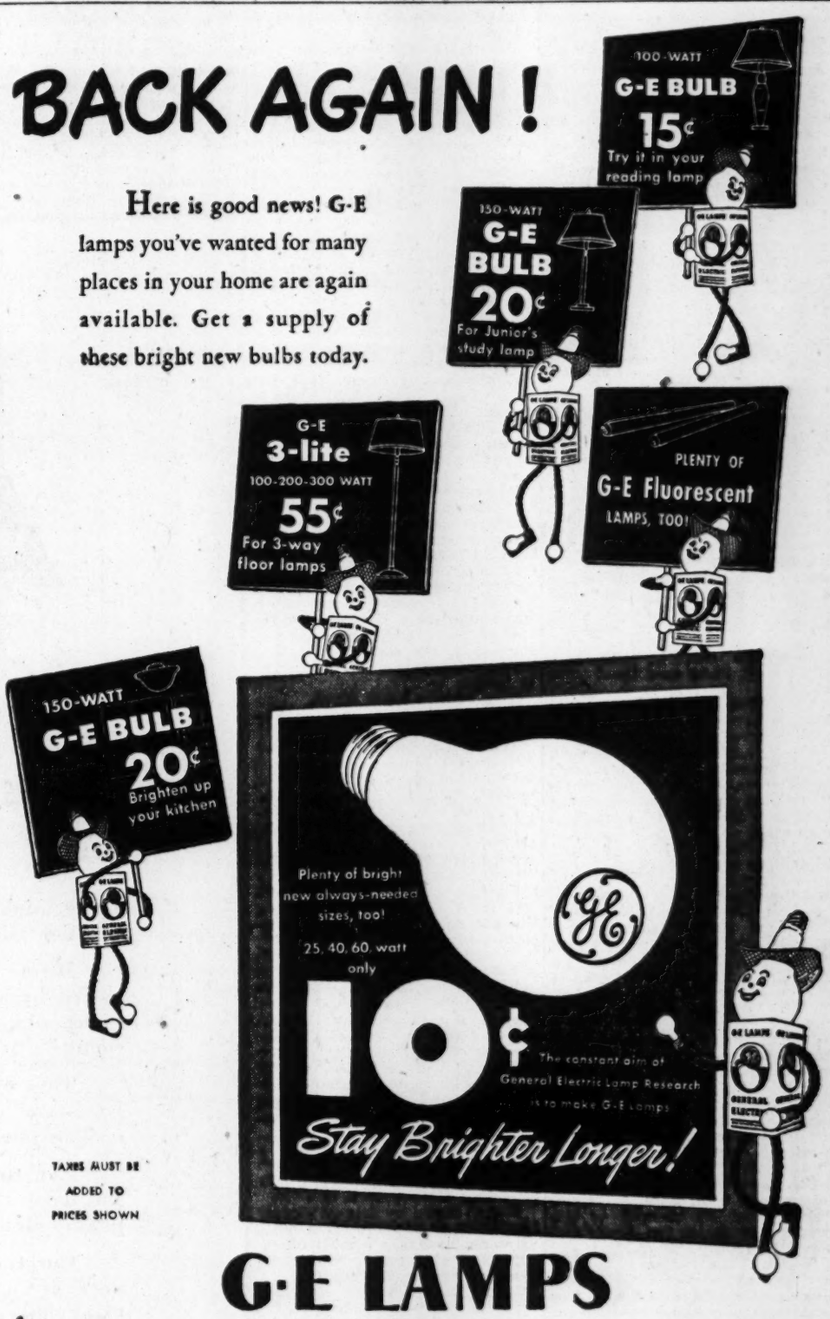

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Lacking either a yes or no from Russia, the United States has invited India to sit on the Far Eastern Advisory Commission and the Indian Government has accepted. The commission meets tomorrow.

Britain originally proposed India's participation and two other major Pacific allies, China and Russia, were asked whether they would consent.

China agreed, but Russia has not yet indicated whether it will attend tomorrow's meeting and hence has expressed no opinion on India.

emphasized that the war really is not yet over.

"What we fought for was peace, and many things have to be done yet before we attain peace," he declared. "In order to make victory complete, the armies of occupation must do their job. Meanwhile, we have obligations to the wounded and the veterans requiring rehabilitation. All this requires financing, and in this we can do our part by bond purchases."

He acknowledge the presence in the audience of four St. Louis Marines who had taken part in the defense of Wake Island. These were Sgt. John S. Johnson, 3919 West Pine boulevard; Sgt. Henry L. Durrwachter Jr., 1488 Stewart place; Sgt. R. S. Box, 6366 Bancroft avenue, and Cpl. G. D. Shumard, 4269A Botanical avenue.

Col. Devereux Buys Bond.

Using part of the pay which accumulated while he was a prisoner, Col. Devereux bought a $1000 Series E bond from Rufus R. Clabaugh, chairman of the St. Louis campaign.

This was the second formal purchase of a Victory bond in the local drive. The first bond was bought by Mrs. Selma O'Hare, mother of the late Comdr. Edward O'Hare. The bond was bought for Kathleen O'Hare, two-year-old daughter of the Navy flyer whose exploits made him a national hero.

Adm. Halsey presented this bond to Mrs. O'Hare at the luncheon. In a simple but heartfelt presentation, the admiral told Mrs. O'Hare, "I knew and loved your son."

Mrs. O'Hare bought seven $100 Victory bonds in all, one for each of her seven grandchildren.

The Rev. Msgr. Mark K. Carroll, vice chancellor of the St. Louis archdiocese, delivered the invocation at the luncheon, at which the Christian Brothers College glee club sang.

Col. Devereux said he had about 25 cousins who live in St. Louis, among them being the Gleasons and the Chopins.

Lost Weight as Prisoner.

A short slender, slightly bald man, he still has not regained all of the weight he lost during his long imprisonment, being some 15 pounds under his normal weight of 138. "But I feel all right," he said.

In a press conference before the luncheon, he answered questions in a soft voice, speaking deliberately and giving careful thought to his answers. His manner was more that of a professor than of a military man, and his remarks carried a quiet but convincing air of authority.

Col. Devereux made no attempt to evade controversial issues. Asked what he thought of the proposal to merge the Army and Navy, he replied, "Bunk!"

"I don't like to see us go off half cocked on such a vital question after we have just fought a successful war under the present system," he explained. "We must maintain a balance in everything. Supposing the entire national defense were placed under one head, and that man felt we didn't need any more battleships or aircraft. If he were wrong, our defense would be seriously impaired. Under the two-branch setup, one arm balances the other."

He expressed the opinion the air force might be employed independently in the strategic sense, but added, "It's no more than a supporting weapon for the conduct of war."

Asked whether development of the atomic bomb might lessen the need for maintaining large armed forces, he said, "History shows that, whenever an offensive weapon has been developed, a counter-weapon always followed. After every war, we have allowed our military and naval establishments to run down to the point where we couldn't back up our foreign policy."

He said he still had not made up his mind about the advisability of universal military training, but added, "If we continue with universal training at present, we'll be in much better position to deal with other countries. Dropping it now would be a mistake."

Col. Devereux expressed the belief the atomic bomb gave the Japanese a long-awaited excuse to surrender, and said the conviction of defeat had "filtered down through the rank and file" about a year before the war actually ended.

A feature of the Victory Loan campaign is a special display of infantry equipment on Chestnut street between Twelfth boulevard and Fifteenth street. The display was to be open from 2 to 11 p.m. today, soldiers dismantling and assembling equipment and showing movies in a tent erected for this purpose. The public was permitted to try out the "walkie-talkie" communication sets used in battle.

Victory Loan Float.

A huge float will present a Victory Loan appeal in the Navy day parade which is scheduled to begin at Washington avenue and Twelfth boulevard at 6:30 o'clock tonight. The float, illuminated by 750 lights, was donated by public-spirited citizens and built by workers who formerly designed and constructed floats for the Veiled Prophet parades. It will carry several wounded war veterans, and will show a large book bearing the campaign slogan: "They finished their job—let's finish ours."

The St. Louis post office, with a 100-per cent response from its 3600 employes, oversubscribed its bond quota before the drive opened, it was announced today. By so doing, it retained the distinction of being the first metropolitan post office in the country to attain its quota, a record maintained during the last five war bond drives, Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann stated.

The post office was assigned a quota of $212,500. With tabulation of purchases still incomplete, subscriptions already total $258,974.

Money raised by sale of Victory bonds will be spent to rehabilitate veterans, maintain armies of occupation, bring troops home from overseas and implement the G.I. Bill of Rights, it was explained by Clabaugh, who emphasized the importance of purchase and retention of E bonds.

St. Louis county has been assigned a quota of $6,333,641, of which $2,396,541 represents E bond purchases. The county will open its drive with a dinner at Belvedere Joe's restaurant, 1407 Brentwood boulevard, at 6:15 o'clock tomorrow night. Speakers will be Lt. Lyle J. Bouck, 2844 Pennsylvania avenue, who was captured in the Battle of the Bulge, and John H. Armbruster, county campaign chairman. The dinner will be followed by a 30-minute newsreel of war scenes.

Vinson Broadcast Opens Nationwide Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The last bond drive of World War II—the Victory Loan—is under way. It is dedicated to help "keep the faith with those who fought for a better world."

The campaign to sell $11,000,000,000 in bonds before Dec. 8 was opened by Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson in a nationwife broadcast last night.

"A successful Victory Loan will help us on the long road ahead," Vinson said.

"It will help you in planning for your own future. And it helps to keep the faith with those who fought for a better world."

Private citizens will be asked to buy $4,000,000,000 in bonds—$2,000,000,000 in the small denomination E-bonds.

The money, Vinson said, "will pay the costs of bringing home our boys; it will be used for mustering-out pay; it will meet the cost of medical care for our injured; it will help our veterans to pick up their interrupted education or work."

DALTON RECOMMENDS PASSAGE OF BANK OF ENGLAND BILL

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton urged passage today of the Labor Government's measure nationalizing the Bank of England, asserting that neither the Government nor the Treasury intended "any day to day interference with the ordinary work of the bank."

"The Government and the people of the country believe the old man of the Treasury and 'The Old Lady of Threadneedle Street' (the Bank of England) should be legally married," he said. "We should not like that there be any danger of their living in sin."

He said the treasury and the British banking industry must "pull together for full employment and production."

VOLUNTARY PAYMENT TO CITY OF $15,000 IN BACK TAXES

Collection of $15,000 by the city in voluntary payments of delinquent personal property taxes since last December was made known today by Alfred J. Grattendick, attorney for Collector Richard E. Gruner.

Default judgments for $50,000 in 2484 out of the 18,000 tax suits filed last Dec. 20 were ordered in June by Circuit Judge James F. Nangle. The suit covered delinquent taxes for the last five years.

Circuit Judge William H. Killoren said today he would issue default judgments Thursday in 10 cases covering about $200 payments. About 290 cases in which service was obtained remain on the docket.

MAN, TWO YOUTHS AND GIRL SAID TO ADMIT AUTO THEFTS

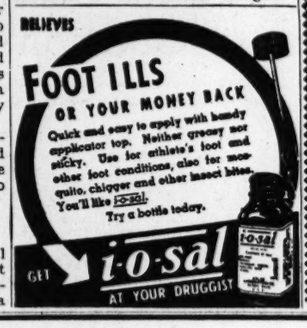

Richard E. LaBonte, 4335 West Pine boulevard, two 16-year-old youths and a girl, 13, were turned over to St. Louis police yesterday after police reported they admitted a series of automobile thefts. They were arrested by State Highway patrolmen in a stolen machine parked on Highway 40 near Ballas road late Friday.

Police said LaBonte told them they had taken the automobile from the 4300-block of Forest Park boulevard, intending to drive to Kansas City. Because none of the group had any money, police said he told them, he snatched a purse containing $8 from a woman waiting for a bus at Mitchell and McCausland avenues. LaBonte and the other youths admitted stealing two other cars which they abandoned earlier Friday, police said, and also stealing articles from cars parked in the Municipal Opera parking lot in Forest Park in July and August.

LaBonte was booked as suspected of larceny from the person and larceny of an automobile. The boys and girl were turned over to juvenile authorities.

PRODUCE MORE AND HAVE MORE

A PROPOSAL TO THE NATION

— to its lawmakers, its economists, its farmers, its industrial workers and its business men

Every thinking American must realize that this Country now faces a situation without parallel either during the war or before it.

Before the war we were busy at production of all the things required by a peacetime economy. We maintained a high standard of living, supported the Government with our taxes, exported to foreign countries and enjoyed imports from them.

Then came the war. Production was stepped up to unprecedented levels and devoted almost entirely to military needs. Production of civilian goods was reduced to the barest necessities.

Now the was is over. We turn again to supplying civilian needs. But today these needs, unfilled for four long years, are at the highest peak of all time.

Our Government's tax requirements are no longer the staggering needs of war, but they are still the enormous needs of war's aftermath—many times greater than before the war. There is also immediate, urgent need for all kinds of goods to aid the recovery and rehabilitation of a war-torn world.

The simple fact is that we have a big job ahead of us.

We can't get it done on the prewar basis of work.

We must produce far more now than ever before!

Recognizing these problems, we have made the following proposal:

INTERNATIONAL UNION, UAW-CIO,
411 West Milwaukee Avenue,
Detroit 2, Michigan.

Gentlemen:

General Motors proposes that the UAW-CIO join with it in petitioning the Congress to change the Wages and Hours Act to make the standard work week 45 hours in place of 40 hours during the postwar reconstruction period. This proposal is made recognizing that the country has a big load to carry in cleaning up the aftermath of the war, and that under these conditions we can all have more only if we produce more.

The reason for this proposal to change the law is that the present law putting the penalty of overtime pay of 50 per cent on the extra hours over 40 discourages employers and business generally from planning such extra hours of production, thereby tending to reduce the country to a 40-hour week, when the country and the world are demanding more production at lower prices

With this change in the work week, we propose that all wage rates be increased approximately 6 per cent, so that men working 45 hours at the new straight-time rates will make as much money as they do now for 45 hours of work. This proposal would increase the earnings of those working less than 45 hours and would also increase the extra compensation for any hours worked over 45, since such hours would be paid for at time-and-a-half based on the new rates

Your first impression of this proposal probably will be that it is a reactionary idea, and not in the interest of labor. It is not reactionary any more than working longer hours in the war emergency was. We are sure that it is in the best interests of all the people of our country, and particularly in the best interests of all workmen.

If the 40-hour week was sound prewar and the 48-hour week during the war, the 45-hour week is sound for the immediate period following such a world catastrophe as we have been through. All Americans are expecting an even higher standard of living postwar than we had prewar. This can be accomplished at this time only by producing more, as we now must carry the huge additional tax burden and other expenses growing out of the war. The simple fact is that we have a big job ahead of us. We cannot get it done on the prewar basis of work. We must produce far more than we did in the past.

The workmen of other nations will work far more than 45 hours. In many cases they will have only a bare subsistence living while they are doing it, because of the lack of good tools and machinery like those supplied by employers in our country.

This proposal has much to recommend it.

1. It avoids a substantial reduction in weekly earnings.
2. It prevents inflation and preserves the purchasing power of war bonds, insurance, social security and other savings.
3. It does not upset the balance between agricultural workers, salaried workers and industrial workers.
4. It will produce more goods and services, and the people of our country will have more.
5. It will create more good jobs and the employment of more people. Just as many men and women will be employed in our plants on a 45-hour week as on a 40-hour week. And it will allow the use of our plants for the extra five hours when they would otherwise be idle.
6. It will stimulate business activity and create more jobs, and result in the employment of many more people in all related businesses.
7. If our plants could be scheduled to work on this basis, we would produce nine cars where we would otherwise have produced only eight. It will mean that one man out of nine will have a car who would otherwise go without.

We believe that a 45-hour week is necessary and desirable during the period of postwar reconstruction, for the following reasons:

1. During this period our country will be shipping food, materials and machinery to other countries all over the world to help them rehabilitate themselves and avoid starvation.
2. We still have the extra expense of bringing our fighting men back home and fitting them into civilian work.
3. We still have high taxes, which necessarily are a charge against industry and all producers.
4. To develop and apply technological improvements and to reorganize industry takes time—years, not months.

It is hoped that at the end of this postwar reconstruction period:

1. Our relations with other countries will be on the basis of a two-way street, where we shall get back goods and services for those we supply.
2. The fighting men will be back at peacetime work, and the aftermath of the war will be over.
3. Government expense and the number of government employes will be reduced and not be such an excessive burden on all producers.
4. Technological improvements—the better ways of doing all the things that are necessary to deliver products to customers—will have become effective.

We can then have a 40-hour week with more leisure time and more goods and services, and can continue to improve the standard of living of all Americans.

Yours very truly,
C. E. WILSON,
President

WHY WE BELIEVE EVERYONE SHOULD FAVOR THIS PROPOSAL

It would help America to produce more and have more—

It would provide for higher wages without the certain necessity of higher prices—

It would help to strengthen buying power, sustain the tax requirements, and maintain the value of war bonds, savings and insurance—

It would be good for the working man, good for the employer, good for the farmer, good for the professional man, good for the housewife—

Good for America:

Truman for Making Discoveries Financed by U. S. Public Property

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman wants Congress to make sure that any scientific discoveries stemming from federally financed research will become public property.

His position was outlined in a letter written by Reconversion Director John W. Snyder to Senators Kilgore (Dem.), West Virginia, and Magnuson (Dem.), Washington, who have been holding hearings on a proposal to create a national research foundation.

The letter, made public today, said the President believes "the fruits of research financed by federal funds must become the property of the United States and should be made fully, freely and publicly available to all."

Truman was said to favor writing this principle clearly in any scientific and legislation Congress may adopt.

"It is the President's opinion," Snyder continued, "that one of the major functions of a federal research agency must be to co-ordinate federal research activities so as to achieve a balanced and effective program. This would not interfere with the separate research programs of the several federal agencies, but would be intended to assure their effective synchronization."

The letter also showed that scientists have lost a White House fight for the right to select the head of the proposed national research foundation. They have wanted to select the top leaders for any such program.

Snyder indorsed the foundation idea, but said he and the President feel "the agency should be under the direction of a single administrator who shall be a full-time federal official.

"The administrator should have the services of an advisory board composed of the best-qualified scientists in the country. Both the administrator and the board should be appointed by the President.

"The President believes that it would be unwise to leave the administration of the agency to a commission composed of part-time members with a variety of outside interests."

Virtually every scientist who has appeared has argued for the controlling agency to be a group of non-governmental experts. This group, in their view, should select or at least nominate the director of the proposed foundation.

"Don't make this just another government agency," asked President Isaiah Bowman of Johns Hopkins University in a typical plea.

However, such government officials as Budget Director Harold D. Smith and Secretary of Commerce Wallace have testified in favor of one responsible government official. Their view is that he could be guided in scientific decisions—such as how much money to allot to the study of cancer—by advisory experts.

Kilgore's bill follows the framework Truman has approved; Magnuson's embodies the idea of a board appointing the director.

Important Announcement

NOW YOU CAN GET A
$100 LOAN
IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $7.27 A MONTH

Up to 18 months to repay*

WE'VE just extended from 12 to 18 months the time in which most Household loans may be repaid. More time means smaller monthly payments. So if it's more convenient for you to repay less per month, just see the small payments Household now offers.

All you do

All you do to apply for a Household loan of $100, $200 or more is to tell us a little about your problem and choose a payment plan. We require no endorsers or guarantors, no signatures of friends or other outsiders. You may borrow quickly, simply and privately—on your salary, car or furniture. To save time, phone us first, then call for the money.

Smaller monthly payments

See in the table below the payment schedules you have to choose from. You are welcome to repay on the schedule that's most convenient for you. Payments shown include principal and charges. Charges are made only for the actual time you have the use of the money. The sooner you repay any loan the less it costs. Household makes only the one charge stated here.

Quick phone service

You may borrow from Household for almost any purpose. Why don't you find the loan you need in the table and choose a convenient payment schedule now? Then phone or visit Household for quick action on your loan.

*Loans for the payment of certain "restricted" articles are still limited by Govt. regulations to 12 months.

These payments include all costs if payments are made monthly on the same day of each successive month. Earlier or larger payments reduce the total charges and later or smaller payments increase them.

The only charge is the monthly rate of 3% on loans of $100 and less, 2½% on loans over $100 and up to $300. On loans of $400 to $1000, charges are equivalent to 1½% per month. Charges are figured on actual unpaid principal balances as reduced by payments. Loans over $300 are made by Household Loan Company.

ATOMIC CONTROL WITH AND THROUGH ALLIES IS URGED

Research Scientists and Peace Group Jointly Recommend 3 Steps in Curb on Bomb.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Control of the atomic bomb "with and through the United Nations" was recommended jointly yesterday by a group of scientists who aided in atomic energy research and by a special committee of the Commission to study the Organization of Peace, research affiliate of the American Association for the United Nations.

The two groups, meeting under the leadership of Dr. James T Shotwell, chairman of the commission and a director of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, issued a statement in which they urged three "practical steps for dispelling the current confusion regarding control of the atom." The steps are:

1. Control of the atomic bomb with and through the United Nations, as the only basis for immediate progress.

2. Appointment by the General Assembly of the United Nations Organization of a committee for study of political, social and economic implications of the atom.

3. Leadership on the part of the United States to restore unity among powers.

Among those indorsing the recommendations were Dr. Shotwell; Clark M. Eichelberger, director of the American Association for the United Nations; Prof. R. G. Gustavson, vice president of the University of Chicago; Dr. Philip C. Nash, president of the University of Toledo; Dr. Waldo Cohn, member of the executive committee, Association of Oak Ridge Scientists at Clinton laboratories; Dr. Harold C. Urey, 1934 Nobel prize winner for chemistry, of the University of Chicago, and James P. Pope, director of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Einstein Explains Stand.

Meanwhile, Prof. Albert Einstein said yesterday in a statement aimed at clarifying his stand on the atomic bomb published in the Atlantic Monthly last Friday (reprinted in part in the Post-Dispatch Saturday) that to give away the secret of the atomic bomb "under present anarchic conditions would lead to an accelerated armament race."

Einstein, who issued the statement in response to a request by the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, which said his article had led to "confused and conflicting interpretation in the nation's press" declared:

"I am aware that my statement about the necessity for world government has been partly misunderstood and misinterpreted . . .

"Now to avoid any harm that might be done, I have to say right away that in the present situation nothing is more important than to create an atmosphere of confidence between the great powers so that the great problem of abolition of competitive armament can be solved.

"It is my belief that to give away this secret under the present anarchic conditions would lead to an accelerated armament race."

ESCAPED WORKHOUSE TRUSTY CAPTURED; ANOTHER SOUGHT

Buford F. Silcox, 1516A Hebert street, one of two prisoners who escaped from the city workhouse Saturday night, was arrested by police in the 4300 block of North Broadway last night. The second man, Marvin Davis, 3333 North Eleventh street, is being sought.

Charles Miller, guard at the workhouse, reported that about 10 p. m. Saturday the two men, both of whom were trusties, asked permission to go to the lavatory. When they did not return in about five minutes, Miller investigated and discovered they had climbed over the fence. He saw them getting ino an automobile parked in a vacant lot adjoining the institution and fired three shots at them. They drove away, going south on Broadway.

Each of the men was serving a one-year sentence for larceny from the person and malicious trespass and were due to be released from the workhouse Dec. 3.

MVA COMMISSION TO MEET NOV. 8 TO PREPARE REPORT

5000-Mile Survey of Basin Completed — Arguments Presented for Pick-Sloan Plan.

By RICHARD G. BAUMHOFF
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 29—The Missouri State MVA Commission, which concluded its two-week, 5000-mile inspection of the Missouri river basin here yesterday, will meet in Jefferson City Nov. 8 to consider its report on desirability of the proposed Missouri Valley Authority from the standpoint of Missouri.

As has been told, the commission is split, 4 to 3, against the idea of a regional over-all authority along MVA principles, but it is confronted with complaints from Missouri caused by concern over the effect on 16 counties of a series of reservoirs on tributaries contemplated under the rival Pick-Sloan plan.

The commission must report its recommendations to Gov. Phil M. Donnelly by Dec. 1 and thereafter the Governor will submit his own recommendations to the legislature for action—probably in the form of a memorial to Congress for or against the MVA idea.

A 234-mile trip on the river in the Army Engineers survey boat, "Sgt. Floyd," was the windup of the tour which had gone as far west as some of the headwaters of the basin, just below the continental divide. The river voyage lasted nearly two days, starting at Kansas City Saturday morning.

During this ride, especially on the first day, when the commission group and Army Engineer officers were accompanied by a Kansas City delegation opposed to MVA and favoring the Pick-Sloan plan, State Senator Claude B. Ricketts (Rep.) of St. Louis, chairman of the commission, was a notable center of attention, as the various men sought to impress on him their views supporting the Army Engineers and Bureau of Reclamation plans under Pick-Sloan. Ricketts has been a vigorous advocate of MVA. Two of the seven commissioners, Fred V. Heinkel, president of the Missouri Farmers' Association, and State Senator Edward V. Long, left the tour at Kansas City, while one commissioner Col. F. G. Jonah, was unable to join any part of the tour.

Argument for Pick-Sloan Plan.

In the course of the river trip a lecture on the history of Missouri river development and the general outlines of Pick-Sloan was delivered by Lt.-Col. Delbert B. Freeman, district engineer of the Omaha district. It was a skillfully prepared argument for this plan and the administrative principle behind it. Co-ordination of the work of four federal agencies involved is being undertaken through the Missouri Basin Inter-Agency Committee.

Col. Freeman, who has been in the river work for 15 years and was closely associated with Brig. Gen. Lewis A. Pick in preparation of the Army's Pick plan, said that the river channel stabilization, undertaken initially for navigation purposes, was absolutely necessary for protection of the river bottom land. However, he said there had been about $85,000,000 in benefits from land protection and flood control which should not be charged to navigation, compared with the $160,000,000 total given by the Army as the expenditure thus far on the stream in the theoretical 764-mile navigation stretch from the mouth to Sioux City, Ia.

He pointed out that Congress now has authorized the Army to enter into recreational development around the great reservoirs, or lakes, which are expected to be created. Possibilities include boating, hunting, fishing and camping.

In contrast with a statement by W. G. Sloan, assistant regional director of the Reclamation Bureau and author of the bureau's Sloan plan, that Pick-Sloan proposed to produce for sale 4,500,000,000 kilowatt hours annually of hydro-electric power, Col. Freeman stated that the dam system could produce 10 billion kilowatt hours a year. This figure had been cited by MVA advocates, who also said an additional eight billion could be obtained through addition of steam plants and diversion of water from the Colorado river basin.

Effects of the big floods of 1943 and 1944 were plainly noticeable in the river trip. They occurred in the war period, when the Army Engineers lacked manpower and funds for normal maintenance work. Damage to large pile dykes was observed, as well as numerous places where the banks were threatened.

However, there were indications supporting the Army contention that, in general, channel stabilization has been achieved. Officers say the restless river no longer will be able to shift course frequently in the broad lowlands usually found between bluffs.

At one point the "Sgt. Floyd" halted a huge Army Engineers dredgeboat, the "Capt. Meriwether Lewis," in midstream, and the whole party went aboard the dredge to see its powerful pumping equipment. It is a $300,000 floating plant, one of four of its kind in the Kansas City district (mouth to Rulo, Nebr.) Its operation and retirement cost is figured at $2000 a day, but its dredging capacity is 90,000 cubic yards in a 24-hour working day.

Last June the Missouri commission had made an inspection trip over the Tennessee Valley Authority's territory as the first phase of its work.

LABOR URGED TO CLEAR RANKS OF COMMUNISTIC ELEMENTS

Unless labor organizations clear their ranks of "Communistic elements that are attempting to rule them," they will find themselves taken over by the Communists, John J. Griffin, vice president of the Industrial Bank and Trust Co., said last night in an address at the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Miseriacordia Society in the DeSoto Hotel. The Miseriacordia Society is an organization of Americans of Italian extraction.

Americans, he said, must realize fully that continued indifference on their part to the preservation of this nation may cause them to lose the right to liberty, freedom and the pursuit of happiness.

Griffin said he had no quarrel with Russia as an ally but insisted that Russia make "no attempt to inflict upon our people any of her ideologies or forms of government." The difference between the American and Russian forms of government he said, is, that "in America, the government is made for man, while in Russia, man is made for the government."

ROASTER-FRESH COFFEE MADE RIGHT IN THE CUP

Roaster-fresh because in Nescafé all the fresh flavor of newly-roasted coffee is sealed in by added carbohydrates.

"YIPPE-E-E!" yelled the Chief Justice..."once more I can get the roaster-fresh cup of coffee that I pronounce perfect! Nescafé is here again!"

That's real news for you, too. For Nescafé offers you the peak in coffee enjoyment...because Nestlé's knows the way to give you all the flavor—all the lift—of really fine coffee! First, we make an extract from choice coffees fresh from the roaster—then instantly seal in the wonderful flavor! You release this locked-in freshness by just adding hot water.

So easy to prepare...no coffee maker to get ready or clean up...no grounds to dispose of. A teaspoonful of Nescafé makes a cup—for only about 1¢. No waste...you make exactly the amount you need—and just the strength you like.

Ask your grocer for Nescafé today—if he doesn't have it now, ask him to set aside a jar for you when his supply arrives. He will have it soon—and...it's worth waiting for. It's the sure way to coffee enjoyment.

OK ...said Uncle Sam!
...and proved it by buying—for our Armed Forces—more Nescafé than all other brands combined! And—the only Army-Navy "E" award in the soluble coffee field is held by the Nestlé's plant at Sunbury, Ohio!

OK ...said our fighting men!
...they wrote thousands of letters saying how well they liked it! Liked it so well that in PX's and Commissaries—where they had their own choice—the sales of Nescafé were sensational!

NESCAFÉ (PRONOUNCED NES-CAFAT) IS NESTLÉ'S SOLUBLE COFFEE PRODUCT COMPOSED OF EQUAL PARTS OF SKILLFULLY BREWED SOLUBLE COFFEE AND ADDED CARBOHYDRATES (DEXTRINS, MALTOSE AND DEXTROSE) ADDED SOLELY TO PROTECT THE FLAVOR — NESTLÉ'S MILK PRODUCTS, INC., NEW YORK, U. S. A.

Editorial Comment on Truman Declaration of Foreign Policy Shows Widely Varied Viewpoints

'Vision of Power' Likely to Cause 'More Alarm Than Confidence,' Says New York Herald Tribune—'Calm and Firm' Statement, Says Washington Star.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP).

NEWSPAPER editorials throughout the nation, expressing widely varied points of view, today weighed President Truman's Navy day declaration of the power of American armament against his assurance that it would be used only to secure peace and international co-operation.

The New York Times said that the Navy, "with such military strength as we decide to maintain," would "enable us to bring pressure for peace."

The United Nations Organization, the Times said, "is not merely an expressed wish for peace. It is a means of preserving or restoring peace by the threat or use of force. Such international force, land, sea or air, cannot be improvised. Its very existence, on the other hand, discourages aggression."

Likely to Cause Alarm.

The New York Herald Tribune, referring to the "vision of power that President Truman has conjured up," said of the President's disavowal of the use of that power for aggressive purposes:

"Abstractly stated, this is an ideal program: The best of intentions backed by a great concentration of power. But in the concrete, the President's expression of policy shows a dangerous tendency to cancel out many of the good intentions, leaving the power looming in uncomfortable conspicuousness."

The Herald Tribune added: "Among America's neighbors there is likely to be more alarm at the fact of American power . . . than confidence in the promise that it will be devoted only to the most beneficent ends."

The Chicago Sun called the President's address "a hymn to American power and our good intention. . . . He asked the world to place its faith in us, while we rely for our own security primarily upon the most powerful Navy, a trained Army and Air Force and the possession of frightening new weapons, including the atomic bomb."

Asserting that the "only real security" lay in international agreement, the Sun added: "Statesmanship, therefore, must be judged not by what it does to strengthen our military position, but by what it does to strengthen the United Nations."

Firmness 'Would Help.'

The Philadelphia Inquirer found "little that was new and certainly nothing sensational" in the President's address, adding that, while our government's diplomatic position was "a delicate one, nevertheless the situation seemed to call for somewhat plainer speaking."

Commenting on the President's mention of a need for "forbearance and firmness" in our dealings with our allies, the Inquirer said Secretary of State Byrnes had shown "patience to an astonishing degree at the meeting of the council of foreign ministers in London."

"As for firmness, more of it would help," the Inquirer said.

The Baltimore Sun praised the President's appeal for mutual international understanding of a country's "legitimate urge toward security as they see it."

"It is not enough to assure the world, as Mr. Truman said, that our possession of the atomic bomb is no threat to any nation," the Sun said. "That is too much for any nation to take on faith."

"Happily, the President did not rest on that," the Sun added.

'Clear and Calm.'

The Washington Sunday Star said the President's speech was "a clear, calm and firm exposition of the principles of which this country's foreign policy rests."

The Star said the President recognizes that the emergence of the atomic bomb makes the "development and application of our foreign policy more urgent than we could have dreamed of six months ago."

The Star asked whether Russia "will be more interested in subscribing to the principles of our foreign policy or in learning how to make atomic bombs of her own."

The Washington Post summed up the speech in the President's own words: "We seek to use our military strength solely to preserve the peace of the world."

The Post said the chief weakness of the speech "is to be found in its vagueness as to plans for putting this policy into effect."

"We cannot help thinking," the Post said, "that action taken by the administration falls far short of what is needed to carry out the policies that the President has outlined."

Truman Speech Played Up in Soviet Papers

Foreign Policy Points Printed Verbatim — No Comment Yet.

MOSCOW, Oct. 29 (AP).

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S Navy day foreign policy speech was carried conspicuously in Moscow newspapers with bold-face two- and three-column headlines.

All 12 points of the speech were published verbatim, with a number of direct and indirect quotations from the parts on the atomic bomb.

No editorial reactions have appeared so far.

LONDON CRITICIZES ATOM BOMB STAND

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Truman's foreign policy declaration won almost unanimous approval today from the London press, but editorial writers condemned his expressed unwillingness to share the secret of the atom bomb.

The conservative Daily Mail praised the 12-point foreign policy statement as "direct and unambiguous, but said secrecy with respect to the atom bomb was "likely to lead not to trust, but distrust" of the United States.

The Mail's editorial was accompanied by a cartoon showing the American eagle clutching an olive branch in one claw and an atom bomb in the other, while from its beak depended a ribbon with the slogan "peace, or else . . ."

The Times asserted that "there's nothing in this creed (the 12 points) to which British policy cannot subscribe with a whole heart," but declared "it is urgently to be desired that the central organization of the United Nations should be granted the fullest intelligence and control of all military developments with respect to atomic energy."

The Daily Telegraph said Truman's speech "makes clear that the administration meditates no departure from the peace aims laid down in the Atlantic and United Nations Charters and in many utterances by the late President Roosevelt."

The Labor party organ, the Daily Herald, refrained from comment, but the liberal News Chronicle said the refusal to share the atom bomb manufacturing process "boils itself down to an injunction to trust America."

PARIS, Oct. 29 (AP)—Pierre Laval raced with death to complete a documentary apology for the "errors of judgment" which led him to dishonor, a reliable source disclosed today.

In 1940, when the collaborationist government was formed after France's collapse, "I was unaware . . . of how far the savagery of the (Nazi) regime could go," Laval admitted in a paper written in his cell shortly before his execution on Oct. 15. He called the Nazis "a party which denied and trampled on the rights of the human person."

"If the Germans had invented the atomic bomb first and won the war . . . I would be treated as a man entitled to his country's recognition. I prefer not to have been that man," the former Vichy chief of state wrote.

BRITAIN TO SET UP ATOMIC ENERGY RESEARCH OFFICE

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons today that the Labor government would establish a research and experimental office to handle "all aspects of the use of atomic energy."

In response to a question, Attlee said "the British government are fully informed as to German research into the atomic bomb."

CIVIL SERVICE ENGAGES 23,500 VETERANS IN MONTH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The United States Civil Service Commission announced yesterday it had placed more than 23,500 veterans in jobs last month, an increase over the August total of 20,000. Placements included wives of disabled men and widows of veterans.

In the first nine months of 1945, the report said, veteran placements totaled 157,759, of which 96.9 per cent were outside the District of Columbia.

GEN. WAINWRIGHT'S OWN STORY

Japs Force Wainwright to Broadcast A Surrender Order to Scattered Troops

Gen. Wainwright herewith gives, for the first time, the particulars of his early days of captivity. In this, the twenty-third of his dramatic history of an unforgettable event in United States history, the fallen hero of Bataan and Corregidor tells of the broadcasts he was forced to make to his troops holding out in the southern Philippines.

By GEN. JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT.

(Copyright, 1945. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

WHEN Col. Jesse T. Traywick returned witht he typed copy of my enforced surrender letter to Maj. Gen. William F. Sharp Col. Haba, the Jap in charge of me, informed me that he was taking me to Manila in the afternoon to broadcast these same instructions to Sharp and to make similar broadcasts to Cols. Guillermo Nakar and J. P. Horan, commanders of the small force still unconquered in northern Luzon. Sharp commanded a larger force of Americans and Filipinos on Mindanao.

I balked at the broadcast demand, for it went against my grain. I told Haba that Sharp in all probability would ignore my radio orders. An argument began, but I suddenly ceased in the middle of the debate. For it occurred to me that such a broadcast would give Sharp 24 hours leeway to get in touch with Gen. MacArthur, while my written orders were en route; 24 hours in which he could inform MacArthur of the existing situation and obtain his approval of the proposed surrender.

Haba then left me to go to Bataan to communicate by phone with Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma's headquarters. He told me he would return at 2 o'clock to take me to Manila.

All that day I sat in my little room with the members of my staff I had decided to take with me. I had already chosen Col. Traywick as the officer to send down to Gen. Sharp. I assigned my Assistant Chief of Staff, G-1, Col. N. C. Pillet, to accompany him. I chose my Assistant Chief of Staff, G-4, Col. N. C. Galbraith to take the surrender message to Col. Horan and my assistant quartermaster, Lt. Col. T. Kalakuka, to find Col. Nakar in the desolate guerrilla country of north Luzon.

Col. Kalakuka was a tough, vigorous soldier with considerable talent as a linguist. But these were to be some of the last hours I ever spent with him. He was never heard of again after setting out to find Nakar.

Col. Haba returned for me at 5 o'clock, instead of 2 o'clock. I had packed a bag, but he told me to leave it; that I would be coming back to Corregidor that night. But I never saw Corregidor again.

Under guard, Col. Haba led me and five of my staff officers out of the tunnel's west end. And again we passed through my captured men. They were standing there in the blazing sun in the area where I had seen them the night before. Obviously they had not been fed or given any water during that terrible time.

They were in very bad shape. But as I walked through them they all got to their feet. Some stood at attention and saluted as I passed, and I raised my hand to my old sunhelmet. Others just stood, took off their hats, and held them across their chests.

Again I felt the tears welling up to my eyes and could do nothing to stop the emotion. I am a student of the Civil War, but not until then did I know how Gen. R. E. Lee felt after Appomattox.

A Jap assault boat, similar to the one I had used the day before, May 6, 1942, when I went to Bataan to see Homma, picked us up and took us across the bay to Lanao, where we were ordered to debark and were marched to the front yard of a Philippine elementary school which had been turned into a Jap barracks.

We were told to wait; that we would soon leave there for Manila. After two hours the barracks' cook appeared with a little rice and some bony fish. But we ate every shred of it, for it was the first food that any of us had had for 48 hours. An hour after we finished, and long after dark, Col. Haba announced that we would now start for Manila.

The patient Jap process of rotting our nervous systems had begun.

We drove up through Bataan, with all its shadowy memories, rounded the Bay by way of San Fernando Pampanga and Calumpit, where we had fought for the very right to reach Bataan, and arrived in Manila in about four hours. Though it was nearly midnight, we were taken directly to Station KZRH.

Driving through the streets of the city—which I had long loved—was a shock. Although Manila had not suffered heavily from bombing or fire at that time, it was a ghost city. The last time I had been in the neighborhood of the broadcasting station it had had the dazzling brilliance of Times Square, what with its theatres, shops, restaurants and crowded street traffic.

Now there was nothing. No one was astir. Only an occasional Jap army vehicle or a furtive pony cart used the once-bustling streets, Manila was dead.

We were met at the radio station by a Jap propagandist with the smoothest of manners and a pure Oxford accent. He ushered us inside, gave us some fruit, and in a few minutes informed me that he was ready for my broadcasts.

Slowly, and repeating myself frequently, I broadcast the substance of the letter to Sharp, and then repeated the orders to Colonels Nakar and Horan. Jap news-

A.M.G. In Bavaria Has Achieved Much Despite Difficult Situation

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

MUNICH, Oct. 29 (AP).

THE story of the American Military Government's work day by day is fascinating in showing the resourcefulness, earnestness and devotion of the local detachments. We hear usually of the A.M.G. only when something goes wrong—nothing ordinarily is said of at least 80 per cent of what goes right.

It is no small thing, for instance, that health standards throughout Bavaria have been kept at a high level despite the great influx of evacuees from bombed cities, refugees from eastern Germany, and the presence of thousands of displaced foreigners. Men like Lt. Col. Robert A. Bier of Plattsburg, N. Y., medical officer for Wuerzburg, have done a great job with their immunizations.

It is also no small thing to get the street car systems operating again in all the larger Bavarian cities. This was a real surprise to me as I revisited Bavaria after having been there throughout April and until V-E day with the fighting forces. Then it seemed that everything was so thoroughly dislocated, disrupted and destroyed that the cities never could come to real life again. Today the streets teem with busy people and, though the streetcars are jammed, at least everybody can get about.

Farmers Work Long Hours.

The A.M.G. also has impressed on the Bavarian farmers their critical role during the current summer and autumn. Wherever I went farmers were at work all day and only at sundown did they return to their homesteads.

Bavaria, according to all appearances, won't suffer from famine which is feared in other parts of Germany.

What the A.M.G. seems to have done with special skill in Bavaria is to appeal to one side of the German nature which is not always recognized by foreigners, the German's innate respect, even love, for his own trade or profession. Col. Charles H. Andrus, Searcy, Ark., military governor of Nuernberg, put it in these words: "Encourage the people to do the things they're really fitted for especially as regards things requiring a certain artistic flair." Whereto Capt. John C. Thompson, in charge of arts and monuments added: "If Nuernbergers want to rebuild the battered medieval churches and other artistic shrines let them do it — it takes their minds off subversive things."

In appraising what A.M.G. has accomplished, one must remember that no city is normal; none has been unhurt by war's ravages. The very fact that a town escaped material damage means that thousands of refugees, evacuees, and discharged soldiers, flock to it in the hope of finding shelter. Even in ghastly looking Nuernberg, 2000 people arrive weekly hoping to find some food, clothing.

It is under abnormal circum-

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP).

BRITAIN'S standard R.A.F. Vampire, a jet-propelled fighter, has a normal top speed of 540 miles an hour, the highest yet claimed for any operational fighting plane, it was officially announced yesterday.

This speed can be maintained by a fully equipped and loaded plane for "long periods of level flight," the announcement said, adding that higher speeds have been obtained experimentally.

The twin-tailed Vampire is powered by a De Haviland Goblin turbo-jet engine.

Navy Report Cites Pearl Harbor Disaster in Argument Opposing Merger With War Department Says Results of Japanese Attack Might Have Been Different if Each Service Had Been Acting on Its Own—Separate Air Force Urged.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP).

A STUDY prepared for the Navy Department suggested yesterday that if the sea service had been working entirely on its own, independent of the Army, the results of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor might have been different.

The report, prepared by Ferdinand Eberstadt, New York investment banker and former War Production Board official, gave a flat "no" answer to a question whether unification of the War and Navy Departments under a single head as proposed by high Army officials would improve national security.

Instead Eberstadt recommended creation of still a third armed forces establishment of Cabinet status—a Department of Air—with all three "tied together by strong ligaments of co-ordination expressed by formal inter-organizational links."

He also urged actual organizational links binding together all Government agencies — political, military and economic — into a rounded program for national security. He suggested that a single defense department would be too complex for one man to run. He said service unification in other countries has "accomplished the subordination of civilian to military life."

The three-volume report, prepared at the request of Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, was made public by the Senate Naval Committee. Members of the military committee which is studying Army - Navy merger proposals asked for it.

Unified Action Failed.

Taking note of contentions that Army-Navy unity might have prevented the Pearl Harbor disaster, Eberstadt declared both services were at fault in failing to keep area commanders informed and added, without mentioning Gen. George C. Marshall by name:

"Transmission to both the Army and Navy area commanders of the danger warning of a final break in diplomatic relations with Japan was left to the Army chief of staff in Washington. The serious delay in this transmission was in effect a failure of unified action. Possibly if each service had acted independently the results might have been different."

The report made these additional points:

1. "The system of unified com-

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)

THE Army, because it granted higher commissions, was described yesterday as having taken more than its share of top men from among civilian leaders. This was set out in the Ferdinand Eberstadt report released by the Navy Department. It said:

"In the Navy, initial rank has been dependent largely on age, and the highest rank generally obtained on commissioning that of lieutenant commander. Initial rank in the Army has no such limitations and civilians have received initial rank as high as that of lieutenant general.

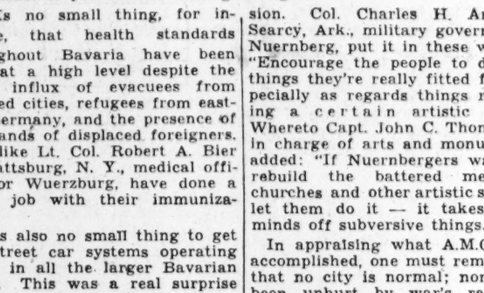

"As a result of this divergence of policy, there has been a considerable amount of shopping between the services by prospective officers. The higher initial rank in the Army has resulted in the procurement by the Army of a disproportionate share of top quality professional and administrative personnel."

The report also said the Navy treated its reserve officers (as compared with regulars) less properly than did the Army.

"In the Navy there appears to be limitations on the responsibilities in rank given to reserves. These limitations within the Navy are reported to have hindered the procurement of personnel for key billets, and they are cited as factors which damaged the incentive of reserve officers in the Navy."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Point System Injustice

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A few days ago, the Pacifican, the daily Army newspaper, announced that several shiploads of 60-point men were on their way back to the United States for discharge. It probably made very good reading back in the States, but for thousands of men overseas it burned as it went down, for it was pretty raw.

It was particularly raw for several thousand from the various branches of the Far Eastern Air Forces with 80 or more points, who at the present writing have spent anywhere from 26 to 31 days in the Manila area waiting for shipment. It was just one month ago that the last of the Air Forces 85-point men, after a wait of three weeks, boarded ship for home. Knowing this, the attitude of thousands of more men having 70 points or less can well be imagined.

Opinions of the men as to the reason for the extended delay seem to run to one of four answers. Some feel that as a result of congressional pressure, the Army announced its intention to step up discharges to a point that it is actually unprepared to fulfill. Another very popular view is that other branches of the Army are taking this chance to do something about their well-known animosity for Gen. Arnold's boys.

Still another is that it's all caused by a lack of liaison between the Army and Navy. Last, and not least, there's that oldest of all reasons in the Army, "brass hat snafu."

All of which convinces us of one thing: we want out of the Army, absolutely, totally and, if there's any remaining possibility, quickly.

Manila, P. I. ST. LOUISAN.

Rough-Riders of St. Louis

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I wonder whether the Public Service Co. is aware of the discomfort of passengers on the busses and street cars of this city. Riding has become so hazardous that one is never sure that he will be able to work if he is lucky enough to reach his place of employment.

Evidently there is something wrong. Perhaps it is brakes. Perhaps drivers need more training to develop some skill, or perhaps car-builders might add something to prevent that sudden jerk that makes you display acrobatic technique to keep on your feet.

BLANCHE DE FRANCE.

Of Petrillo and Others

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The "planned economy" of James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, is of more than passing interest. The principles are equally applicable to all cases where the machine is introduced and replaces men.

Think of the future possibilities of the advocates of the Petrillo plan of abundance. And I don't blame Mr. Petrillo. He is paid to serve his group, not to serve the nation, and most of his important critics would not hesitate to do as he is doing if they were as smart and could.

"Where there is no vision," it is said, "the people perish." The vision of Mr. Petrillo is centered at about the fourth button on his vest, the same "astigmatic" vision of the average manufacturer or business man. Free enterprise was never allowed to operate in principle. One group of planners cut the heart and spirit out of it by pressing into laws principles of special privilege; now comes the reaction.

We witness poverty and unemployment caused by one set of laws on our books, to remedy which another set of laws is then passed. We are a bunch of sad-sack economists.

A Leaf From St. Louis?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

What on earth has become of your senses of humor and proportion? Your editorial, "Two Kinds of Elections," is heavy-handed and deadpan. If the Outer Mongolian vote was 483,291 to 0, I should think you would be among the first to realize that they must have had the help of some of our own boys from the river wards when they counted the ballots. Too Many Things for Johnny

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I think that most of the blame for the poor school work in St. Louis should be laid on the big business men and many of the parents. All during the war, every week there was something new for the school children to do, such as scrap collections, waste paper drives and bond drives. The children got to the point where they couldn't concentrate.

As for the parents, many of them were working in the war effort also. Of course, we think that everything that was done to help bring peace sooner was very noble, but still our children shouldn't have been neglected and then blamed for it.

Many parents do nothing to see that their children study. It's really very surprising and sad how many boys and girls enter high school without knowing how to read well. Now that the war is over, maybe our schools can get back to their high standards again.

The Real Key

Open fighting between British and Indonesian forces in Java emphasizes the need for a broad statement of colonial policy on the part of The Netherlands, Britain and France or, preferably, the United Nations as a whole, which will satisfy or, at least, mollify the seething nationalist movements in the Far East.

In Java, as we have pointed out, Soekarno, president of the "Indonesian Republic," is a very unsavory character and an agent of Japanese efforts to rouse East Indians against the Western powers on a racial and religious basis. But where there is one Soekarno there are many real patriots in Java, Indo-China and elsewhere who are being stirred to rebellion as a result of the war.

They have taken with utmost seriousness the various proclamations of war aims concerning freedom for the peoples of the world and the anti-colonial utterances of Mr. Willkie and others. Consequently, as Sumner Welles wrote yesterday, the colonial areas threaten "soon to be aflame with sporadic outbreaks of violence."

Mr. Welles feels strongly that a mistake was made in delaying the establishment of a permanent international trusteeship agency under which some of the burdens of imperialism would be lifted from the colonial areas and under which they might hope for eventual self-government. He says the growing danger will not be removed:

> until those colonial peoples who are clamoring for their liberty are given the assurance that independence or self-government will be guaranteed to them by the United Nations Organization and that they will be safeguarded and assisted by that organization until they can assume sovereign responsibilities.

The United Nations cannot have one philosophy in the Occident and another in the Orient. The Orientals will not have it so. Moreover, they are rising at a time when their old masters—the French, the British and the Dutch—are hardly able to cope with a general uprising. It is the United States which holds the key to order in the Orient. The real key is not force, however. It is the leadership which Sumner Welles urges we apply to assure hundreds of millions in the Far East and Near East that their days of bondage are numbered.

Spam Redivivus!

There is something splendid about the advertisement, in full color both as to language and layout, that the Hormel packing people are running this week in the slick magazines. For sheer courage and devotion to an ideal, it may stand as a symbol of the vigor there is still in the American way of doing things.

Spam is the theme. Spam, the abused, the maligned, the rejected ingredient of the rations of millions of soldiers in the field; Spam, the inevitable staple of sailors when it was too rough to light the galley stove or when the freeze box was empty. Yet, here comes Spam's maker, undaunted by gibes, unabashed by obloquy, surer than ever of his product, willing to back it with cash and advertising. Hormel has just begun to fight.

Spam may be just Spam to millions, but to its maker it is a dream, a vision, "an unequaled blend . . . tender . . . sweet." However admirable the company's fighting spirit, however succulent the language of its ads, the reaction of the returning GI is still going to be, "Hormel be Spammed!"

Europe's Plea for UNRRA

Foreign Secretary Bevin could hardly have challenged the conscience of the United States more forcibly than he did in his speech in Commons reminding this country of its responsibility toward the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. Unless the second $1,350,000,000 appropriation, now closeted in the House Appropriations Committee, is forthcoming, UNRRA "will be broke," results in a few weeks will be "disastrous," and hunger and want may kill more people in Europe this winter than guns and the atomic bomb have wiped out, he declared.

Among the ruins and among the whole nations that stand beside their razed or ravaged homes, there moves, as Mr. Bevin reminded the people of the United States, a ghostlike horde of the displaced and homeless, the released prisoners of war, the enslaved workers coming home, some 15,000,000 of them. Their only hope of being spared, after their long suffering, the agonies of peace in famine and pestilence, and perhaps even death, is UNRRA.

Howard E. Kershner, of the Save the Children Federation of the United States, reported after a tour of Europe that United States wheat had literally saved millions of children in Europe from starvation. The director general of UNRRA, Herbert Lehman, and the Assistant Secretary of State for Economic Affairs, William L. Clayton, reported that 180,000,000 persons in Europe are on the verge of starvation—and to them must be added millions of almost-starving Chinese. "The real alternative to an expanded UNRRA program," Mr. Lehman says, "is agony, unrest and chaos."

After the First World War the United States poured out between two billion and three billion dollars for relief and reconstruction. There is no question now of the nation's duty or of its ability to discharge it. The only question, raised by some members of Congress, is of UNRRA's competence as the administrative agency. The only answer is that it is UNRRA or nothing.

UNRRA's weaknesses should be corrected as much as possible, and particularly it should be made strong enough to fight off all efforts to use it politically in behalf of any country or group, but momentarily the most important thing is to get on with the work; for doing the job imperfectly is vastly better than not doing it at all, and those are the alternatives.

Home Is the Sailor

The United States Fleet, in whose honor St. Louis celebrates today, is the mightiest in the history of warfare. No task forces ever ranged so far, in such strength or so victoriously. Americans today are proud of their Navy—and not a little perplexed about what to do with it.

How many ships, and of what sorts, does the nation need? Has the atom bomb made navies obsolete? What place should fleet organization have in a unified defense plan? What of carrier-based aviation? These are problems to be settled after the closest study by scientists of war, whose deliberations should be uninfluenced by any sentimental pull of tradition.

But St. Louis today, with Adm. Halsey here, with the Hellcat fighters overhead, with parading colors in the streets and the landing craft by the levee, may well for the moment forget such matters. This is a day simply for pride in the saga of our ships, whose commission pennants already are beginning to come down, whose future may be uncertain, but whose past is epic.

Certainly, the men who manned them, now leaving the sea and coming back to landsmen's lives, will never forget. They will have with them always the feel of the living ship under their feet, the mixture of nausea and the smell of fuel oil, the taste of salt spray and the bright image of constellations in a Pacific sky.

American Folly in China

For weeks Chungking has announced periodically, just as it has announced during every conference with the Chinese Communists for the past two years and longer, that its negotiations with Yenan were on the verge of success. The recent series of announcements, however, has been particularly dogmatic; closure of the civil breach, it gave the world to understand, was virtually sure. Now the completely misleading nature of these declarations has been violently disclosed.

Fighting too obvious to be disregarded in the official communiques has broken out between the Chinese factions, and Chungking admits what has been true all along—that the conference is without hope of success.

The chronic civil war threatens to become a malignant, spreading disease. And right in the midst of it stand troops and ships and planes of the United States, already committed—thanks in no small part to Ambassador Hurley's sympathies—to the Chungking side.

Our flyers want to know why they are being compelled to fly Chungking troops in order that Chiang Kai-shek's men may outpace the troops of Yenan. The Chinese Communists are stiffening, becoming hostile to us, now that they see us openly fighting against them—for the aid we are giving Chungking is an act of war against them, whether we admit it or not.

We are engaged in a questionable and dangerous business in China. We are meddling in the domestic affairs of another country, which is against our principles and should be against our practice, and we are doing it in the worst possible way—by force of arms.

President Truman had some words to say Saturday about the United States' foreign policy. It would be interesting to know how his Administration squares the high-principled wisdom he enunciated with the dangerous folly it is practicing in China.

Everybody is agreed on cutting taxes. The only remaining question is whose bone to cut them to.

Custom Rules a Vital Committee

Two congressional traditions collided when President Pro Tem McKellar faced the problem of naming a chairman for the Senate committee to study atomic energy. By one tradition, important posts go to members with high seniority. By another, a chairmanship goes to the member who suggests a special committee. To his credit, McKellar resisted the pressure of Southern seniors, and gave the post to Senator McMahon of Connecticut, the fledgling member who proposed the study.

This choice of a progressive thinker, of the type called "a forward young man" in the days when the young Jefferson was a firebrand in the Virginia Legislature, is a questionable victory, however. Hoary custom won out over merit in the choice of the committee's other members. Fulbright and Kilgore, other "forward young men," are not on the list. Instead, precedent and prerogatives carried the day, and few of the 10 men with whom McMahon will work on a momentous problem where bold thinking is essential can be called either progressive or imaginative.

Again congressional custom has worked to favor the Old Guard. And again an emphatic argument is presented for the long-needed reform in congressional procedure which will make merit, not long tenure, the basis for important committee appointments.

Tax Cuts and Victory Loan

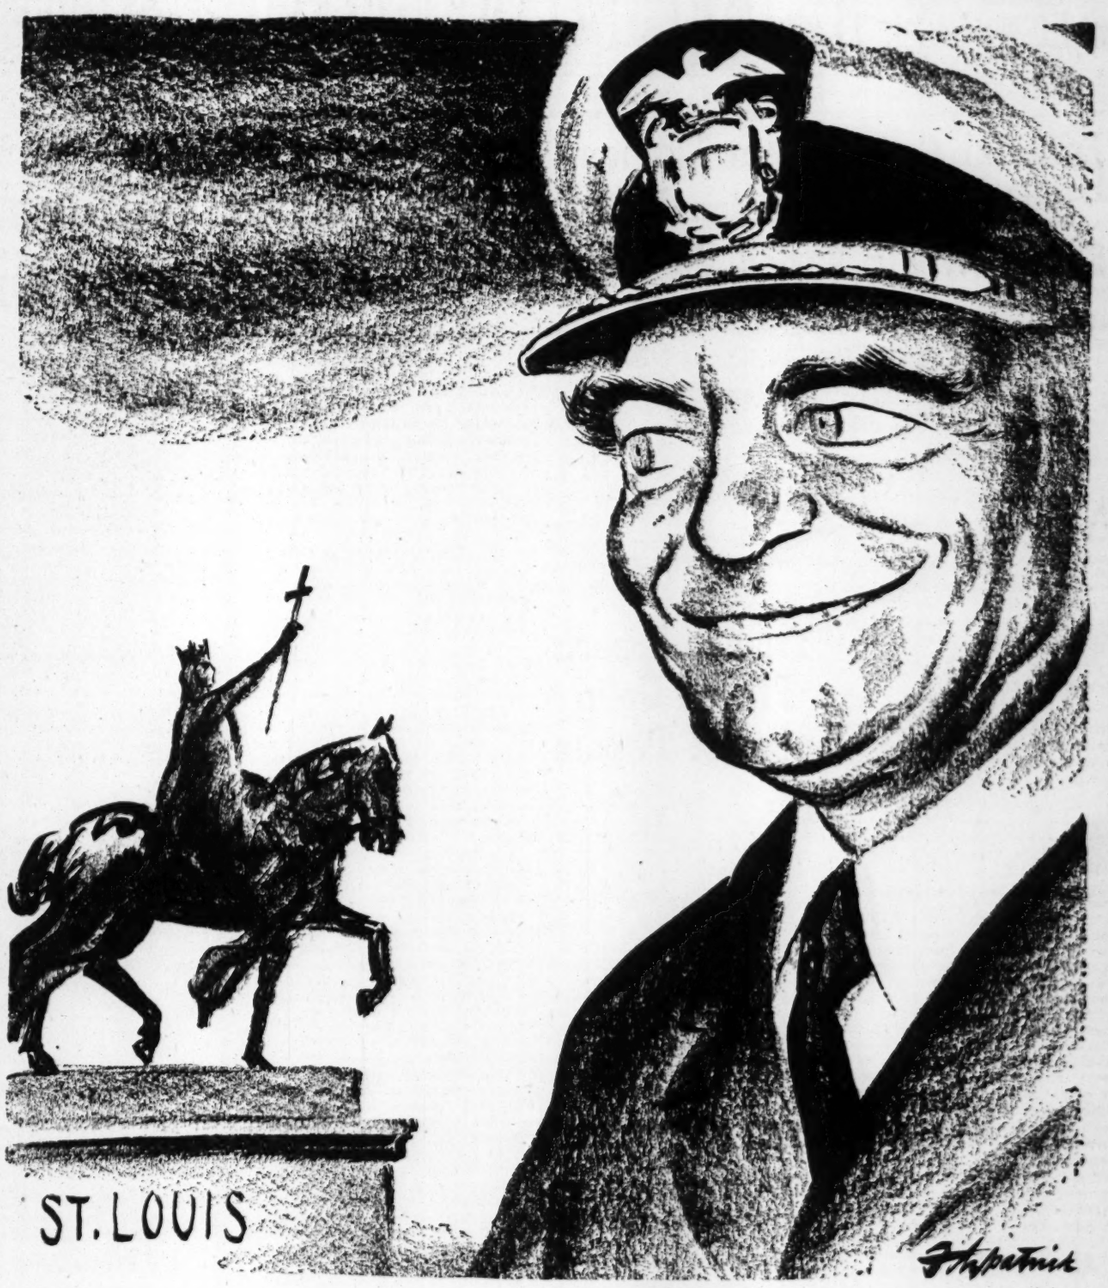

The Senate-House conference tax-reduction bill leaves substantial misgivings. At a time when there is every prospect that expenditures will again greatly outrun receipts, it cuts off nearly 20 per cent more revenue than the Treasury proposed as safe. The long-run effect will be increased future tax requirements for debt service; the immediate one is to create heightened inflationary pressure, about the last thing in the world we need.

It does not help matters that the bill cuts 12,000,000 small taxpayers off the rolls. When goods and jobs become plentiful, full-employment policy will call for making the burden on low-income people as light as possible. To eliminate them now, however, is to swell the demand for goods and services that do not yet exist. To cut them off entirely, moreover, is to lose the salutary effect on citizenship of a direct, visible tax. Congress might far better have eliminated those particular wartime excises which bear particularly hard on low-income citizens.

Potentially, at least, the present situation is dangerous. The Government must continue heavy borrowing in lieu of taxes; it is launching the 11-billion-dollar Victory Loan today. With the new flood of purchasing power set free by this bill, it is all the more important that the loan, and particularly the investment of individual savings, be a success.

Everyone will share in the tax reduction. At this juncture, no one can do himself a greater financial service, without waiting for the tax reduction two months hence, than to invest his cut and something more in United States savings bonds. If enough citizens do that, we shall come through a very difficult year, both individually and as a nation, in much better economic health than the prospect otherwise warrants.

The Warsaw Government has ruled that a Pole married to a German may obtain a divorce. On the grounds, it appears, of cruel and inhuman nationality.

"AS ONE HORSEMAN TO ANOTHER, ADMIRAL"

The Mirror of Public Opinion

The Senator's career is sketched by writer who finds his influence in public life wholly evil; his political rise was marked by a succession of scandals; his administration as Governor was corrupt, marred by lynchings; in Washington, his filibusters have been slanderous.

Albert E. Kahn, Co-Author of "The Plot Against the Peace," in Reader's Scope

When Theodore Gilmore Bilbo was running for United States Senator from Mississippi in 1934, he composed a campaign circular which included this description of himself: "A man of titanic energy and dynamic driving force! A wonder in sustained power of endurance, and a marvel of intellectual brilliance!"

—Louisville Courier-Journal

The description is inadequate. It fails to mention that Bilbo is a self-confessed bribe-taker, an admitted member of the Ku Klux Klan and a Nazi-style propagandist.

"The Germans appreciate the importance of race values," declared Bilbo in 1938. Today, after tens of thousands of Americans have given their lives to destroy Nazism in Europe, Bilbo is energetically promoting Nazi-like ideology in the United States.

A wizened little man, with a deeply furrowed face, tight lips and coldly gleaming eyes, the 68-year-old Senator from Mississippi has had a notably checkered career. In the early 1900s, Bilbo was a Baptist minister and the supervisor of a girls' school in Mississippi.

A Corrupt Politician

He left the job abruptly following a scandal, the full facts of which are still unknown. A few years later, when he had entered politics and become a State Senator, Bilbo accepted several hundred dollars to swing an important election in the State Legislature.

After admitting at a grand jury hearing that he had taken the bribe, which he claimed he had accepted to expose the bribe-givers, Bilbo avoided expulsion from the State Senate by the slim margin of one vote. The Senate members passed a resolution stating that Bilbo was "unfit to sit with honest, upright men in a respectable legislative body, and he is hereby asked to resign."

Such scandals, however, did not interfere with Bilbo's rise in politics. On the contrary, Bilbo used them to his advantage. Posing as the persecuted champion of the people's cause, and making grandiose campaign promises with a revivalist fervor, Bilbo became Lieutenant Governor and then Governor of the State of Mississippi.

Record as Governor

When Bilbo finished his final gubernatorial term, the State of Mississippi was $11,500,000 in debt, and $1326.27 remained in the Treasury.

While Governor of Mississippi, Bilbo publicly declared that what his State needed was a Mussolini. Corruption, crime and violence were the rule of the day.

When a lynch mob burned a Negro at the stake in 1929, and there was a widespread demand that the murderers be brought to justice, Gov. Bilbo, who had boasted of being a member of the Ku Klux Klan, declared he had "neither the time nor the money" to conduct an investigation. A series of similar lynchings followed.

In 1934, Bilbo was elected to the United States Senate by approximately 5 per cent of the potential voters in Mississippi. (Negro citizens in Mississippi, who comprise half of the population of the State, are deprived of their constitutional right to vote. Tens of thousands of poor white citizens are also kept from voting because of their inability to pay the poll tax.)

With Axis agents spreading their disruptive racist propaganda on every continent, Senator Bilbo soon emerged as a leading American exponent of Fascist racist doctrines. While filibustering against anti-lynching and anti-poll-tax bills and similar legislation, Bilbo carried on an incessant campaign of slander and vilification against Negroes and other national groups in the United States.

An Admirer of Hitler

In a speech delivered in the Senate on June 6, 1938, Bilbo proclaimed his sympathetic appreciation of Axis propaganda:

"Race consciousness is developing in all parts of the world. For example, consider Italy, consider Germany. . . . It will be recalled that Hitler gave as the basis of his program to unite Germany with Austria 'German blood ties.' The Germans appreciate the importance of race values."

When letters of protest against his speeches poured into Bilbo's Washington office from all parts of the country, the Senator answered them with insults and vituperation. One letter of protest came from a young Italian-American woman named Josephine Piccolo. Three of Miss Piccolo's brothers had served in the United States Army; one of them had died in action, another had been severely wounded and the third was in combat duty as a paratrooper.

An Impeachment Demanded

In his reply to Miss Piccolo, Senator Bilbo addressed her as "My dear 'Dago,'" and told her to "keep her dirty proboscis" out of his affairs. Bilbo declared that it was "an old Southern custom" to refer to Italian-Americans as "Dagoes."

In another letter, Bilbo openly called for pogroms in America. "Jewish and Negro minorities," he wrote, "are trying to destroy our freedom and the American way of life." He went on to say that "eventually the great mass of the American people would revolt and figuratively liquidate every member of these groups."

Throughout the country during the past few months, a wave of public indignation has been mounting against Bilbo. Educators and labor leaders, churchmen and professionals, business men and editors, veterans and Congressmen joined in a growing demand for the impeachment of the Senator from Mississippi.

If the mounting wrath against him culminates in impeachment and disgrace, Bilbo will no longer be Mississippi's responsibility, nor America's badge of shame.

Opinions of 22 Experts On Problems of Today

"What the Informed Citizen Needs to Know," Edited by Bruce Bliven and A. G. Mezerik. (Duell, Sloan & Pearce, New York.)

Despite a title that may seem to indicate a grab-bag of miscellaneous predigested data, this is a tightly integrated book with a definite point of view. And it has a most provocative thesis: "Man's destiny lies in his own hands. In the application of scientific principles to human conduct is to be found our salvation."

The title's promise of facts to inform the citizen is amply borne out, whether that citizen is a headline-reader or a close follower of events. Either variety will find he has a broader perspective on today's problems after reading the 22 papers which comprise the volume. Each chapter is written by an authority, at a length great enough to permit a full and rounded account of his particular field. Each basic introduction to an important subject will help the reader to put current events into their proper place in the all-over picture.

The subjects are as varied as any day's news columns. Chester Bowles writes of inflation dangers. Senator Thomas views world relief and rehabilitation. Senator Hill discusses river developments, and cogently states the case for an MVA. Irving Brant notes the evolution of our politics. Alvin Hansen gives his theories of planning. Samuel Guy Inman has a sharp and sensible chapter on relations with Latin America. Philip Murray considers labor's new responsibilities. And so on through many other fields.

All these writers have inspiring hopes and plans for what the editors in their summary call "the American Utopia." The connecting thread of the book is the requirements virtually every spokesman imposes for realization of this country's fullest possibilities—lasting peace, full employment and large-scale production. Secretary Wallace's excellent chapter on "Jobs for All" is fortified by the points all the other chapters make, whatever their subjects.

Thus, Morris L. Cooke notes the threefold benefits of increased production: higher wages, lower prices, greater profits. James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers' Union, reiterates his view that "full employment is essential to farm prosperity." Charles Abrams, in a searching essay on the housing problem, shows how its solution is closely involved with preventing unemployment. Surgeon General Parran takes a similar view as to the nation's health. As an instance of useful work that remains undone, one fact of Dr. Parran's may be cited: public water supplies are deficient or non-existent in 11,500 communities—including 6000 small towns in which occur 72 per cent of the nation's typhoid fever outbreaks.

Mr. Bliven, editor of the New Republic, and Mr. Mezerik, an expert on industrial processes, have arranged a brilliant symposium. It should increase the number of informed citizens in the land, and so help create an enlightened public opinion which will insist on measures for realizing the greater security which, the 22 writers show, is available by scientific use of the available tools.

Cartooning Made Easy in 96 Pages

"Cartooning for Fun and Profit," by Lois Fisher. (Wilcox & Follett, Chicago.)

This is just another "you can do" book that falls short of its claims. Its author-illustrator is a fine artist with years of art study and training to back up her natural talent, so she should be the last person to believe that a study of the 96 pages can make a commercial cartoonist of a novice.

HAROLD J. LASKI

LONDON.

IT is of extraordinary interest to note the reception here of Hugh Dalton's proposals for the nationalization of the Bank of England. Brenden Bracken apart, everyone agrees that it is a good bill, moderate, well thought out, and justified by its relation to the Socialist pledge at the general election.

No one denies that the compensation to existing shareholders is just even to the point of generosity. They will be bought out on terms which give them the same rate of interest as they have received over the last 20 years. No widows and orphans will appear on the door step of the treasury weeping and wringing their hands.

The arrangements for the actual governance of the new bank are generally approved. The number of directors is reduced from 24 to 16, together, as now, with a Governor and a Deputy Governor. The two last are to hold office for five years, and the rest for four. Appointment is vested in the Crown —which means in effect the Government of the day—which cannot choose either Members of Parliment or persons holding offices of profit under the Crown.

The Choice of Directors.

Since the present Governor, Lord Catto, has agreed to continue in his office, it may be assumed that he approves of these arrangements as, also, of the provision that not more than four directors shall be employed in full-time service of the new bank. Almost certainly, when the crown appoints, it will decide not to appoint or to re-appoint anyone who is more than 70. Since this is 10 years older than the age at which a civil servant normally retires, and since the directorates of far too many public companies are full of defeated ministers, decorative, but usually ageing peers and members of Parliament past or present, all this seems a thoroughly sensible arrangement. Alarmists will note that it would take any Government at least 16 years to pack the directorate with its own nominees.

The vital proposals—compensation apart—concern the relations between the Treasury and the Bank of England, on the one hand, and the bank itself and privately owned banks on the other. The Treasury will have powers, to be defined in the new charter, to give directions to the bank from time to time. But, subject to these directions, the ordinary running will be in the hands of the directors.

Relations With Private Banks.

The bank may, if its directors "think it necessary in the public interest," both ask for information from and make recommendations to the private banks. If authorized by the Treasury, they may compel effect to be given to their request or recommendation.

There seem to be two views about these proposals. The first, and more widely supported, is that this does no more than legalize the existing practice. The other, mostly expressed by people and periodicals who must, somehow, find a stick with which to beat the Government, thinks it an alarming clause for two reasons: It makes the Government of the day the actual master of banking policy, and it might lead to publicity for the private finances of individuals or corporate organizations.

There are two obvious comments to be made upon these arguments. If the new bill does no more than legalize existing arrangements between the bank and the Treasury, on this head there is no ground of any sort for opposition to nationalization. If the critics think that the existing system has worked as admirably as they seem to believe, it is difficult to understand why they should object to giving it the force of law, unless they think that the bank ought to have an independent power to oppose the policy of a Government.

If they take this view, they are in effect saying that there should be virtually a judicial review of Government policy put in the hands of a body of private persons.

It is obvious that no government in a constitutional democracy would or could dream of permitting a private organization to call into question any policy which has behind it the approval of a popularly elected assembly. Even the Supreme Court of the United States is bound, as Mr. Dooley said, to "follow the election returns" in the long run; and the run is rarely very long on matters of real importance.

The second comment is the answer to those who, on one ground or another, fear Government control of the private banks through Government ownership of the central bank. In the last analysis, constitutional democracy makes it fundamental that the will of the Government should prevail. That is why the bank is being nationalized. And to those who fear publicity, the answer is surely the inescapable one that those who do have something they wish to hide.

Publicity and Finance.

Americans who know the evidence given to the Pujo committee, or that given to the Senate committee on Wall Street, which Judge Pecora has so incisively summarized, will be well aware that the danger of public scrutiny is that it is mostly a post-mortem instead of an attempt at preventive medicine. If bank and Treasury agree on the need for disclosure or for directions, that is bound to be because, in their view, the public interest requires it. If they are wrong, there is a full opportunity for criticism in Parliament and out of it. If they prove right, that amply justifies the exercise of their powers.

The most amusing of the commentaries is that of staid financial journals who insist that the bill is quite unimportant and a mere waste of parliamentary time. They really ought to explain, first, why they were so bitterly opposed to nationalization before the bill, and, second, why, if the bill is in fact so unimportant, there is any reason to expect prolonged discussion of it in Parliament.

The truth is, of course, the vital fact that the permanent control of the money power is now in the hands of a government responsible to Parliament. The truth is that, on the day the bill becomes law, the nation will resume that mastery of its finances with which it parted in 1694 to the city. That the resumption has been made in terms that are admittedly generous does not conceal the fact that it is a resumption with consequences of the first importance for the days that are to come.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Senator McMahon's Great Opportunity

A JUNIOR Senator with only 10 months of experience has had a great weight of responsibility put on his shoulders. As chairman of the special Senate committee to investigate atomic energy and recommend legislation, Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut also has a great opportunity.

A House committee made an unholy spectacle of itself in the trivial and, yes, frivolous way in which it handled this matter so vital not only for us, but for our children's children unto the umpteenth generation.

To begin with, of course, the House committee had before it the fantastically bad May-Johnson bill, which would give a single administrator unheard-of authority over a power that transcends all other powers. Who drew up that bill, incidentally, and how it came to be introduced, is a subject of much speculation on Capitol Hill.

The special Senate committee can now proceed to a thorough, impartial investigation of all the facts surrounding atomic energy. The committee can hear the witnesses whom the House committee refused to hear at all, or whom it heard with scant courtesy.

This is the desire of both McMahon and Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, who will be the ranking Republican member of the 11-man committee. Both men were among the first to grasp the meaning of atomic fission.

Qualified for the Job.

It was Vandenberg who put it in the first resolution, providing for a joint Senate and House committee on atomic energy. President Truman at one point seemed to fall in with that plan. He indicated that he would ask the Democratic leaders in the House to go along with it. But something went wrong and the House would have no part of it.

In the brief time he has been in the Senate, McMahon has proved his capacity. For one thing, he knows the ins and outs of the Washington game. For several years he served as Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice.

Besides being an effective operator, perfectly capable of taking care of himself in the rough and tumble of politics, McMahon has a deep conviction of the need to find some way out of the awful dilemma which faces the world. He has had a number of evening meetings with the leading scientists responsible for atomic fission.

McMahon is also sponsor of a bill which provides for a method for sharing atomic energy with the other nations. It makes more sense than any proposal put forward thus far.

Credit for McKellar.

Senator Edwin Johnson of Colorado is for ending the draft. He is against universal military service. But he is also for keeping the "secret" of the atomic bomb, and that seems a sure way to encourage a war for which we would be unprepared.

It is to the credit of Senator McKellar, president of the Senate, that he stood firm against the pressure of those who would have sidetracked McMahon and thereby would have overruled an important precedent. Under that precedent the author of a resolution creating a special committee shall become chairman of the committee.

In the past this precedent has overridden the right of seniority, which is the sacred cow of the Senate. Even the suggestion that it might be ignored, when a position of such power and conspicuousness was to be dispensed, caused a muttering of rebellion among the freshman Senators.

Before this happened, murmurings of dissatisfaction had been heard. The juniors resent the fact that the veterans—most of them from the South, men who stay in office year in and year out regardless of how the national pendulum swings—arrogate to themselves all the positions of power and prestige.

A Senate precedent has been preserved. But what is infinitely more important, an alert and capable chairman has been selected for a critical task.

MAJ. W. F. HARTIGAN GETS LEGION OF MERIT

Award for Canal Zone Service —Capt. E. M. Sommerich Decorated for Raid on Japs.

Maj. William F. Hartigan, fiscal and accounting officer of the Panama Canal Department post exchange, has been awarded the Legion of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding duty." The decoration was presented to Maj. Hartigan by Lt. Gen. George H. Brett, commander of the Army Air Forces in the Caribbean area. His wife, Mrs. Ann Hartigan, lives at 4569 Clayton avenue. He is the brother of Leo Hartigan, 3838 St. Louis avenue.

Capt. Eugene M. Sommerich, fighter pilot stationed in the Philippines, has been decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross for "extraordinary achievement" while leading a bombing and strafing attack against a 6000-ton Japanese freighter in September 1944. He also holds the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sommerich, 6651 Hoffman avenue.

Lt. Clinton E. Jencks, formerly of 4265 Washington boulevard, has received the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with six Oak Leaf Clusters. A former navigator with the Seventh Air Force in the Pacific area, he recently was discharged honorably.

Staff Sgt. Robert C. Soutar, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Soutar, 4315 Lenox avenue, Shrewsbury, has been awarded the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters. A former Flying Fortress gunner stationed in Italy, he has been honorably discharged from the service.

Staff Sgt. Marion R. Medic, former Eighth Air Force gunner who has been honorably discharged, has received the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Medic, 1800 South Twelfth street.

Staff Sgt. L. Grover Adams, who served 33 months in England and Italy as an Army Air Forces gunner and recently was honorably discharged, has been awarded the Air Medal and the Purple Heart. He formerly lived at 5641 Cates avenue.

Sgt. Carlyle F. Boehringer, formerly an engineer-gunner on an English-based Flying Fortress, who has been honorably discharged, has received the Air Medal with an Oak Leaf Cluster. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boehringer, Route 8, Lemay. His wife, Mrs. Ina Mae Boehringer, also lives in Lemay.

BROTHER HENRY WASSENICH FUNERAL SERVICES TOMORROW

Funeral services for Brother Henry Wassenich S.M., former instructor for 14 years at the McBride and old Kenrick high schools, will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Maryhurst Normal, 1101 South Kirkwood road, Kirkwood.

Brother Wassenich, 63 years old, died Friday at Chicago after an operation. His body will be brought here today and will lie in state this evening at the McBride High School faculty residence, 5025 Cote Brilliante avenue.

An instructor in commercial subjects at Kenrick High School from 1916 to 1918 and at McBride High School from 1928 to 1935 and 1938 to 1940, Brother Wassenich had been stationed at St. Michael's Central High School at Chicago for the last five years. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Clara H. Miller of Dayton, O.

MRS. HARRY E. KRISMAN DIES

Mrs. Gladys M. Krisman, wife of Harry E. Krisman, president of the Krisman-Frey Co., a jewelry manufacturing concern, died yesterday at Jewish Hospital following a long illness. Mrs. Krisman, who was 46 years old, lived at 7 Fordyce lane, Ladue. Surviving also are a son, Millard Krisman; a daughter, Miss Estelle Krisman, and three sisters.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. at the Rindskopf undertaking establishment, 5212 Delmar boulevard. Burial will be in Mount Cinai Cemetery.

Msgr. Carroll a Domestic Prelate.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The National Catholic Welfare Conference disclosed yesterday the elevation of its general secretary, the Very Rev. Msgr. Howard J. Carroll, to the rank of domestic prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor. The honor was accorded by Pope Pius XII.

St. Louisans' War Exploits

AIR CREW DISOBEYS ORDERS, HELPS MATES

Men Vote to Leave Formation To Escort Damaged Bomber.

HOW the crew of his Flying Fortress took a vote and decided, against orders, to drop out of a protective formation en route to England after a bombing raid on an airfield near Paris and escorted a badly damaged bomber to the home field in the face of withering fire from German fighter planes, was described yesterday by Capt. Emanuel A. Cassimatis.

"The fellows in the other plane were buddies from our squadron and slept in our barracks," Capt. Cassimatis said. "It was kind of foolish and strictly against orders, but it didn't take us long to make up our minds. We knew they were shot up pretty bad and we knew they were doomed unless we dropped back and helped them fight off the Jerry fighters."

"It was really our tail gunner who saved the other plane," Capt. Cassimatis said, "because unknown to the crewmen in the other ship their tail gunner had been seriously wounded by a 20mm. cannon shell and our tail gunner had to ward off passes from the rear by the swarm of German fighter planes which followed us to the brink of the English Channel, where they fortunately ran out of gas."

Capt. Cassimatis, a navigator, holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with two clusters and the Purple Heart with one cluster. He was a prisoner of the Germans for 20 months after being shot down on his sixteenth combat mission over Stuttgart, Germany, Sept. 6, 1943. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cassimatis, live at 1142 Lawn avenue.

A series of adventures dating from before the fall of Corregidor, where he was captured by the Japanese, was recounted today by Signalman 2C Harold B. Carter, son of Mrs. R. L. O'Wrey, 3814 Westminster place.

Carter, home on leave, said he was now "able to enjoy the small things of life I once took for granted."

"I was on the U.S.S. Tanager when it was sunk in Manila Bay early in 1942," Carter said. "After I had spent three years in an internment camp in Manchuria I was aboard a Jap prison ship which was attacked by American submarines.

"However, the narrowest escape I had was when I contracted pneumonia and was given up for dead by the prison doctors. Then on Dec. 7, 1944, the prison was bombed by mistake by American Flying Fortresses."

While in prison Carter worked in a machine tool and die factory on a diet of cornmeal mush, soybean soup and three buns a day.

"But we paid them back in sabotage," he said. "Once, while lying a concrete floor, we secretly buried precision tools, electric drills and bits in the cement. And regularly we burned out the three-phase electric motors by short-circuiting one phase."

Carter told how he and the rest of the prisoners at the camp were forced to sit at attention with legs crossed from 5:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., for 10 days, following an attempted escape by three men.

The one bright spot at the prison camp came after liberation by the Russians, Carter said.

"For three weeks, until our transportation arrived, we had the pleasant duty of guarding our former Japanese overseers."

18,700 MEN RETURN FROM EUROPE, PACIFIC

13 Ships Docking Today on East Coast, Others at Western Ports.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP) — More than 12,000 service men from Europe are due to arrive on 13 troop-carriers docking at three east coast ports today and an additional 6700 from the Pacific are scheduled to arrive at three west coast ports.

Ships and units arriving:

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

ADM. WILLIAM F. HALSEY JR., commander of the famed Third Fleet, who is in St. Louis on a two-day visit in connection with the city's observance of Navy day, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Belknap, 45 Westmoreland place. Adm. Halsey and Mr. Belknap were classmates at the Naval Academy, from which Mr. Belknap was graduated in 1903 and the admiral a year later.

Adm. Halsey was guest of honor at a small cocktail party yesterday given by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Selkirk Jr., 53 Aberdeen place. The Selkirks' daughter, the former Miss Mary Jane Selkirk, is the wife of Adm. Halsey's son, Lt. William F. Halsey III, U.S.N.R.

Coming from Indianapolis, Ind., where he delivered a Navy day address Saturday, Adm. Halsey will be here until tomorrow morning. He will speak today at a luncheon of the United States Navy League, St. Louis Council, at Hotel Statler. Mr. Balknap, president of the council, is state chairman of the Navy day exercises, delayed for two days in St. Louis to allow for Adm. Halsey's presence.

Mrs. Halsey III departed a few days ago to join her husband in Philadelphia where he is on temporary duty. They will go to Washington later.

Mrs. John Armstrong Hart, a former St. Louisan, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Arthur B. Barrett, both of St. Augustine, Fla., will be guests at the Park Plaza Hotel this week. They will be joined by Mrs. Hart's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Oliver of New York. Mr. Oliver has just been discharged from the Coast Guard in which he served as a lieutenant. Mrs. Hart, the former Miss Mary Lucas, is the sister of Morton and Charles Lucas.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Upthegrove, 21 Kingsbury place, have with them their daughter, Mrs. W. W. Kirkbride, and their 3-year-old grandson, Roger Kirkbride, who arrived Friday from their home in Cleveland for a 10-day stay. Mr. Kirkbride accompanied his family to St. Louis and left last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Upthegrove spent the summer at the Gordon Folger Hotel in Nantucket, Mass., as is their custom.

To Return to St. Louis.

RECEIVING his discharge at Kelly Field, Tex., Nov. 6, will be Cpl. Frederick C. Lake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Lake, 4360 Westminster place. Cpl. Lake, quartermaster with the Fifteenth Air Force, recently returned from 11 months of duty in Italy. He is now at Hensley Field, Dallas, Tex.

Before coming to St. Louis, Cpl. Lake will visit his brother, Pfc. John H. G. Lake, who is stationed at Camp Swift, near Austin, Tex. Pfc. Lake, back from seven months of duty in Germany, has not seen his brother for one and one-half years. Another brother, William H. Lake, seaman, second class, U.S.N.R., participated in Navy day activities last weekend in San Francisco bay, where he is stationed on Treasure island.

Mrs. John Preston Phillips, a sister of Mr. Lake and of Mrs. Duncan Ivers Meier, and her son John Preston Phillips Jr., who was recently released from Navy V-12 training, were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Meier at their home in Huntleigh Village. They came to St. Louis by way of Chicago and Great Lakes Naval Training Station, where they visited Mrs. Phillips' other son, Frederick Lake Phillips, apprentice seaman, U.S.N.R., who has just completed boot training and is waiting assignment. Mrs. Phillips and her son returned to their home in Yonkers, N. Y., Friday.

Mrs. Peter H. B. Otway-Smithers has arrived from Mexico City to visit her mother, Mrs. Thomas M. Sayman, 5399 Lindell boulevard, for a few months. She was accompanied by her young son, Charles Dennison Lane, who is now attending Rossman School. Mrs. Otway-Smithers' husband, Lt. Comdr. Otway-Smithers of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, is expected to arrive in December to spend Christmas in St. Louis with his wife. Comdr. Otway-Smithers is assistant naval attache at the British legations in Mexico and Central America.

Mrs. Sayman and her daughter were hostesses last week to Miss Alexandra Danilova, principal ballerina of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Miss Danilova was here for the three days the ballet was given at Kiel Auditorium.

MAJ. W. ASHLEY GRAY JR., a veteran of five years in the Army, has arrived from Europe to spend his terminal leave with his wife and two children, John and Ashley III, at their new home, 427 Bogey lane, Kirkwood. While Maj. Gray was overseas Mrs. Gray stayed with her mother, Mrs. Robert A. Bagnell, 9 Clermont lane.

Mrs. Bagnell's husband, Maj. Bagnell, and her son, Lt. John Scullin Sullivan, Army officers, are both on terminal leave, expecting discharge soon. Maj. and Mrs. Bagnell, accompanied by Lt. Sullivan and Mrs. Bagnell's other daughter, Miss Mary Julia Sullivan, departed Tuesday for Tucson, Ariz., where they plan to spend the late autumn and winter seasons. Miss Sullivan returned last summer from the South Pacific, where she served with the Red Cross for a year and a half.

Frank Ritter Quinlivan, 5768 Westminster place, will leave for Houston, Tex., Sunday to join his wife, who has been visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Frank Robert Quinlivan. Capt. and Mrs. Quinlivan are the parents of a son, Frank Robert Quinlivan Jr., born Sept. 20. Mrs. Quinlivan is the former Miss Mary Jane Dowling, daughter of John J. Dowling, 50 Picardy lane.

Mrs. Samuel W. Greenland, 732 South Hanley road, Clayton, flew to Pittsburgh last week to be with her mother, Mrs. Joseph A. Aikens, on Mrs. Aiken's eighty-third birthday.

Mrs. Greenland's daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Martin and Mrs. Ray Richards, accompanied her. They expect to return next week.

FIRST OF SYMPHONY'S STUDENT CONCERTS

Orchestra to Present 10-Year-Old Pianist at 2:45 P. M. Tomorrow.

The first student concert of the season for elementary school children will be given at 2:45 p.m. tomorrow by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at Kiel Auditorium Opera House. Thursday, a student concert for high school children will be given at the same time and place.

Under a new policy put into effect this year, the symphony orchestra will present three concerts for elementary students and three for high school students during the season. Different selections will be played at each of the programs.

Vladimir Golschmann will conduct the student concerts and tomorrow's program will feature as soloist Malcolm Frager, 10-year-old pianist, in the first movement of Mozart's "Coronation" concerto. He is the son of Lt. and Mrs. Alfred M. Frager, 7355 Shaftsbury avenue, University City, and a student at Jackson Park School. His father, who is in the Navy, is returning for the concert.

Tomorrow's selections will include John Barbirolli's orchestration of the Purcell suite for four horns, two flutes, English horn and strings; the suite from Bizet's "Carmen," Shostakovich's "Polka," Morton Gould's "Pavanne" and "American Salute," and Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

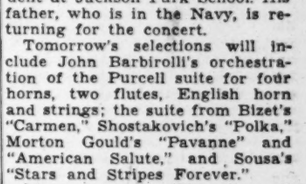

The program on Thursday will include the Purcell work, the last movement from Beethoven's Seventh Symphony, Delius' "The Walk to the Paradise Garden," Benjamin's "Jamaican Rumba" and Gould's "American Salute." Frager will repeat his solo.

Reserved season tickets, at $1.25 each, are still available for either of the student series at the symphony offices in the Arcade Building, Eighth and Olive streets.

TWINS BORN TO ORTHWEINS

Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Busch Orthwein of Huntleigh Village are the parents of identical twin boys, born yesterday at Maternity Hospital. Orthwein, lately out of active service in the naval reserve, with the rank of lieutenant commander, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy J. Orthwein and the grandson of Mrs. August A. Busch. He is the namesake of his great-grandfather, founder of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.

Mrs. Orthwein is the former Ann Patricia Thornley, of Melrose, Pa. Their marriage took place in New York May 11, 1941. They have one son besides the twins.

Rumors of General Shake-Up as Flyers Lose to Indianapolis Again

Several Deals Reported In Making; Position of Emms None Too Secure

By Harold Flachsbart

Coach Hap Emms and his unhappy Flyer hockey players were due to arrive in St. Louis this afternoon after an unpleasant excursion to Indianapolis, and first order of business will be a pow-wow between Emms and the club management, at which a wholesale shake-up will be discussed.

After Saturday night's stinging 5-1 reverse at the hands of the Capitals, General Manager George Carson was closeted with C. D. P. Hamilton Jr. and Emory Jones, Arena officers, for an hour and a half. And the conversation revolved about what could be done to improve the Flyers.

Last night, Emms' skaters took another shellacking at Indianapolis, 7-3, and there will probably be action in the player market before the Flyers tackle Pittsburgh here Wednesday night in their next American League game.

Defense Yields 24 Goals.

It is known that the club officials would like to strengthen the team's defense, above all things, for 24 goals have been scored against the Flyers in five games, which have resulted in only one victory and four defeats.

The names of two outstanding Cleveland guards have been mentioned by Carson in a wishing way, but whether the champion Barons who are not doing so well themselves this season will part with star players is another question.

Even the position of Emms as coach is perhaps not too secure. His critics have contended that the open style of play which Hap teaches his men—frequently leaving the goalie unprotected—is not the type for the American League.

But it is known that officials want to give Emms every chance possible to put over a winner here. However, if the club continues to flounder, new would-be pilots will be interviewed.

Caps Only Unbeaten Team.

The Indianapolis victory last night boosted the Caps into first place in the Western standings and left them as the only defeated club in either division. They have won four games and tied two.

In Saturday's game, the Flyers broke on top with a first-period goal and then permitted the Hoosiers to come from behind to win. Last night they attempted to reverse the order with no more success.

St. Louis goalie Connie Dion watched four Cap goals slide past him in the first 30 minutes before he saw the red light go on at the other end. Then Cliff Purpur, Dave Baker and Morey Rimstad rang the bell in rapid succession to revitalize the Flyers' hopes as the second period ended 4-3. But three Cap goals and a strengthened Cap defense put it out of reach for St. Louis in the third session.

It was the Indianapolis line of Jerry Brown, Pete Leswick and Tony Bukovich—one of the league's hottest—that proved the undoing of Dion and his side kicks. That trio counted five of the Capital goals and got all of the first four.

Brown Turns Hat Trick.

Brown turned a quick hat trick with goals at 10:26 and 18:41 in the first period and at 9:25 in the second. Bukovich slapped another home in No. 2. Les Douglas, Steve Wochy and Bukovich applied the dampers in the third period, which was marked by blistering speed and one fistic entanglement.

Shortly before the final buzzer, Roy Sawyer of Indianapolis squared off with Purpur. Each drew two-minute penalties, but John Baby of St. Louis—a noncombatant—suffered the most. He was given a 10-minute misconduct penalty and a $25 fine by Referee Gordon Parsons for interfering with the officials.

Hershey Defeated First Time; Initial Victory for Eagles.

By the Associated Press.

Pittsburgh's Hornets fell to second place in the Western Division of the American Hockey League race by dropping a 4-to-2 decision to the New Haven Eagles last night.

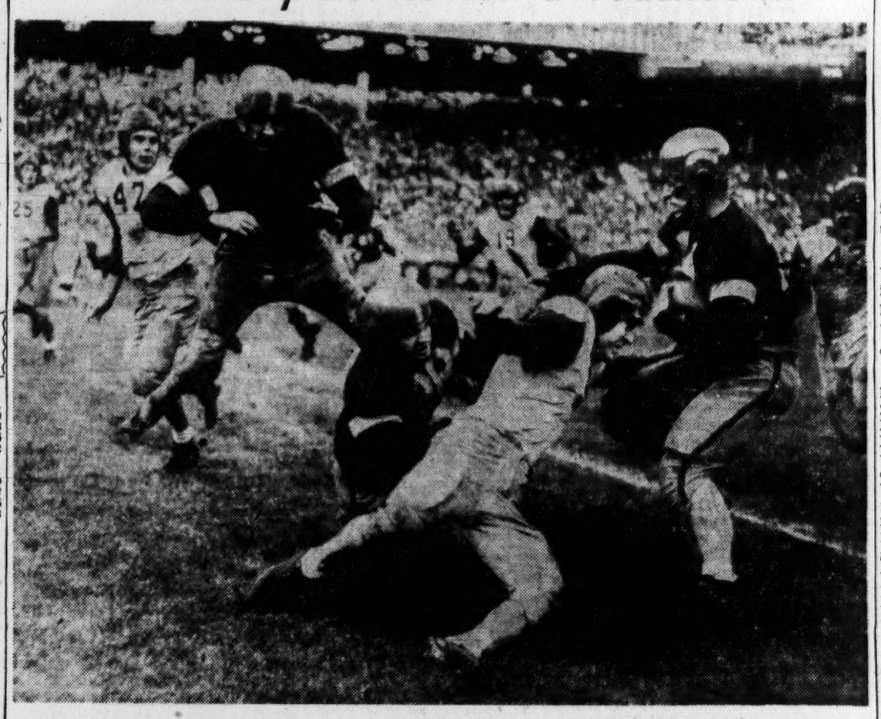

Hershey's front margin in the Eastern Division was cut to three points when the second-place Providence Reds beat Cleveland's Barons, 6-3, and the Bears fell from the unbeaten ranks by bowing to Buffalo, 4-0.

Displaying their best form of the season, the Eagles gained their first victory of the campaign in tumbling the Hornets out of a first place deadlock. Joe Bell blinked the red light twice to provide the Eagles with the margin of victory.

The top crowd of the season at Buffalo, a 9478 gathering, saw Tommy Cooper, playing his first year in professional hockey, set up three goals for the Bisons. Goalie Frank Ceryance scored the shutout.

The Reds scored four of their goals while the Barons were shorthanded. A total of 17 penalties were called, 10 on the Barons. Stan Kemp, veteran defenseman, scored twice for the Reds.

ANTHONY MINISI, Navy back, is stopped by JOHN MARTIN of Penn after an 18-yard gain during Navy's fourth quarter drive that put across the Middies' second touchdown to win Saturday's game at Philadelphia 14-7. The Navy player in mid-air (60) is JAMES CARRINGTON. DUDEN of Navy is making a futile effort to block Martin.

Latson to Make Pro Ring Debut On Nov. 5 Card

Fred Latson, the 1945 A.A.U. and city Golden Gloves champion, today announced his intention of turning professional. Latson made this known after signing a contract to box in the opening bout of the fight card at Kiel Auditorium, Nov. 5.

Latson appeared in the Tournament of Cities last week at Kiel Auditorium, but after winning his first bout in the semifinal round, tired too rapidly in the main event and lost a split decision. He obviously went all out in the first bout, one of the hardest fought on the program.

He will immediately go into training at the Missouri Gym and will box with Charley Riley, who boxes in the main go. This alone should give Latson a world of experience.

Riley, meanwhile, will continue his daily workouts, boxing each afternoon at 2 o'clock. Yesterday, Charley worked six rounds against spar mates Eddie Lee and brother Dave Riley, both of whom appear on the same card. Charley Riley looked exceptionally sharp as he belted his playmates from corner to corner.

Charley will face Ozzie Peguese of Elmwood, Pa., in the 10-round main event. Brother Dave takes on Sparky Reynolds, ex-G.I. champion, in the eight-round semifinal.

Peguese, incidentally, wired Promoter Hans Bernstein that he would arrive in St. Louis sometime Wednesday.

Tickets for the fight, which have been held up at the printers for over a week, have finally arrived and have been placed on sale at the Arcade ticket office, downtown.

Sixth Victory For Marquette

Marquette High School's football team from Alton continued its march as the district's only remaining undefeated and untied eleven today with a six-victory record.

Latest victim of Marquette's was Coyle of Kirkwood which was beaten 40 to 7 in a Catholic League game yesterday at the Kirkwood High School field. It was Marquette's second conference triumph.

Belleville Cathedral defeated North Side, 6 to 0, at the Public Schools Stadium to hold on to the league lead with its third triumph.

Three touchdowns were scored by Left End Dave Zerwas on passes, while Quarterback Joe Springman counted two others and converted twice. Left Halt Don Waters made the sixth score and two extra points to account for the Explorers' scoring.

The lineup:

Furnished by U. S. Weather Bureau.

Fair weather, with generally clear skies, has prevailed during the past 48 hours over most of the northern states and adjoining Canadian provinces from the Continental Divide eastward to the Lake Regions and Ontario. Temperatures are somewhat lower over most areas, with readings ranging from the low 30's in South Dakota to near 10 degrees above zero in northern Alberta and near zero in the Yukon territory.

Depth of snow this morning ranged from less than an inch in the southern portions of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba to as much as four to eight inches in extreme northern Alberta.

Although there will be some cloudiness over the northern states and adjacent Canada during the next 24 to 36 hours, very little precipitation is indicated. Warmer weather will overspread all sections, and temperatures will be near the seasonal average again by tomorrow afternoon.

Sunrise tomorrow 6:27, sunset 5:03.

Brawn and Brains Go Together, Professor Finds

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 29 (AP)—Prof. Hugh G. McCurdy of Wesleyan claims today that the stout-hearted lads who do or die on the athletic fields are better students than the boys who confine their exercise to hitting the books.

To prove his point, the professor tosses out the results of an investigation of records of Wesleyan athletes from 1926 through 1940, and by golly he's convincing.

He sums up his survey by asking two questions:

1. Do non-athletes win more scholastic honors than athletes?

2. Does intercollegiate sport take so much time and energy that the players do not have enough left to excell scholastically?

His answer to both, of course, is an emphatic, "no."

The be-spectacled, slight McCurdy, associate professor of physical education and coach of soccer, swimming and tennis here, reveals that the knights of the gridiron, hills and dales, and gyms are heroes, too, in general scholarship and Phi Beta Kappa competition.

The best marks are turned in by the cross-country and soccer boys, with golf, swimming, tennis, track, football, baseball, basketball and wrestling not too far behind.

Soccer and golf turn in the best material for Phi Beta Kappa keys, with swimming, cross country, track, baseball, football, wrestling, basketball and tennis somewhat off the pace.

The professor, who discloses his results in the current issue of the Wesleyan Alumnus, offers no explanation why cross-country and soccer is so stimulating to the brains.

That's a fact, and so is it a fact that Wesleyan, a member of the "Little Three" with Amherst and Williams, has a fine athletic record.

Three Tied for Western Lead in National Loop; 175,538 See 5 Games

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Unless the shadow of things to come is changed radically, there'll be nothing definite about the race in the National Football League until the season's final whistle blows.

Right now, three teams in the western end of the league and two in the eastern end are tied for leadership. All 10 teams have been beaten, with the five leaders each listing one defeat.

The surprising Cleveland Rams, previously unbeaten, dropped a 28-14 decisiont o the Eagles at Philadelphia yesterday. Green Bay, beaten by Cleveland two weeks previously, handed the Chicago Cardinals a 33-14 defeat. Washington's Redskins scored a mild upset in beating New York, 24-14. Boston beat Pittsburgh, 10-6, in the day's best defensive game, while the Chicago Bears added to their growing record of defeats by losing to Detroit, 16-10. It was the Bears' fifth straight loss.

55,461 See New York Game.

A total of 175,538 fans watched the five contests. Top crowd of the season, 55,461, turned out at New York, and a 37,260 attendance was the best of the year at Detroit. At Philadelphia, 38,148 fans constituted the largest gathering ever to see a pro game at Shibe Park. At Pittsburgh, the figure was 25,447 and at Green Bay, 19,221.

That series of games left Cleveland, Detroit and the champion Green Bay club tied for first place in the Western Division with four triumphs and one loss each, while Washington and Boston headed the Eastern Division with three victories and one defeat each.

One team probably will be knocked out of the leadership spot next Sunday when Detroit meets the Yanks in Boston, and the following week's play, when Green Bay opposes Cleveland and Boston meets Washington, may again change league standings.

Cleveland was the league's only unbeaten team before Philadelphia's Eagles broke loose in the third and fourth quarters yesterday.

Each had scored a touchdown in the second quarter, but the Eagles took things over in the third when Roy Zimmerman, after setting up the touchdown on passes, scored from the one-yard line. Mel Bleeker scored one in the final period, and Flip McDonald scored the final counter on a pass from Al Sheridan.

Bears Lack Punch.

Detroit came from behind in the third quarter on a 29-yard pass, Cotton Price to Bill Callihan, to whip Chicago's Bears. The Lions had scored in the first quarter when Chuck Deshane intercepted one of Sid Luckman's passes and raced 45 yards for a touchdown. Though the Bears outgained Detroit in almost every department, they lacked the scoring punch.

Veteran Don Hutson led the Green Bay Packers to their 33-14 victory over the Chicago Cardinals by scoring three touchdowns and three points after touchdowns, for a total of 21. The Packers settled the argument with one touchdown in the first quarter and three in the second.

Washington, trailing the New Yorkers, 7-0, after the first quarter, scored 10 points in the second and never were in trouble after that. Sammy Baugh was the big gun in the attack, pitching two touchdown passes.

Boston also came from behind to beat Pittsburgh, with a pass interception starting the winning touchdown drive.

Baseball Title Play For High Schools Is Topic for Meeting

The possibility of conducting baseball championship play and plans for the Nov. 16 cross-country run will be discussed at the St. Louis District High School Athletic Association meeting tonight at St. Louis U. High.

Election of officers and setting athletic dates will be other matters of business.

Daily Double Pays $1380 at Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Thirty-six racing fans at Pimlico today held tickets on a $1,380.90 daily double completed when J. W. Brooks's Patrician came in first by a nose and paid $108.60 for $2.

The first half of the double was B. L. Williams's Margus, which paid $27.30.

Du Quoin Dog Wins All-Age Trial Stake

Sam's Seaview Lady, pointer owned and handled by Roy Copeland of DuQuoin, Ill., won the St. Louis Field Trial Association's all-age stake in the fall meeting at the organization's new course at Weldon Spring, Mo.

The weekend event was the first to be held on the new territory by the club which in the past operated at Troy, Mo., and it attracted 46 dogs for three stakes. Five coveys of birds were found.

The shooting dog stake yesterday was won by Northwood's Ghost, setter owned by A. Bailey, while the amateur derby was captured by Prairie Farm Babe, setter owned by Gerald Jordan, Vandalia, Mo.

Another trial will be held on the same grounds next Saturday and Sunday by the St. Louis Pointer and Setter Club.

Allegheny Sue Wins Collinsville Trial

Allegheny Sue, a liver and white pointer owned by Fred Lorenz of Belleville, won the amateur all-age stakes in the field trials held at Collinsville yesterday.

Imperial Spunky Jan, owned by Dr. T. J. Winkler of Belleville, was second. Imperial Go Go, owned by Walter Queen of Pinckneyville, placed third in the all-age stakes and won the amateur shooting dog stakes.

Carondelet on Top in Big 4 Soccer Race

Carondelet today was perched atop the standings in the Big Four Division of the Municipal Soccer Association due to a 3-2 victory over the Noels yesterday, while the Rafterys were being held to a 1-1 tie by the Natural Set Ups.

In the Little Six Division, St. Philip Neri and Hoppe Undertakers remained tied for first place, the former defeating Carondelet A. C., 6-0, and the Hoppes walking over Tower Grove, 10-0. The Schumachers, city and national junior champions, went down to defeat again in the other game, 1-0, before the Spanish Society team. The reverse plunged the Schumachers to the cellar.

A new scoring record was established when the Third District team of the Southern Division of the Police Juvenile League beat Seventh District 22-0.

GRIDIRON LEADERS

With about a month of the fall gridiron campaign to go, here is about the way the sectional leaders shape up:

EAST—Army in a class by itself followed by Navy, Penn, and the unbeaten triumverate of Columbia, Holy Cross and Temple.

SOUTHEASTERN—Alabama rates as the No. 1 team of the entire South. The Crimson Tide meets Kentucky, Saturday and Mississippi State Dec. 1, a game that will probably decide the Southeastern Conference championship.

SOUTHERN—Although murdered by Army and the Navy, Duke's Blue Devils look like the best team in the Southern Conference.

BIG TEN—The Big Ten race is wide open. Indiana nosed out Tulsa 7-2 in an outside game and leads the loop with a 3-0 record. Purdue and Ohio State come next with 3-1, followed by Michigan with 2-1 and Minnesota 1-1.

BIG SIX—Oklahoma and a resurgent Missouri eleven are deadlocked for the leadership at 3-0.

VALLEY—This race is strictly between the Oklahoma A. M. and Tulsa.

SOUTHWEST — Rice's surprise party at Texas' expense snarled the Southwest Conference situation. Southern Methodist leads the circuit with one victory and no defeats followed by TCU, at 2-1.

ROCKY MOUNTAINS—Colorado and Denver are tied at 2-0 for the Big Seven lead.

FAR WEST—Washington became the No. 1 nominee for Rose Bowl honors by upsetting U.S.C. The Huskies' Pacific Coast Conference record is 4-1 with U.S.C. and U.C.L.A. tied for second at 2-1.

INDEPENDENTS—Notre Dame easily is out in front.

WRAY'S COLUMN

1945 Wins the Silly Season Title.

LAY that dope book down, babe—lay that dope book down. . . . As far as football is concerned, dope doesn't seem to mean a thing. . . . You're just hurting your eyesight trying to study the form. . . . The cases of Purdue, Ohio State, Georgia, Texas, Southern California and others indicate the confusion prevailing in grid calculations.

A few teams remain consistent including Indiana, Alabama, Army, Navy, Notre Dame and one or two others. . . . But their turn to be blown down may be just around the corner. . . . At this writing it appears that the No. 1 national title claimant could be the winner of the game Nov. 10, when Notre Dame plays Army at New York. . . . These two elevens continue to look like the real goods.

Navy? Well, the Middies haven't given up on the championship situation, although they had a narrow squeak in beating Penn Saturday. . . . Still the Middies did win. . . . And Penn is rated pretty tough.

Indiana? Bo McMillin has a honey, this year. . . . The only bar sinister on its escutcheon is a tie with Northwestern—and the Wildcats have shown plenty claws this year. . . . Ask Coach Isbell of Purdue.

Consistent with its inconsistency, this football season will go out in a blaze of screwball glory if Navy defeats Notre Dame next Saturday, Army loses to Notre Dame a week later and then closes its season on Dec. 1 by beating the Middies!

In line with the year's uncertainties perhaps we might look forward to Kentucky knocking Alabama out of its title hopes, Purdue or Minnesota upsetting Indiana, and Kansas University blotting out Missouri in the final game of the Big Six season at Kansas City, Nov. 24—if and when the Tigers are still on top at that time.

The 1945 campaign, in short, gives promise of going down in gridiron history as the world championship silly season.

Bills and Tigers Will Be No Emily Post Hosts; Drake Plays Here Next

By Bob Broeg

Because a hard, teeth-rattling tackle means more in football than all of Emily Post's courtesies, St. Louis University's Billikens and Missouri University's Tigers will rely on their ability to make guest teams as uncomfortable as possible in the most important games on their schedules.

St. Louis U., playing Drake here Friday night in the Billikens' only Missouri Valley Conference game of a war-influenced season, will take onto the field a string of seven consecutive victories gained at Walsh Stadium.

Missouri, which plays away against Michigan State Saturday and then takes an open date, will count strongly on an excellent at-home record in the Big Six championship game against Oklahoma, Nov. 17. The Tigers, rules of etiquette to the contrary, have lost only two of their last 25 contests in Columbia's Memorial Stadium.

Fondest Hopes.

There seems little doubt that Drake and Oklahoma represent the opposition Dukes Duford and Chauncey Simpson would most like to defeat.

For St. Louis U., which snatched a 19-13 thriller from Olathe's Clippers last Friday night in the last two minutes of play, Drake symbolizes normalcy, a team to be met annually again when Creighton and Washington resume football and the seven-team Valley plays a yearly round-robin. Besides, Duford recalls the 19-9 setback handed the Billikens at Des Moines in 1942 as the one of St. Louis' five defeats that season which could have been averted if the Blue and White had not consistently handled the ball like a hot potato.

An Old Score.

For Missouri, an easy 19-0 victory over Nebraska Saturday, Oklahoma means the school that has kept the Tigers from running amuck in the Big Six since the Black and Gold first found a championship combination in 1939.

Nebraska, long the Napoleon of the conference, came back from its Elba for one year, 1940, after which Missouri won two more consecutive titles—only to have Oklahoma snatch a third straight from the Tigers and simultaneously break a 20-game home winning streak in 1943. Now, with both teams tied at the top this season, Oklahoma seeks a third successive Bib Six crown.

St. Louis U. came out of the Olathe game minus another left end, for Ed Shortal, who started when Carl Weisner was hobbling with a sore ankle, suffered a shoulder injury that probably will make him miss Drake, Trainer Bob Bauman reported. The Bulldogs, playing a tougher schedule than the Billikens, have defeated Kearney (Nebr.) Air Base, 40 to 13, and South Dakota State, 34 to 0, tied Denver, 19 to 19, and lost to Tulsa, 19 to 0, and Detroit, 19 to 14.

Funeral for Former Baseball Star's Wife To Be Held Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Laura M. Byrne, wife of the former major leaguer Robert M. (Bobby) Byrne, will be held Wednesday morning at the Harrigan and Sheahan Funeral Home and Annunciate Church. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Byrne was a Cardinal third baseman from 1911 to 1912, as well as a member of the National League champion Philadelphia Phillies in 1915.

Greenbriar to Fete New Golf Champion

New club champion Lt. Col. Frank R. Hassler will be honored with a trophy dinner at Greenbriar Hills Country Club Nov. 10 in celebration of his winning the title yesterday.

Hassler defeated C. Warren Drake, 4 and 3, in the 36-hole final. Ben R. Shurtleff won the consolation round with a 1-up victory over Ray Grueninger on the nineteenth hole. E. F. Laume beat E. G. Gillaspy in Class A, and E. C. Carson took Class B with a 4 and 3 triumph over B. F. Duckworth.

Irish Ready for the Big Game of the Week.

BIG game of the week will be at Cleveland, where the Navy will oppose the Irish of Notre Dame. . . . Figures merely hint at an Irish victory. . . . But how those figures do lie, at times. . . . In any case, here are the records of the rivals:

NOTRE DAME.			NAVY
7	Illinois	0	49	Villa Nova	0
40	Geor. Tech	7	21	Duke	0
34	Dartmouth	0	28	Penn State	0

Indiana-Tulsa Game a Shock.

A SURPRISE, if not an upset, was the narrow squeak Indiana seemed to have in beating Tulsa 7-2. . . . The handicap cards gave the Hoosiers margins of from 14 to 20 points over the Golden Hurricanes. . . . But the statistics tell a different story as follows:

	Tulsa.	Ind.
First downs	3	12
Yds. by rushing	80	224
Yds. by passing	5	56

Indiana has a refresher game this weekend against a service team while other already beaten Big Ten rivals will be banging one another around. . . . But—Indiana still must beat Minnesota and Purdue to retain a clear lead for the title—two rather tough assignments.

As for our Missouri football hopes: The Tigers go to Michigan State and should be at their best. . . . The Spartans after losing 40-0 to Michigan in the season's opener, beat Kentucky 7-6, Pitt 12-7, Wayne College 27-7 and tied Marquette 13-13.

The St. Louis U.-Drake game at Des Moines Friday night will test the Billikens. Drake beat Kearney Air Base 40-13, lost to Tulsa 0-19, defeated S. Dakota State 34-0, tied Denver 19-19 and lost to Detroit 14-19. The Bills have a good chance to win a Valley conference game, it seems.

Fred Parks Gets Hole-in-One.

Fred C. Parks of Parks Air College registered a hole in one on the 130-yard thirteenth hole at St. Clair Country Club yesterday. He was playing with Elmer Wangelin, V. D. Thien, George Thein and Homer Bate.

Red Wings Off To Good Start

DETROIT, Oct. 29 (AP)—From the looks of things—after only five days of looking—Montreal, Toronto and Detroit, the National Hockey League's three old standbys, once again will be the teams to beat.

Montreal and Detroit have won the only games they've played, and each has done it in convincing fashion. Toronto played a 1-1 tie against Boston Saturday night, with Aldege Bastien, a youngster, in the Leafs' net. Last year's goalie, Rookie Award Winner Alex McCool, is a holdout and Toronto will be stronger when he joins up.

In the only clash last night, the Red Wings, runners-up to the Leafs for the Stanley Cup last season, impressed a record opening turnout of 13,748 at Detroit, by whitewashing the Boston Bruins 7-0. Left Winger Adam Brown scored three goals to become the first puckster to accomplish the hat trick this season, while Harry Lumely turned in the Loop's first shutout.

The Canadiens earn 1 their victory Saturday night, an 8-4 rout of the Chicago Black Hawks, with Rookie Billy Reay and Veteran Tom Blake rapping in two goals apiece for the victors. On Wednesday, the Black Hawks had gained a 5-4 win over the Bruins, which placed them in a tie with the Canadiens and Red Wings for first place.

The New York Rangers are the loop's only sextet which hasn't tested the ice yet. They make their debut against the Black Hawks at Chicago on Wednesday, the only contest scheduled for that night. Until then all teams will be idle.

Macoy's 145 Captures 36-Hole Medal Prize

Hal Macoy is the new Erickson Memorial golf tournament champion today after shooting 145 in the 36-hole medal play event yesterday at Crystal Lake Golf Club. Macoy succeeds Frank Bredall, who scored only 155.

A two-under-par 70 on the first 18 holes gave Grover Dillon medalist honors. Dillon finished with 146 for second place.

A. M. G. IN BAVARIA HAS ACHIEVED MUCH AMID DIFFICULTIES

I pick at random some of its achievements which I encountered during my 1000-mile tour:

From various collection points in Bavaria, one and a half million dollars worth of paintings, including famed Rembrandts were returned to Holland, and from Fuessen in Bavaria a priceless Rothschild collection was returned to France.

At Munich, the Wehrmacht's former parade grounds was turned over to the city administration for garden plots, grazing grounds for sheep.

In Munich alone, 93 streets with Nazi names have been renamed as part of the effort to stamp out Nazism. The same thing was done in other Bavarian cities and towns. "Adolf Hitler Squares" no longer exist.

At Nuernberg through American detective work the priceless crown jewels of the German Roman Empire have been found.

One of Germany's greatest needs at present, plate glass, is being alleviated by starting a glass factory in Bavaria, which can at least supply the worst damaged districts in the Reich with glass before winter sets in. Meanwhile citizens have been taught that broken glass should be carefully hoarded for appointed collectors who will use it for the production of emery paper.

In Straubing, the first group of a new youth organization has been founded in the place of the former Hitler Youth.

Wassely and Sparecht, clothing manufacturers, at Waldmuenchen, near Regensburg, have been licensed to resume production. Textiles are badly needed throughout Bavaria.

Normal schools for 500 teachers have been opened in Straubing and Passau with the expectation of supplying 1000 democratically-educated teachers for the Bavarian school system by January.

At Passau the A.M.G. has proved to everybody's satisfaction that 325 city employes can administer a town far more effectively than 503 Nazis could during the Hitler government.

These accomplishments loom even larger in view of two problems that stare virtually every A.M.G. detachment in the face. One is the difficult situation created by the presence of foreign displaced persons, the other is the vacuum created in the German mind after de-Nazification and the absence of proper and sufficient reading matter.

Tomorrow: The Vacuum in the German Mind.

LIGHT SELLING OF RAIL, STEEL, MOTOR SHARES

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Stocks, led by steels, rails and motors, suffered from mild selling in today's market.

Widening labor rifts in the most important industries helped inspire a certain amount of bearishness and numerous customers trimmed accounts on the idea more of a reaction might be witnessed before the list was ready to resume the upswing. Caution also was the watchword in brokerage quarters pending tomorrow's scheduled announcement of the President's new price-wage policy. Bolstering factors included imminence of tax relief, earnings. Dividends and inflation psychology were helpful.

Pivotal issues began to slip after a fairly active and steady opening. Losses, running to a point or so at the worst, were reduced in the majority of cases near the close. Dealings slowed at intervals but transfers for the full proceedings were around level of recent sessions.

Among the Casualties.

Sales aggregated 1,260,000 shares compared with 1,300,000 shares yesterday.

Of the 995 issues traded in today, 560 were lower, 272 higher and 163 unchanged. Seventy-seven made new 1945 highs and one new 1945 lows.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down .78 of a point at 71.4.

Among prominent casualties the greater part of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, General Electric, American Can, Allied Chemical, Sears-Roebuck, American Telephone and du Pont. Occasional improvement was shown for Consolidated Edison, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Woolworth, American Water Works and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Important industries during the day rejected union pay boost demands.

The House beat a compromise bill which would have repealed the land-grant railroad rates. Some Western carriers were interested.

Trend on the Curb.

In a spotty Cudb, slupport was accorded McCord Corporation, North American Light, Burry Biscuit and F. L. Jacobs. Laggards were Brazilian Traction, Atlantic Coast Fisheries and Long Island Lighting.

Wall street concentrated the greater part of its interest in the start of the big Victory Loan drive and listed securities had to contend to a certain extent with this influence. It was recalled, though, that while stocks have sometimes wavered at the beginning of previous war bond campaigns, markets generally have been higher on completion of the drives.

Strength of Electric Power & Light issues recently was attributed to the approval of the SEC for the company to expend the $17,350,000 received from the sale of holdings in the Dallas Power & Light Co. toward retirement of its 5 per cent gold debentures.

News in the Market.

Boardrooms noted surveys from steel centers indicating that the dalay in making price adjustments by governmental agencies would further force some producers to concentrate on items showing at least a modest profit while trimming the output of other products in which a loss would be possible.

Day's Fifteen Leaders.

INTEREST IN BOND MARKET SWITCHES TO U. S. LOAN DRIVE

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—The bond market drifted aimlessly today as main interest in financial quarters centered on the start of the Government drive to raise $11,000,000,000 in its last big loan of the war period.

At the start of the final hour issues holding some advantage included Erie 3⅛s, International Hydro Electric 6s and Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis 4s. Laggards included Hudson Coal 5s, Lehigh Valley 5s and Missouri Pacific 5s.

Ahead at time were, among other, American Telephone 3s, Boston & Maine 4½s, Crucible Steel 3¼s, Detroit & Mackinac first 4s; General Realty & Utility 4s and Hudson & Manhattan income 5s.

Unchanged or a little backward were Household Finance 2¾s, International Telephone 4½s, Norfolk Southern convertible 5s, Standard Oil (N.J.) 3s and Southern Railway general 4s. U.S. Government and foreign dollar loans were only slightly changed either way.

The market clung to a narrow circle up to the close. Rock Island refunding 4s lost ¾ at 57½, but the 4½s gained a fraction at 65½. Delaware & Hudson 4s added ⅛ at $102¼ and Rio Grande Western 4s lost a little at 68½. Katy adjustment 5s moved up 2 to 89.

CORPORATION REPORTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Sherwin-Williams Co. and subsidiaries reported for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31 net profit of $5,065,213, or $7.12 common share, compared with $4,075,944, or $5.55 a common share, for the preceding fiscal year. The 1944 net was after a special reserve of $1,190,000, while the amount set aside for such a reserve this year totaled $400,000, the report stated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—General Steel Castings Co. interim statement for nine months to Sept. 30 showed net profit of $1,042,604, equal to $10.43 a preferrel share, against $763,825, or $7.64 a preferred shtare, in the 1944 months. There are accumulations on the preferred.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—The W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co. reported net earnings of $352,727, equal to $2.26 a share, for the six months ended Aug. 31, compared with $502,659, or $3.14, for the comparable 1944 period. C. R. Sheaffer, president, in a letter to stockholders said that because of cutbacks of government contracts and revision of navy requirements for war products preceding the Japanese surrender, the company operated at a substantial loss during March, April and May.

DIVIDEND MEETING RESULTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Directors of Schiff Co., chain shoe-store operators, declared a 50 per cent stock dividend on the common stock, an extra of 87½ cents a share and the regular quarterly of 25 cents. The extra and regular cash payments will be made Dec. 15 to stock of record Nov. 30.

The stock dividend will be paid following registration of the additional shares with the SEC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Directors of Southeastern Greyhound Lines declared an extra dividend of 10 cents a share on the common stock and raised the quarterly rate to 40 cents from 35 cents previously paid. The extra is payable Jan. 7, to stock of record Dec. 20 and the quarterly is payable March 1 to stock of record Feb. 15.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP)—Directors of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana declared a regular dividend of 25 cents and an extra cash dividend of 25 cents per share on the capital stock, payable Dec. 10 to holders of record Nov. 9.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—American Home Products Corp. directors declared an extra dividend of 60 cents a share along with the regular monthly dividend of 20 cents, both payable Dec. 1 to stock of record Nov. 14.

Business Outlook

By J. A. Livingston

TO the accompaniment of bold-type advertisements in New York City newspapers, Gimbel's department store put a 1946 Ford on not-for-sale display. Customers might drool covetously over it, but the best the store could do was to take orders and turn them over to a recognized Ford dealer for a priority number. Here was an almost perfect characterization of American reconversion to date: It's here, yet it isn't.

Strikes, labor-management disputes, and squabbles over OPA price ceilings have managed to put off the day of sale of such long-sought civilian products as passenger cars, refrigerators, washing machines, and so on. Yet it is a mistake to exaggerate the delays.

Real progress—even though it does not always ring up on the cash register—has been and is being made, as follows:

Pittsburgh manfacturers report unexpected speed in (1) clearing government-owned machines and inventories out of plants, (2) moving in their own equipment, and (3) converting assembly lines.

Climax Molybdenum Corp. reports sharply reduced earnings for the third quarter of 1945, a sure sign that American factories are using less alloy (molybdenum) steel for munitions products and by implication more carbon steel for peacetime goods.

Holland sends a shipment of tulips. What clearer indication is there of onrushing normality?

Frigidaire puts its first postwar refrigerator on sale. Packard unveils its new models to dealers in Detroit. Hudson announces its show for the first of next month. Bendix Aviation Corp. enters radio field, promises 200 distributors deliveries next month.

J. D. Small, chairman of the new Civilian Production Agency (successor to WPB) tells the Gray Iron Founders' Socielty that castings threaten to bottleneck reconversion and that therefore they had better get busy and step up production.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson announces a one-cent-per-pound cut in the support price of hogs effective October 1, 1946— this to discourage overproduction such as swamped the slaughter-houses in 1943.

OPA shows increased willingness to lift some price ceilings—industrial and surgical cotton textile items, for example; also pig iron.

Compensation Problem.

But the final telltale on reconversion progress is unemployment compensation. For 11 successive weeks, claims for financial help had risen steadily—from 305,000 on July 21 to 1,700,000 on Oct. 6. Then in the following week claims shaded downward—to 1,640,000.

On the other hand, claims of veterans for unemployment allowances have been going up slowly and steadily. On V-J day they totaled 50,000; now they are up to 110,000 and they will go up higher as the Army and Navy stepped-up demobilization programs gather headway.

Nevertheless the statistics emphasize that the United States has withstood the first big demobilization onslaught: the disemployment resulting from the cutbacks after V-J day. Consider it this way: When Japan surrendered, some 7,000,000 persons were engaged in direct or indirect munitions production. Today, two and one-half months later, less than 2,000,000 released war workers and service men are drawing unemployment compensation benefits, despite drastic contract cancellations.

The achievement is all the more remarkable in view of the stalemate on the labor-management front. In spite of strikes, the country is managing to produce industrial materials and supplies, and to fill the barren inventory bins of peacetime factories and the depleted shelves of wholesale and retail establishments.

Thus, less-than-carlot freight loadings of merchandise have been climbing steadily in recent weeks—as production of civilian goods expands and stores stock up for fall and holiday business. Consumers, incidentally, continue to express their confidence in the outlook. Department store sales for the week of the twentieth were up 13 per cent over a year ago as against 11 per cent the week previous.

Industrial Tension Sign.

Meanwhile, the 6-to-1 strike vote at General Motors plants and the demand of steel workers for a $2-a-day increase at United States Steel emphasized the industrial tension within the country. Labor persists in demanding 52 hours pay for 40 hours work, or equivalent. Management just as persistently says no.

The poles-apart position is suggested by the General Motors counter-offer to the auto workers, namely a 5 per cent to 8 per cent wage increase on 45-hour straight-time-pay work week. The proposal got a quick slapdown from the union, as might be expected. No union leader could relinquish the 40-hour week in peacetime and hope to hold on to his job. Further, the plan would require a change in the Wage-Hour Act which calls for overtime pay after 40 hours. Still further, it would work a hardship on returning servicemen by cutting down the number of potential jobs in automobile plants by about 11 per cent.

The stock market did not take kindly to the labor prospect. Wall Street reasoned that labor leaders had to make good their threats or shut up, that they couldn't very well shut up, that therefore strikes were inevitable.

So holders of U. S. Steel, du Pont, General Electric and other blue chip shares chose the sidelines—with a consequent sharp markdown in values. There was another factor. The market was tired after climbing up to an eight-year top and could not withstand profit-taking.

COTTON CLOSES LOWER

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Cotton futures declined under pressure of hedge selling and some commission house liquidation in distant months, which met only scale-down mill and local buying. Many traders held to the sidelines pending further developments on the administration's price policy and action on pending parity legislation. The trade generally expected that the mid-October parity price due tomorrow will be unchanged from the September level.

Late afternoon prices were 15 to 75 cents a bale lower. Dec. 23.56c, March 23.71c and May 23.72c.

WHEAT TAKES LEAD IN GRAIN LIST TRADE

CHICAGO, Oct. 29 (AP) — Persistent strength in wheat futures, with prices up more than a cent a bushel at times, buoyed other grains today.

Buying by commission houses and professionals, and an upturn at Kansas City strengthened wheat. Rye climbed to new seasonal peaks at the start, then oats and rye weakened, but later steadied somewhat with wheat.

The domestic visible wheat supply decreased 3,370,000 bushels last week to 134,245,000 bushels, the Board of Trade reported. Trade authorities had expected a fairly large decrease, since many farmers are holding their wheat, apparently pending lower income taxes next year.

Wheat held up fairly well, but other grains slumped again near the close. Wheat closed ¼ @ ¾ higher than the previous finish, December $1.77½; corn was down ¼ @ ½, December $1.18¼; oats were ¼ @ ¾ off, December 65⅝ @ ¾; rye was ⅜ @ ½ of a cent lower, December $1.61½ @ ⅝, and barley was unchanged to ¼ off, December $1.17¾.

A New & Helpful Standard of Comparison of 45 Leading RAIL STOCKS

As a group, railroad stocks have advanced to the stage where keen discrimination is now required. Although the outlook is still favorable for the industry as a whole, individual roads will no longer benefit equally nor will rails move uniformly as a group.

To assist clients who hold or contemplate purchase of rails, this week's issue of MOODY'S STOCK SURVEY contains a unique grading of the present relative investment attractiveness of 45 leading rail equities.

In a compact tabulation accompanied by explanatory comment, it appraises the relative quality of leading rail stocks at present price levels. Literally, this new appraisal "screens" the rails and helps investors to strengthen their investment position by providing a sound basis for the purchase, exchange or retention of individual rail shares.

Because this issue vividly demonstrates the helpfulness of MOODY'S STOCK SURVEY in assisting investors to avoid needless risks and capitalize timely opportunities, we shall be pleased to send a copy without cost or obligation. Please ask for Bulletin No. 5-J.

WAINWRIGHT PUT ON RADIO TO GIVE SURRENDER ORDER

By 1 a.m. on the morning of May 8 I was finished with the disgusting job. I told Col. Haba that I was ready to return to Corregidor.

Yet, even as I said it, I knew the Japs—in their nerve-cracking way—had changed their mind. I knew that I would not be going back, as I urgently wanted to, to do what I could about my wounded and the nurses, civilians and captured men.

So it was no great surprise when Col. Haba smiled frigidly and shook his head.

"We're going to keep you in Manila," he said. There was no point to be gained by arguing with him.

We were taken then to the University Club at the junction of Dewey and South boulevards. It was a fine, modern building of six stories, once very popular with Americans and British of the city. But now it had been turned into a billet for Jap officers.

I was given a small apartment and my five staff officers were placed in an adjoining and larger one. Their beds were lined up along the wall, side by side, all under one tremendous green mosquito bar.

The events of the preceding days and nights had completely exhausted me. I fell into my hed and slept. But early in the morning Col. Haba was in my room again, this time to tell me that he was ready for my officers to leave with the surrender messages to Sharp, Horan and Nakar. I called these men, shared a decent Japanese officers' breakfast with them, and bade them God-speed, not knowing that this was the last I would see of Col. Kalakuka.

They left about 8:30 a.m., but in a short time Col. Pillet, who was assigned to accompany Traydick to Mindanao to see Sharp, returned to the University Club. The plane the Japs had sent for Traywick and him would seat only two passengers, other than the pilot. Traywick and Haba went. Pillet, Johnny Pugh, Tom Dooley and I sat down to await developments.

TOMORROW: Hot-headed patriotic Filipinos in the southern Philippines imperil the whole surrender plan, and Gen. Wainwright buries the first man to die with him in captivity.

NAVY REPORT CITES PEARL HARBOR IN OPPOSING MERGER

"confusion extending to both the conduct of operations and to logistical support" resulted near the end of the war from the dividing of commands among Adm. Nimitz, Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Spaatz.

2. Lack of collaboration between the Army and Navy in planning and tying together their procurement requirements caused wartime waste. "A better interchange of planning information between the theater staffs and headquarters would have diminished this evil."

3. Training of future Navy and Army officers should be broadened by contacts with scientific institutions. "Higher officers felt the scientist was telling how to run the war and the scientist felt the officer was telling him how to run research."

Report on Pearl Harbor.

The section on Pearl Harbor concluded that the "disaster did not expose a system that failed, but rather the failure of key individuals to discharge with imagination and foresight the military-naval defensive responsibilities which rested upon them.

"It cannot be validly contended that the parallel failure of two key individuals prove that there would have been no failure if only one key individual had been involved. Indeed, in Washington at one stage mentioned above only one key individual appears to be involved."

Eberstadt said there were four "types of responsibility" for Pearl Harbor:

1. Inadequacy of forces and equipment in Hawaii which can "properly be shared by our armed services, our government and the American people."

2. Inadequate relationship between the State Department and military services which were said to indicate "need for closer co-operation."

3. Failure to keep area commanders informed.

4. Failure of Pearl Harbor area Army and Navy commanders "to co-operate effectively." This was termed a "failure of individuals," with the added note that the "same lack of awareness of the critical nature of the situation seems to have existed in Washington, where inter-service co-operation was excellent, as in Hawaii, where it was less satisfactory."

Co-ordination Question.

The weaknesses exposed in this country's war-waging organizations during the conflict just closed were mostly defects of co-ordination, Eberstadt said. He listed:

"Gaps between foreign and military policy—between the State Department and the military establishments. Gaps between strategic planning and its logistic implementation — between the joint chiefs of staff and the military and civilian agencies responsible for industrial mobilization. Gaps between and within the military services—principally in the field of procurement and logistics. Gaps in information and intelligence—between the executive and legislative branches of our government, between the several departments, and between government and the people."

"These ills are susceptible of cure without dangerous experiments with our present setup," he said.

Eberstadt was chairman of the joint Army-Navy Munitions Board during the early part of the war. Later he was transferred to a vice chairmanship of the War Production Board which he resigned in 1943, after a policy disagreement with Donald Nelson, then chairman.

Drowning Verdict in Man's Death.

A verdict of drowning in the death of an unidentified man, whose body was taken from the Mississippi river at Kimmswick Saturday night, was returned today by a Jefferson county coroner's jury. The man, who had gray hair, was about 50 years old and was dressed in a blue pinstriped suit bearing the label of the Curlee Clothing Co. of St. Louis. The body was taken to the Heiligtag undertaking establishment at Imperial, Mo.

MARSHALL FIELD TO SPEAK

Marshall Field, publisher and editor of the Chicago Sun, will speak on "Advertising in an Expanding Economy" at a luncheon meeting of the Advertising Club of St. Louis tomorrow at Hotel Statler.

Field founded the Chicago Sun shortly before the United States entered the war. He is a director of Parade Publication, Inc., and of Simon and Schuster Inc., and is president and director of radio stations in New York and Cincinnati.

WAR DADS SESSION OPENS; VETERANS' NEEDS OUTLINED

Keeping Peace Is Major Interest, President Arnold Says — Governor Speaks.

The keeping of the peace is the paramount interest of the American War Dads, Remmie L. Arnold, of Petersburg, Va., national president of the organization, said today at the opening session of its third annual convention at Kiel Auditorium.

Immediate objectives should deal with rehabilitation of the returned service man, he said, outlining a program which would include provision for employment, hospitalization and education. He suggested examination of certain specific procedures of the Veterans' Administration with regard to the return from overseas of hospitalized personnel and in the matter of non-resident fees at tax-supported institutions.

Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann, in an address of welcome, called attention to the coincidental observance today of Navy day, the opening of the Victory Loan drive and of the convention, "consecrated to the proposition that the hard-won peace must not be lost, nor the valiant warrior forgotten."

Emilio D'Acosta, president of the Mexico City chapter, responded to the Mayor's welcome, paying tribute to the country south of the Rio Grande as a loyal ally, which "effectively protected our southern border during the war."

"Freedom is not free," Maj. Victor Grant of Wheatland, Colo., who lost a son in the war, said in the convention keynote address. He warned that "the fight on the home front, which is the civilian's responsibility, can be won only if we match with moral courage the physical courage of our sons who have sacrificed so much."

Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, speaking on "America's Responsibility to the Returned Veteran," outlined the state's program for assisting service men through expert counsel to secure benefits to which they are entitled under provisions of federal legislation.

Photo-murals of scenes showing atrocities in concentration camp under Nazi rule, originally exhibited under auspices of the Post-Dispatch, which have been given to the city, are on display in the lobby of the auditorium. Several of the smaller ones have been placed at Soldiers' Memorial, where the War Dads auxiliary is holding its meeting.

A change in the program of tonight's banquet was made necessary because Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, resident commissioner of the Philippines, is unable to attend. His place as chief speaker will be taken by Robert Lee Humber, of Greenville, N. C., author of the "Declaration for the Federation of the World."

WARRANT IN ARMORY THEFT

A warrant charging grand larceny was issued today against William L. Jones, 3810A Carter avenue, by Assistant Circuit Attorney Paul L. Dobberstein, in the theft, last Aug. 30, of a machine gun from the Missouri National Guard Armory.

Jones, 32 years old, told police, when arrested last Friday at Twentieth and Salisbury streets, that he had purchased the gun from a Negro earlier that day with $125 given him by Egan gangsters, Steve Ryan and David "Chippy" Robinson. He later said he had gone to the armory for drill practice last August, when he was a member of the State Guard, and had taken the gun from a locker room.

PAUL C. TAYLOR DIES

Paul C. Taylor of Collinsville, recorder of deeds of Madison county, died today of heart disease at St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland, Ill. He was 56 years old.

His wife, Mrs. Alice Taylor, is a patient at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis. He is also survived by a son, Capt. Donald Taylor, who is en route home from Leyte, and three daughters, Miss Sarah Taylor of Collinsville, Miss Genevieve Taylor, a student at Washington University, and Mrs. Frances House, Washington, D. C.

BRITAIN ABANDONS MONETARY GIFTS TO MILITARY CHIEFS

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Britain's Labor Government announced today the decision to bzreak a centuries-old tradition and abandon the practice of voting large monetary gifts to victorious military chiefs.

Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons the custom was no longer "in accordance with the spirit of the times or the character of the war." He added, however, the decision was not to be construed "as showing a lack of appreciation for the magnificent services rendered by our military leaders."

Britain still is paying for some of the gifts made after previous wars. The Duke of Marlborough received 5,000 pounds ($20,000) a year for life, plus Blenheim palace, built at a public expense of 240,000 pounds ($960,000). Wellington, hero of Waterloo, got a castle and 700,000 pounds ($2,800,000). Lord Nelson's descendants received a perpetual annuity of 5,000 pounds a year.

After the last war, Earl Beatty and Field Marshal Haig each got 100,000 pounds.

Attlee said this war had called for sustained effort on the part of the whole community.

Robot Air Weapons That 'Think' Faster Than Man Are Predicted

Navy Report Says 'Man's Mind Will Be Too Slow for Combat of Future, but He Can Devise the Defense.'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Robot air machines that can "think" and act faster than their men creators figure heavily in the Navy's plans for the nation's future defense.

"Man's mind will be too slow for combat of the future," the Navy said yesterday, "but man's mind can devise the defense."

Promising the vigorous pursuit of peacetime research in naval aviation, a Navy release predicted:

"The pilotless aircraft of the future, controlled by electronics, will 'home' electronically on its target. Electronic 'brains' will guide the counter-missile with precision. Out of research and development programs will come airborne radars which can initiate defense."

Plans call for experimentation in new types of piloted aircraft, related aircraft of all types, methods of propulsion, fuels and aerodynamic principles.

With improvements in turbo-jet engines now in sight, and with high speed a prime characteristic of a fighter airplane, future Navy fighters will probably be jet-powered, possibly with rocket assistance for short bursts of extremely high speed, the Navy said.

Also holding great promise is the composite power plant, combining conventional reciprocating engine and jet. This plan was described as particularly effective for dive bombers, torpedo bombers and long range patrol land planes.

A completely new field of propulsion is being investigated in the realm of guided missiles, the Navy said. Power plants to give speeds of more than 700 miles per hour—above the speed of sound—are under study.

An extensive pilotless aircraft program was already under way on V-J day, with successful development of such devices as "glomb," "gorgon," and "gargoyle."

The "glomb" is a 4000-pound glider bomb which can be towed by a fighter plane, released and directed to its target by radio and television.

The "gorgon" is a jet propelled missile carried by a bomber and sent into enemy aircraft by radio control or by its own automatic target seeking device.

The "gargoyle," also jet propelled, carries a 1000-pound armor-piercing bomb which automatically seeks out and collides with a s[illegible] target.

Equally far-reaching and radical developments are predicted in the fields of aircraft armament, carriers and catapults, aircraft power plants, photography and aerology.

MAN'S ARM AMPUTATED AFTER INJURY IN AUTO CRASH

Allen Douglas, 404 Kirkham avenue, Webster Groves, was in serious condition today at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis suffering from shock following the amputation of his left arm which was crushed early yesterday when the light panel truck he was driving collided with a heavy freight truck on Mac Arthur bridge.

The driver of the freight truck, Jesse McLaughlin of Cape Girardeau, Mo., told police he was driving west on the bridge, when Douglas's vehicle, going in the opposite direction at a high rate of epeed, suddenly veered and struck the side of his truck. McLaughlin was not injured.

Coming Home means...

REUNION. Blessed return to the arms of the one you love. In those eyes, the months of longing, waiting, hoping, now dissolving into a smile. And later—over a cheery glass of Falstaff—the look that says, "This is it. This is Home."

Yes, that's what 'Coming Home' means. It means getting back to the same things you used to enjoy. True—some things have changed—but FALSTAFF is still the same. The same fine beer with the same Famous Flavor you always counted on for greater pleasure. For throughout the war years—as for more than three generations—Falstaff has remained faithful to Premium Quality. Nothing has changed that... nothing ever will.

And so today—when the occasion calls for a toast that tells better than words what 'Coming Home' means—fill the glasses with the beer that's the same as it's always been...

No Room at the Inns

New York Jammed As Never Before

By Robert J. Casey

Copyright, 1945, by Chicago Daily News and St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.

YOUR old Grant's Tomb reporter is able to report that his favorite shrine in New York is enjoying its greatest run of popularity since the day when they installed the new steam-heating system. This, we are informed by our informant, has been going on since a day or two before the arrival of the fleet.

The coincidence between the two phenomena is somewhat difficult to explain unless one takes into account the historic preference of visiting sailors for national monuments over night clubs and saloons. So we went out to take a look at the place and found the answer just what you had expected it would be.

There were quite a lot of sailors and girls wandering in and out of the place, which wasn't too surprising. There were also little groups of women and children and small babies upon whom your investigator looked with startled eyes.

THE ATTENDANT, who apparently has been here too long to be startled at anything, surveyed his increased business without visible concern. He didn't know the cause of it, exactly. People were getting more patriotic, possibly—more shrine-conscious. And then, of course, there were plenty of sailors in town. But a young warrant officer standing near the door seemed to have made a deeper study of the matter.

"Sure, there are lots of sailors milling through here," he said. "I'm one of them. But they're not paying their respects to the general exactly. They're here with their relatives looking for a place to sleep. There's plenty of room on the deck here if anybody's let you use it. . . ."

WELL, IT MAY BE REPORTED that when the tomb closed up at the end of the day's visiting hours Gen. Grant's privacy was not disturbed. But it may also be reported that it was the only vacant spot in the city.

New York, which used to be big enough to accommodate world's fair crowds and even a couple of conventions, has been jammed by the visit of the fleet as never before in its history. It has begun to look like Bordeaux in the days of the big retreat when people couldn't find room to fall down when they fainted in the streets.

You can't get a room in a hotel. The Navy Home-Finding Bureau at the Commodore when last queried had a waiting list of 5000.

PEOPLE WITH FRIENDS out of town are beginning to quit answering their phones. Cots have sprung up in offices and linen-closets and similar strange bedrooms as they did in Washington during the raids of the patriotic contract seekers.

Respectable people—whole families of them—are jammed into the flops and flea-bags of the seventies and more or less happy to be there.

WHEN HE THINKS of the clerk's greeting in the super-flops ("This bill is payable in advance with 50 cents deposit on the key") it is pleasureable to think that such things aren't happening any more. There's no room for any more customers even of the sort whose credit isn't good for a 15-cent key.

And it's nice to think also of the black market in hotel rooms shot to pieces by its own prosperity. Once you might give a bellhop $5 for a chance to pay $6 for a $4 room. Once you might do quite a bit with a clerk by offering him a cigar—any kind of cigar wrapped with a $10 bill. But the market it seems is oversold and the clerks and bellhops have gone back to whatever clerks and bellhops do when not getting rich.

It still looks as if they might find a new field in Grant's Tomb.

Furnace Man

By Christopher Billopp

THE furnace man is a man who has paid out a lot of good money for fuel in his time and never gives up hope that he will pay out less this year than last.

Furthermore if people complain of the house being cold it is the furnace man who has to get up out of a comfortable chair and go down to the cellar and try to do something about it. And he knows that what he does will not satisfy the people who complain of the cold.

Therefore the furnace man will save himself both money and bodily labor if he can convince people who complain of the cold that they are just victims of their imagination. This is hard to do when they prove their point by demonstrating that they can see their breath.

Another popular argument of the furnace man is that people who complain of cold do not wear enough clothes. He will point out that if he were sitting in a cotton shirt and shorts he would be cold, too.

Why don't they dress sensibly? By dressing sensibly he means that they should start with heavy woolen underwear as a base and build on it with woolen stockings and a sweater. If that is not enough he would not object to their adding a muffler and a fur coat.

A furnace man, too, is not above making gloomy forecasts about nation-wide strikes and problems of delivery. And he will paint lurid pictures of ice and snow and below-zero temperatures later in the winter.

By making use of these questionable methods a furnace man may not budge from his seat and still keep his family from open revolt. However, one thing is certain. Until the spring thaw sets in he will never win a prize in a popularity contest.

War Heroes Open Victory Loan Drive

A thousand St. Louisans attending the luncheon opening the Victory Loan campaign at Hotel Jefferson this afternoon rise to their feet to applaud Adm. William F. Halsey Jr. (arrow), Third Fleet commander. The Admiral, honor guest for the city's Navy day program today, made a brief address; Lt. Col. James P. S. Devereux, Marine hero of Wake island, was the principal speaker.

Adm. Halsey (left) has a serious chat with Lt. Col. Devereux at the Hotel Jefferson gathering. Devereux commanded the heroic garrison that made a last-ditch defense of Wake.

Adm. Halsey, arriving at Lambert-St. Louis Field yesterday, embraces Mrs. Norman Scott of Washington, whose husband, R. Adm. Scott of Kirkwood, was killed while serving with Halsey's South Pacific force

CAUTIOUS LADY Mary Elizabeth Zimmer, 1½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmer, 734 Baden avenue, cautiously pets the only St. Bernard entered in the thirty-third annual show sponsored by the Mississippi Valley Kennel Association at Shaw Park, Clayton, yesterday. FLAT-TOP CREWS are very proud of their ships A mechanic's mate on a carrier was once asked by a civilian how fast his ship could go. . . . The m.m. intoned with a twinkle in his orb: "To tell the truth, I don't know. We've never really opened her up. All my carrier is required to do so far is to keep up with its planes."

THIS HAS BECOME a Navy classic: An ensign and lieutenant on a sub-chaser were feuding because they were both Romeoing the same gal. Each took a turn at making the day's entries in the log book. One day the ensign was surprised to discover the lieutenant had written: "August 14; ensign drunk" . . . He hesitated a moment and then wrote: "August 15; lieutenant sober."

AN ADMIRAL, watching a young sailor labor eagerly but clumsily on the quarterdeck, asked: "How long have you been in the Navy, son?" . . . "Two months," the boy replied. "How long have you been in?" . . . The admiral was taken slightly aback, but he good-naturedly answered: "Thirty years" . . . The sailor shook his head sympathetically and said: "It's hell, ain't it?"

THERE ARE MANY TALES about haughty ensigns getting their comeuppance. One of the best concerns the new one who behaved as if he were a combination of John Paul Jones and Lord Nelson. His captain decided to take him down a few pegs. . . . During a heavy storm he ordered the ensign to go on deck and figure out the ship's position by dead reckoning, a task which is practically impossible. Finally the ensign returned and presented the results of his computation. The captain studied the report for a moment and then bellowed: "Take off your hat, sir! I see by your findings that we are in the middle of Westminster Abbey!"

CHALK UP ANOTHER defeat for censors: A Navy wife was irked by blue-pencilers, who continually cut up letters from her sailor-hubby. But she had her revenge. She sent her husband a letter in the form of a jigsaw puzzle. The censor worked for hours piecing it together. The missive read: "Don't work too hard!"

HAVE YOU HEARD the one about the famed absent-minded admiral? He was piloting a seaplane when the commander of the ship noticed he was gliding toward an aerodrome. "Excuse me," the commander said diplomatically, "but it would be better to come down on the sea. This is a seaplane" . . . The admiral thanked him for the reminder, turned and landed safely on the water. He then stated: "Commander, I thank you. I shall not forget the tact with which you drew my attention to the blunder I was about to make" . . . The admiral then opened the door—and stepped into the ocean.

A GROUP OF SAILORS were shooting the breeze about their pet subject—gals. One was asked if he liked intellectual girls. He responded quickly: "I like a girl with a good head on my shoulder."

SEAPOWER, THE NAVY MAG, recently relayed this story: A homesick gob from Utah kept his watch on Mountain Standard Time. He explained why: "When I joined the Navy, Pa gave me this watch. He said it would help me remember home. When my watch says 5 a.m., I know Dad is rolling out to milk the cows. And any night it says 7:30, I know the whole family's around a well-spread table, and Dad is thanking God for what's on it and asking Him to watch over me. I can almost smell the hot biscuits and bacon. It's thinking about those things that makes me want to fight when the going gets tough. I can find out what time it is where I am easy enough. What I want to know is what time it is in Utah."

A BOSTON GAZETTE offered a nifty about Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham. He was aboard his flagship in a Mediterranean port when a cruiser made a sloppy job of tying up to its berth. The cruiser's captain, dreading the message he knew would come from his commander-in-chief, was relieved, if puzzled, when it was delivered. It consisted of one word, "Good." . . . Fifteen minutes later, the captain was interrupted in his bath with a supplement reading, "To previous message please add the word 'God.'"

Word on Etiquette

By Emily Post

THAT so many people imagine etiquette is concerned principally with which fork to choose suggests a strange valuation of the subject. The reason why one fork rather than another is chosen is obviously because if you eat your oysters with a dinner fork, the little oyster fork will be hardly suitable for your meat. But ordinarily when two or three forks are placed at the left of your plate, whether you happen to eat fish with one supposed to be for salad and meat with the one supposed to be for fish is certainly unimportant.

Etiquette, if it is to be of more than trifling use, must go far beyond any mere mechanics of fork choosing. Actually there is not a single thing that we do, say or even think that does not follow (or break) one of the exactions of taste, tact, ethics or good manners—in short, etiquette.

DEAR MRS. POST: What is the correct obligation of the guests who go to dinner in honor of a celebrity? Is each one who was invited obliged to give an entertainment of some sort for this celebrity?

Answer: There is no obligation as such for any of the guests to invite the celebrity in return. But is a very nice, and also not unusual, thing to do, for those who are able.

DEAR MRS. POST: I am in my mid-seventies and would like to know what would be suitable for me to wear at a church service in connection with a fiftieth wedding anniversary celebration. Shall I send my gift to the house or to the church? After the church ceremony the couple will receive downstairs and nothing will take place at their house.

Answer: Wear what you would to church and send your gift to the house.

DEAR MRS. POST: My fiance's family do not approve of me and I am sure they would ignore an invitation to our wedding. Consequently, do you think they should be sent one?

Answer: Even so, an invitation should be sent them.

They'll Do It Every Time

Some Causes, Treatment Of Cystitis

INFECTION of the bladder is called cystitis and it is either primary in the bladder or secondary to infection in the kidneys. The bladder is nothing but a receptacle for urine. The kidneys put out the urine and the ureters (a small tube on either side) transport the urine from the kidneys to the bladder. The bladder expels the urine through the urethra (tube from bladder to exterior) to the outside, unless some obstructive lesion interferes.

There are many causes for cystitis and for that reason alone it is of paramount importance to get to the basis of the trouble if success is expected in any given case of cystitis. For example, if a patient has a stone in the bladder that is not detected, medicine by mouth or local treatment to the bladder proves ineffective. This is made so because you are dealing with a mechanical problem and nothing short of removal of the stone and correction of any other pathologic lesion that is present will suffice. Proper diagnostic study with X-ray of the urinary tract or examination of the interior of the bladder with the cystoscope (an illuminated instrument for inspection of the bladder) would solve this problem and save unnecessary treatment.

TIME AND SPACE do not permit me to elaborate on the different etiologic factors in cystitis, but I will call attention to the method of contraction of this very common ailment. The routes of invasion for precipitation of this condition are as follows: Bacteria may gain entrance to the bladder by way of the urethra, ascending invasion; by way of the kidneys, descending invasion; by extension from a neighboring focus, invasion by contiguity, and mechanical obstruction to the proper emptying of the bladder. Thus it becomes apparent that some cases of cystitis are rebellious to the ordinary measures of treatment and require more detailed study by the urinary specialist in order to evaluate the condition intelligently.

Let's cite a few concrete examples of cystitis cases that are treated over protracted periods without relief and see why the results are disappointing. Infection of the kidneys with bladder secondarily involved will fail to respond to bladder treatment; that is especially true if any obstruction is present from the kidneys to the bladder or the kidneys are further influenced by stone formation, etc.

THEN AGAIN the kidneys will fail to respond if obstruction is present and not released, or if a distant focus is left undisturbed, such as bad teeth, tonsils, etc. In women a sagging bladder which forms a pouch for retained urine responds only to correction of this mechanical defect.

In men, especially over 50, enlargement of the prostate gland invites cystitis from mechanical interference with the emptying of the bladder. I could go on indefinitely, but this article is written with the express idea of calling attention to the many problems involved in cystitis without becoming too confusingly technical. When ordinary measures instituted by your doctor fail to get results he will send you to some competent urinary specialist for detailed study. If the layman only knew the folly of taking medicine at random for cystitis, not to mention the staggering possibilities, he would consult his physician at once.

Deviled Oysters on Half Shell

Two dozen large oysters, one tablespoon butter or margarine, three shallots, finely chopped; two tablespoons flour, one-half cup milk, one-fourth cup cream, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg, few grains cayenne, one-half teaspoon mustard, one-half tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, three chopped mushroom caps, one-half teaspoon chopped parsley, one egg yolk, buttered cracker crumbs.

Open, wash and chop oysters. Cook shallots in butter or margarine three minutes. Add flour and stir until well blended, then add milk and cream. Bring to boiling point and add oysters and remaining ingredients except egg yolk and crumbs. Let simmer for 12 minutes. Add egg yolk. Then put mixture in deep halves of oyster shells. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake 15 minutes.

'I've Loved My Life'

By Elsie Robinson

SOMETIMES, reading the floods of mail, I am tempted to think that we are going through the worst time of all in these postwar months.

We're such game sports, we Americans, when things are tough. We roll up our sleeves and bend our backs and park our own private interests — and perform miracles. As we have been doing for the last four years. There's nothing we won't risk or can't accomplish. We're supermen and women while the going is tough enough and the challenge is great enough and there's plenty of excitement. We have always been like that. But let the tempo slow and the excitement cool, and something inside us goes limp.

Queer thing, that—you've noticed it in your own life, haven't you? You've proved how you could rise to heights of courage and undreamed of efficiency in a crisis. But put you up against the drudgery and monotony of daily chores and your spiritual barometer skids. You get pecky and draggy and sick of life.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER? I suppose it's simple enough. I've a hunch it simply means that the human spirit is not meant to have too much peace or security or monotony.

We need challenge. We need some long, clear call from the mountain tops . . . some fire from an undiscovered star to shake us out of our lethargy. We grow stale if life is too flat . . . we stagnate if nothing stirs us.

(You know the days when you don't give a hoot for anything or anyone—when you haven't a shred of ambition — when the whole world could go to pot for all you care? Sure you know them. So do I. That's why I am writing this.)

Yes, we need that challenging call—that wild yoo-hoo from the peaks. And, thank God, it always happens. Always, when you're wallowing around in your own dandruff, something comes to stir the spark again . . . something happens to make you remember that you are a man, not a brute—a man who can shape his own destiny if he will.

Something like that happened to me yesterday. It came to me, as it so often does, in the morning mail. Just a note from a stranger whom I've never met—Teresa E. McCabe of 3721 Twenty-third street, San Francisco. Quoting her beloved father's slogan, "Keep on keeping on," and then these verses, without title or author, which she ran across in a recent collection.

HAS ONE of life's ebb tides come to you? Are you just plugging along, gritting your teeth, wondering if it's all worth while? Then I'm thinking and hoping that these words may do to you what they did to me as I read them. For they are the soul's real song, not the echo of its shuffling whine.

triumphant wind
That makes the naked shadows on the ground,
Making a keyboard of the earth it strikes
From clattering tree and hedge
a separate sound—
There witness for me that
I loved my life!
All things that hurt me
And all things that healed,
And that I swore to it this day in March,
Here at the edge of this new broken field.

It's worked! Your chin is up, your eyes are shining, the call is sounding through your veins. There is a purpose to life. There are new broken fields ahead. Go out and seed them with your blood and sweat and tears!

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Sunday.

SATURDAY was Navy day and certainly the people of New York City showed that they were happy to have the President in our city and to have his ship, the Missouri, along with all the other ships, in New York harbor.

At 9:30 in the morning I went to the Brooklyn Navy Yard to watch the ceremony which finally placed the U.S.S. Franklin D. Roosevelt in commission. When she was launched we were still at war, and I thought of her then as a very mighty force soon to be used to hasten our ultimate victory. I shared the pride of the workmen as we walked about the ship and I saw what a wonderful creation had come from their hands. She was beautiful; but she was also awesome, because you felt her great striking power. When you thought of the men who were going to serve on her, however — to man the ship and the planes—a catch came in your throat, for you knew that somewhere in far distant seas death might await many of them. All you could do was to wish the ship and the men good luck, and pray she would do her work well and swiftly and that as many as possible of the young men that she carried would come home safely.

I HAD NONE of that sense of fear as I looked at her vast expanse of deck Saturday and saw row upon row of men, who were to make her "their" ship, awaiting her commissioning. Now one could hope, with President Truman, that she would take her part in keeping the peace of the world, and that the men on her would take seriously their duties as ambassadors of good will whereever they sailed.

We are at peace again, and the unity which war forces upon people when the they fight side by side as allies has come to an end. Our citizens—whether they go to distant parts of the world as part of our armed forces, or as representatives of business interests, or of cultural development—have almost as great a responsibility as they had when they were part of our fighting forces, since on them depends the way the world looks at our nation. They can make us friends in the world or they can create for us new enemies.

I WAS GLAD I had seen the ship rather thoroughly at her launching, for the crowd was so great yesterday it would have been hard even to realize her size. The Secretary of the Navy said to me: "The best way to think of the ship is in terms of three football fields laid end to end." Someone else spoke up and said: "Well, she may seem enormous to you here, but when she is out on the sea she will still look like a dot in the vast expanse of the ocean, and her flyers will still not find her deck space too great for landing."

What skill those flyers have! I watched with great interest as they wrote the initials "F. D. R." in smoke and the letters floated in the sky. Then, when they flew in formation and the letters passed right over our heads, I thought it was an extraordinary feat of dexterity and skill. It would have been a great day for my husband, and I know that he would have ended it with the prayer: "God bless the ship, its officers and men, and make her service great in a peaceful world."

WHAT TO EXPECT TOMORROW

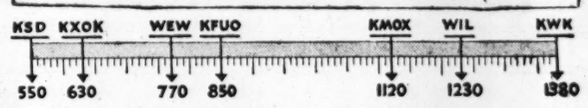

Sun in Scorpio.

General Tendencies—There are still changes, new experiences and more people to be encountered tomorrow, but the general atmosphere of the time seems less romantic than yesterday and more devoted toward business or commercial dealings. This is a great season for change, the indications for gains in money matters extending through the first 10 days of November and possibly even later. While you are not destined by any stellar force to make any of these readjustments, still they are there at hand in case you want to try them.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

You will find all next month a lively time, with special work ready for you, particularly if you deal with writing, papers, communications or travel in any way. After the close of 1945, however, I doubt if conditions will work out as well. You may have to wait until almost a year from the present time before you receive what is justly yours. In all this stretch of months, do not become discouraged because you have a fortunate time beginning along about next September.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Response to Kindness.

NORTON, Mass.—Mrs. Howard F. Woodward, president of the Animal Rescue League of Taunton, is convinced animals respond to human kindness.

She spent 15 minutes taking a mason jar off the head of a skunk —with no after effects.

Brotherly Advice.

TUCSON, Ariz.—An Army lieutenant had to listen to the advice of his kid brother, a technical sergeant, when he went through the Davis-Monthan field separation base for discharge.

Lt. Harry B. Leidenfrost, 21 years old, New York City, heard Tech Sgt. Robert J. Leidenfrost, 19, outline job prospects and rights under the G.I. bill after personal felicitations were over.

Burglars' Lament.

OKLAHOMA CITY — Burglars who decided to cart away a safe they couldn't open still are out of luck: the safe fell out of the truck. It contained an estimated $3000.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

THERE'S a woman who meets me every day and begs me to go out with her. She says she loves me and no one else appeals to her. If my wife knew I took this woman out she would divorce me. I could never bear to see her with another man. My wife is wonderful and I love her. She has always worked hard to help me provide for our children and is working now. I took this young girl out for dinner. Do you think I should break away from my foolishness?

READER.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

Since you've answered your own question so sensibly there seems to be little I can add. Certainly you're silly to take a chance on ruining a fine marriage to a fine wife by feeding your ego on the attentions of a giddy young girl who is unscrupulous enough to run after another woman's husband. You wouldn't want your wife behaving as you are, so play fair with her. Drop this other woman from your life before it is too late.

IN ANSWER TO "Harold": Sometimes my "Sub-deb" leaflet has some pointers regarding etiquette and those first dates, which are helpful to the boys as well as to the girls. You may have it if you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Don't worry too much over the mistake you made. Doubtless it passed unnoticed as such things often do, and it is only you in your self-consciousness who remembers you did anything amiss, if it were noticed. Next time you'll know better. The gift you suggest will be quite all right if you feel you can afford it.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM A GIRL 14 in the seventh grade. No girls or boys in our school or town will be friendly with me. Is it because I am fat? If so, could you give me some advice on what to do? JO

Overweight seldom keeps people from being popular provided they have the cheerful friendly disposition that many fat people have. However, if you feel your weight is hindering your popularity, ask your family physician for some suggestions on cutting out sweet desserts and between-meal snacks so you can streamline yourself. As for the attitude of the other boys and girls I think you're exaggerating at least a little. If you go out of your way to be friendly to people and like them, you'll find they'll act the same. Maybe my leaflet, "Popularity Hints for Girls" would help you. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope and I'll be glad to send it to you.

IN ANSWER TO "Troubled": If for any reason at all your mother disapproves of a friendship, whether with boy or girl, you would be wise to listen to her and obey her wishes. If your family and the boy's have strong religious prejudices and prefer that each of you makes friends among those of his own religious group, that too would be wise. While you are too young to be considering anyone seriously as yet, when the time comes that you are ready for marriage, to fall in love with someone of a different religious faith would be to put an obstacle in your paths, your families feeling as they do about the matter. If each of you gets into a young people's group at your respective churches this sort of objection will not likely arise.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE H-215: Harry B., aged 35, is a talented clergyman. Under auspices of his church, a series of spring lectures is sponsored annually, for which outside speakers are invited.

It so happened that I was one of these. In addition to my evening lecture, the clergyman had asked me if I would object to addressing high school students, so I spoke before 2400 boys and girls. I emphasized the fact that as specially trained young people, they should become leaders in constructive things of life, that instead of stampeding like silly sheep or allowing themselves to be driven by advertising managers into adopting foolish habits such as smoking and drinking, they should take a positive stand and serve as rallying points for the more timid citizenry round about.

"YOU YOUNG PEOPLE tend to imitate those whom you admire," I said. "But don't blindly ape everything that your hero or heroine may do. Even the successful people often have some bad habits intermingled with those which make them successful.

"You may admire Gen. MacArthur or Clark Gable, but don't think by smoking a cigar or cigarette, which MacArthur or Gable may do, that you are going to become successful generals or movie stars.

"Imitate those essential constructive habits of these men which have really made them great. Blind imitation is not becoming to any smart high schooler."

"I GUESS YOU hit me, too, in your address at the high school," Harry said, as he drove me to our next meeting. He had pulled out a pipe and was stuffing its bowl with tobacco. "But I feel it humanizes a clergyman if he smokes with the people of his parish."

"Are you sure you aren't rationalizing to excuse your own unwillingness to quit?" I replied.

"It might be," he laughed, "but I think people appreciate having a clergyman act human."

"But it doesn't help the parents of young teen-agers who argue against the smoking habit, only to be told by such youths, 'Well, the preacher smokes, doesn't he?' And do you think Jesus would have sucked on a pipe or cigar to humanize Himself?"

A MAN WHO UNDERSTANDS human beings and can motivate them through knowledge of psychology, doesn't need to imitate the bad habits of his followers, clients or parishioners in an endeavor to "humanize" himself. Besides, most parishioners are so "human" themselves that they appreciate a higher type of personal leadership as an example or goal to shoot at.

It may seem to "humanize" a surgeon, too, to drink whiskey with his patients and let them familiarly slap him on the back while they call him by his first name. But those same companions don't increase their respect for him. Instead, they may later call in his competitor for a critical surgical operation for their wives or children.

When people choose leaders, they want somebody superior to, or better than, themselves.

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

ONE of the best utensils for cooking pot dinners is a Dutch oven. Its lid fits snugly and holds in the steam so that a minimum of water is required and the cooking can actually be accomplished in less time than is possible in an uncovered pan or one that is loosely covered. We are violating the recommended rule for cooking green beans here, and we do lose the bright green color when the kettle is covered; However, what is lost in color is gained in flavor, and what most folks appreciate about such combinations of food is that there is a very pleasant merging of flavors that cannot be achieved in any other method of cooking. Instead of the green peppers, one can use okra; so when okra is in season, have no hesitancy in substituting it for the peppers. The cooking time will be the same, and the okra will add its own distinctive flavor.

Pot Dinner.

One-fourth pound salt pork, three cups water, one and a half pounds green beans, four small onions, halved; three small potatoes, peeled and quartered, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon sugar, dash of pepper, two green peppers, halved and seeded.

Cut salt pork into four slices, put on in cold water and bring to a boil, and simmer for a half hour or until nearly tender. Add rest of ingredients except peppers. Simmer for 10 minutes. Mix gently with a wooden spoon and add green pepper on top of rest of ingredients. Simmer gently 15 minutes longer or until green peppers are tender. Serves four.

Menus for Tuesday.

Breakfast: Apple juice, soft-cooked eggs, toast with butter and cream cheese. Luncheon: Cream of celery soup, liver sausage sandwiches on rye bread, pickled beets, fresh pears. Dinner: Pot dinner, leaf lettuce and small plum tomatoes, Swedish fruit bread, green apple crisp.

Swedish Fruit Bread.

This is a rich, sweeter-than-usual yeast bread with candied fruits, nuts and raisins kneaded into it. You'll want to bake it again as holiday time approaches; so get in practice now. Crumble one cake compressed yeast into one-third cup lukewarm water. Scald one cup milk, cool to lukewarm and add to yeast. To this add two and two-thirds cups flour. Beat until smooth and cover. Allow to rise in a warm place for one hour. Then add one-third cup sugar, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one-third cup melted butter and the following fruits and nuts: half a cup seedless raisins, half a cup chopped dates, two tablespoons shaved candied citron, six candied cherries, chopped, and half a cup sliced pecans. Mix well and add one cup flour. Mix lightly and turn out onto a lightly floured board. Knead for 10 minutes until smooth and elastic. Place in clean, buttered bowl; turn in bowl to coat with oil and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk. Shape into two loaves, place in buttered bread pans and again let rise until doubled. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes; then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 45 minutes longer. Makes two small loaves.

Strawberry Short Cake

One box frozen strawberries, one-half cup cream, whipped, four hot shortcake biscuits, split and buttered.

Spread thawed strawberries on lower halves of hot shortcake biscuits. Top with upper halves and more berries. Garnish with whipped cream.

Shortcake Biscuits

One and one-half cups sifted cake flour, one and one-half tablespoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons butter or margarine, six tablespoons milk.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in butter or margarine. Add milk and stir until mixture forms a soft dough. Turn out on slightly floured board and knead for 30 seconds. Roll one-quarter inch thick and cut with floured biscuit cutter. Place half of circles on ungreased baking sheet and brush with melted butter or margarine. Place remaining circles on top and butter well. Bake at 450 degrees 15 to 20 minutes.

Rolling pins are now being made of aluminum.

St. Louis's Role in Aviation

Contributions Over the Years Emphasized in Exhibit at Science Academy

By Rudolph Fiehler
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

CONTRIBUTIONS made by St. Louisans to the development of aviation are emphasized in an exhibit at the St. Louis Academy of Science, 4642 Lindell boulevard, which has been prepared by Christy C. Magrath, assistant curator of the museum and unofficial historian of aviation in this area.

"Few persons realize how much flying history took place in this city," Magrath said in an interview. "One St. Louisan, Tom Benoist, deserves to be ranked next to the Wright Brothers for his achievements in flying."

In support of this assertion and of his interest in the pioneer St. Louis aeronaut, Magrath pointed out a seven-foot propeller, made of wood and weighing less than six pounds—altogether too frail for modern aircraft. This historical prize came from a 1911 model Benoist biplane that cracked up in Mississippi, and would be equally valued, he said, by the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, which has recently become interested in Benoist's achievements.

The recital of these dreams and achievements as given by Magrath was a long one. As early as 1909 Benoist was envisioning sleeper planes and coast-to-coast air lines—and was being looked upon as a fit candidate for a lunatic asylum. He operated the world's first aeronautical supply house, at 3932 Olive street.

On June 8, 1911, he flew the first airplane ever built in St. Louis, which he had constructed in his back yard, and subsequently expanded his activities into a factory at 6628 Delmar boulevard. Here he built at least 11 types of planes, one of them being the first American built tractor-type biplane with inclosed fuselage, the type which set the style for most later models.

Maj. Albert Bond Lambert is authority for a story of Benoist's ingenuity. One of his planes was observed to be flying with its left wing down, a fault which Benoist ascribed to improper balancing. The next day the plane, to the admiration of onlookers, was seen to be flying on a perfectly even keel. Only after it landed was it noticed that the perfect equilibrium had been achieved by tying two bricks to the right wing.

The most successful of Benoist's aircraft were his flying boats, which landed at Creve Coeur Lake, making this the first civilian air base of its kind in the United States. A number of the "hydroaeroplanes" were built at the St. Louis Car Co., beginning in 1913.

It was a Benoist flying boat which flew the route of the world's first air line, beginning service Jan. 1, 1914 between Tampa and St. Petersburg, Fla. The line was discontinued with the outbreak of World War I, but for half a year it operated on regular schedule, carrying mail and express at established rates.

TOM BENOIST, PIONEER FLYER OF ST. LOUIS "DESERVES TO BE RANKED NEXT TO THE WRIGHT BROTHERS FOR HIS ACHIEVEMENTS IN FLYING."

BENOIST was accidentally killed June 15, 1917 in Sandusky, O., when, leaning out as he was prepared to get off a street car, he was struck by a telephone pole. He died of skull fracture. Only a few weeks before he had received a wartime contract to produce 148 aircraft for the United States government.

The British government also contracted with Benoist for planes during the war. Contrary to the general opinion that no American-designed and built aircraft saw action in World War I, several German submarines were sunk by bombs dropped from Benoist flying boats, Magrath has learned from a former member of the British Air Ministry.

Bombing a battleship had been tried in St. Louis in 1910 by Maj. Albert Bond Lambert at the air meet held that year. A 60-foot model battleship, christened the "Doughnaught," had been constructed of plaster at the airfield, and the bombs also were of plaster, filled with loose powder so that hits would show up well. Prizes were offered, and contestants were to be allowed two extra tries for each 100 feet of altitude. Maj. Lambert, bombardier on a plane flown by Walter Brookins, seems to have had the field to himself. A photograph at the exhibit shows his plane over the battleship model at a height which would have entitled it to about half a bomb.

The first parachute jump ever made from an airplane was achieved Jan. 5, 1912 from a Benoist pusher-type plane. There is some uncertainty as to where it took place, but it is generally agreed that the performance was repeated several times at Jefferson Barracks. Albert Berry made the jump and the plane was piloted by Tony Jannus, most colorful of Benoist's proteges.

Jannus had come to St. Louis in 1911, and thereafter made headlines by transporting a case of beer by air, by taking a young woman for an hour and a half flight in a "hydroaeroplane" from the foot of Olive street to Jefferson Barracks and return, and by discussing plans for an aerial dash to the North Pole. In 1916 he went to Russia for Glenn Curtiss to promote the sale of military planes. Legend has it that he was shot down by German guns, becoming the world's first victim of anti-aircraft fire.

THE first commercial contract for air transportation out of St. Louis was obtained by Maj. William B. Robertson, who thus became the second commercial operator in the United States to be awarded a contract for carrying mail. Service to Chicago was begun April 15, 1926, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, then known as "Slim," was one of the first four pilots engaged for the line. Will Rogers was the first passenger to be carried, in the fall of the same year. No cockpit space being available, he rode in the air-mail compartment, locked up where he couldn't see out. This passenger flight is said to have inspired the formation of Universal Airlines in the next year, from which the present-day American Airlines organization has grown.

The outstanding feature of the exhibit at the Academy of Science is the large collection of models. Most of these were made, with meticulous attention to detail, by Magrath himself. Some were widely exhibited as parts of historical collections.

Magrath built his first airplane model in 1912, when at the age of 6 he constructed one out of cardboard, he related. He had been up in a balloon when he was two and a half years old, and as he grew up he followed avidly each new development in flying. In 1925, still in his teens, he opened an experimental shop on Olive street, east of Twelfth boulevard, where the Post-Dispatch annex now stands. Here not only models, but parts for full-size gliders and light power planes were made and sold.

In 1933 the shop was moved to the edge of Lambert Field, where it became a sort of inventor's workshop, where anything from a can-opener to FM radio might be developed. During the war Magrath went to work for McDonnell Aircraft Corporation and helped design parts for planes used by the Army Air Forces.

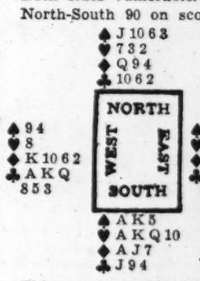

The most modern note in the exhibit is a sleek five-foot, gray painted wind tunnel model, since adapted for jet propulsion, which Magrath helped to build for a St. Louis airplane manufacturer. The entire span of aviation's progress is typified by a comparison of this model with another, also on display, of a bat-shaped glider built in 480 B. C. by order of a Chinese mandarin, in which, according to a Chicago professor, an ancient Chinese made a flight of about 25 yards.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

THERE are countless situations in which two different bids seem equally sound and constructive. Yet, closer examination would reveal a distinct "edge" in favor of one bid or the other. Take a case like today's for example:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
North-South 90 on score.

This was the bidding in a high-stake game in New York:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Double	Pass	1 spade
1 no-trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West ran his six clubs, forcing declarer to discard two diamonds and a spade. (Had he discarded the heart ten, it would have been tantamount to surrendering, since West certainly would have exited with a heart.) East let go all his diamonds, and now West could count the suit and safely lead away from his king. South took the blank ace of diamonds, three hearts and two spades, but was still one trick short of contract.

The no-trump rebid chosen by South appeared safe enough, with his huge honor trick holding and with only seven tricks needed for game on the 90 score, but this was a superficial view. West's vulnerable takeout double had to be based on something, and what was more likely than that he had chosen that course to conceal, at least temporarily, a long club suit? It should be observed that West's tactics were a great deal shrewder than South's. Had he bid two clubs instead of doubling, the opponents would not have considered a no-trump contract.

The far better rebid on South's part was a double of one spade. Since North had not yet made a bid, this too would have been of the takeout variety, and it would have "smoked out" West in a hurry! Not being able to stand the spade response, he would have bid two clubs, and when North and East passed that call, South would be strong enough to double again—still for a takeout. North would bid two hearts (as the least of evils) and expert play by South would bring home that contract—or, if West defended with three clubs, he could be "given the ax."

Has Your Little Girl As Bright A Future As Nancy?
Right from the start, Nancy's mother has made sure that her daughter was getting plenty of sunshine, and a diet adequate in bone-building minerals. Nancy's legs will be as strong and straight, and her teeth as sound, as sufficient calcium can make them.
Will your child have these assets? Although even sufficient calcium cannot correct bowed legs after a child is three, an adequate supply is important right through life to keep bones sturdy and help the child look his best. That's one of the main reasons why doctors advise that children get plenty of milk...the best food source of calcium.
However, as children grow older, they are often reluctant to drink all the milk they should have.
That's where Cocomalt can prove invaluable. For not only does Cocomalt give milk a delicious chocolaty flavor that children love, but it is so rich in calcium it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value.* (Also ensures the day's entire minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B_1 and D.)
Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder to order from your grocer.
